FATAL CRASH NEAR BATTLEFIELD

The Montana Highway Patrol, reported that a Dillon semi-truck driver failed to negotiate a left hand curve on Highway 43, 12 miles west of Wisdom. The driver was pronounced dead on the scene and he was wearing a seat belt.

The crash Tuesday about 3 pm remains under investigation. The cab and trailer flipped and traveled down a steep embankment next to the narrow, windy mountain highway. Trees were knocked over by the truck and trailer carrying round hay bales.

Beaverhead County Sheriff Frank Kluesner said officers and responders were at the accident scene for more than seven hours.

Julie Briggs, Deputy Coroner for Beaverhead County said 61-year-old Billy Dingley of Dillon died of blunt force trauma. His body will be taken to the Montana State Crime Lab on Thursday.

AMBER ALERT

Montana Department of Justice officials issued an Amber Alert for a Sheridan girl last seen early Wednesday morning.

Sandy Moore is believed to have been taken from her home by suspect Rodney Zahn. They may be headed to Billings or Boise, Idaho.

Zahn is a registered violent offender in violation of his probation.

Officials say Moore is developmentally delayed. She is 16 years old, 5-foot-7, 116 pounds, with brown hair, brown eyes and glasses. She was last seen wearing a white shirt with black short sleeves and jeans.

Zahn is a 60-year-old white male, 5-foot-5, 135 pounds, with gray and brown hair and brown eyes. He has tattoos of a Tazmanian Devil and a cross.

The suspect's vehicle is a black 1987 Ford pickup truck with Montana license plate 3-50558B. It has a white toolbox and green bicycle in the back. It may be pulling a tan and white fifth-wheel trailer with a red generator and blue cover on the back of the trailer.

If you have any information you are urged to contact the Madison County Sheriff's Office at 406-843-5301 or call 911.

Make Sure it is DEAD OUT and Cold to the Touch!

As the sun sets on your outdoor family vacation, a campfire is a great place for your family to share their adventure over a melting marshmallow on stick. Whether you're cooking, warming up, or just sitting and enjoying the crackle and glow, campfire safety is a must. Before you light that fire here are a few campfire tips:

Building a Safe Campfire

· If there is an existing fire pit, use it. If not, gather several large rocks and form a circle on a piece of clear, flat ground to create your own fire ring.

· Avoid building a fire near your tent, overhanging branches, steep slopes, rotten stumps, logs, dry grass, or leaves.

· Before you light your fire, be prepared to extinguish it later – have a bucket of water on hand. Never leave a fire unattended.

· Keep your fire small – it will be easier to contain and faster to extinguish.

· Never leave a campfire unattended. Never leave children alone with a campfire.

· Campfires may be banned during times of high fire danger. Watch for signs and obey restrictions.

Putting Out a Campfire

· Keep plenty of water handy.

· Drown the fire with water making sure all embers, coals, and sticks are wet. If it is too hot to touch then it is too hot leave.

· Using a shovel, stir water and dirt into your campfire to make sure everything is wet and cold to the touch. Carefully run the back of your hand near the surface of the fire remains to make sure all heat is gone.

Make sure it is DEAD OUT and cold to the touch!

Your local firefighters appreciate your assistance in preventing wildfires.

Have You Thanked Your Physical Therapist Today?

Tyrades! By Danny Tyree

I've been undergoing physical therapy as a result of a compression fracture, and my physical therapist (Amy) got a "deer in the headlights" look when I said I would be WRITING about physical therapy this week.

She needn't have worried. I've thoroughly enjoyed my sessions at the clinic and look forward to a full recovery. The workouts are certainly less strenuous than the unannounced Dr. Seuss "Hop On Pop" exercises my brother and I used to put our father through. ("No pain, no gain. Ooh, what's that stain?")

True, being on the honor system and having to keep up my exercises at home has been more of a challenge. There are so many rationalizations for slacking off on the regimen. No telling how many patients slink into their sessions with a calculated confession of "I was going to do my exercises, but I spent two hours on DENTAL FLOSSING. Yeah, that's the ticket."

According to Wikipedia, Hippocrates was one of the first practitioners of physical therapy (or physiotherapy); around 460 B.C. he was advocating massage, manual therapy techniques and hydrotherapy to his patients. That means any day now, the insurance company should be approving their treatment.

Not everyone is a fan of physiotherapy. Part of it comes from scapegoating. You know how you think you recognize someone in a crowd and then realize your mistake in the middle of waving at them? A Gallup survey indicates that the top pride-saving maneuver is to mutter, "I swear, stranger ---- can you believe the idiotic exercises my physiotherapist has me doing?"

One preacher told me that he didn't have a physical therapist ---- he had a "physical terrorist." Yes, some physiotherapists need help with their bedside manner. The clinic I go to has all sorts of upbeat homilies on the wall, but I've heard of a therapist in one city who greets patients with, "You look like you've got the weight of the world on your shoulders, buddy. Here, let's add another 20 pounds, maggot!"

Many people view physiotherapy as a necessary evil, but some shortsighted individuals don't even admit the "necessary" part.

"Physiotherapy is stupid," some jackasses scoff. Of course when you're enough of an expert on stupidity to have jumped off a bridge in a four-wheeler, with cherry bombs strapped to your chest, you're sort of ASKING for physiotherapy.

Some tough guys think that physiotherapy is unmanly, a procedure suitable only for wimps. Um, it's not exactly macho to lie on the sidewalk whimpering, "Little girl, could you pick up that penny I dropped? And could you cover me with that discarded newspaper? I think it's going to rain."

A good physiotherapist can work wonders with restoring your mobility, but even they may not be able to help you with your UPWARD mobility. ("You majored in what??? And your resume© lists Poke©mon as a reference? Let's work on your hitchhiking muscles today.")

Whether you've been sick, injured or just dealing with the difficulties of aging, a good therapist can get you back to normal.

"Good! Now I can go back to lifting bales of cotton to make 'Hamilton' costumes for my 75 cats. And my wrist can handle writing those twice-daily letters to Justin Bieber..."

Sigh "Normal," of course, may still include people who are a couple of rowing machines short of a royal navy, if you know what I mean.

COWBOY WISDOM

SAYS... A HORSE WITHOUT A RIDER IS STILL A HORSE.

BUT A RIDER WITHOUT A HORSE ....IS NOT A RIDER.

BEING A CHRISTIAN IS LIKE THAT.

THE BIBLE IS STILL GOD'S WORD....WITH OR WITHOUT YOU.

IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE AND OBEY THE ENTIRE BIBLE

THEN YOU'RE NOT A CHRISTIAN.

WHEN YOU STEP UP ON A HORSE....

.YOU HAVE TO RIDE THE WHOLE HORSE.

YOU CAN'T RIDE JUST THE PART OF THE HORSE

YOU LIKE THE BEST.

BEING A CHRISTIAN IS JUST LIKE THAT.

YOU HAVE TO BELIEVE THE ENTIRE BIBLE...OR ELSE.

PRIDE KEEPS MOST PEOPLE FROM BELIEVING THAT.
