Sheridan residents on alert after lead detected in water

As Reported by the Montana Standard

The town of Sheridan waited almost four weeks to alert the public to elevated lead levels in the city's drinking water supply.

During routine sampling, the Department of Environmental Quality analyzed the drinking water for Sheridan on July 8 and notified the town of the problem the same day, officials said Wednesday.

DEQ spokesperson Kristi Ponozzo said the town has 60 days in which to "educate the public" on DEQ's findings, so the town's Aug. 3 notification to the media fell within state regulations.

Madison County spokesperson Bonnie O'Neill concurred, saying the town had a period of time to inform the public and that, "they (town officials) responded as quick as they could."

Sheridan residents are being provided free bottled water. O'Neill told The Montana Standard that by mid-afternoon Wednesday, 45 people had picked up free water.

"There's no confusion. There's no panic," O'Neill said.

Authorities aren't sure of the lead source, but are working on the problem, and are providing the bottled water as a precaution. Town officials are holding both a town hall for meeting the public and a news conference at 12 p.m. Thursday at the Sheridan Fire Department, 103 E. Hamilton Street.

Elevated levels of 32 parts per billion were found in the samples collected by DEQ, said Ponozzo. Twenty-six samples were taken.

The action level set by EPA is 15 parts per billion in drinking water. Anything over that triggers a response.

Residents will continue to receive free bottled water until the situation is remedied. Ponozzo said DEQ pays for the bottled water.

A notice and a brochure will be mailed to the residents of Sheridan, population 700, addressing the health effects and ways to reduce exposure.

Sheridan is working in conjunction with DEQ, Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services and Madison County. DEQ is providing free individual blood-lead tests and free home water lead-testing kits for Sheridan residents.

Drinking water and home water lead-testing kits are available from Sheridan Town Hall. Blood sampling will be performed at the Ruby Valley Hospital.

Ponozzo said DEQ has been collecting water sampling data from Sheridan since 1975 and this is the first time lead has shown up in the sampling over the action level.

Sheridan's drinking water comes from several groundwater wells, said Ponozzo.

Tap water that contains elevated lead levels can be drunk in moderation for most people, but children, pregnant women and people with kidney problems or high blood pressure should drink bottled water only, she said.

However, the bottled water will be available for everyone out of "an abundance of caution," said Ponozzo.

The city of Butte does not have elevated lead levels in its drinking water, said Dave Schultz, Butte-Silver Bow Public Works director.

Jim Dennehy, Butte's water treatment manager, said he had about 90 percent of Butte's drinking supply sampled and analyzed this summer and all have come back below the drinking water standard for both lead and copper.

Dennehy added that the county injects a corrosion inhibitor to coat pipes to prevent metals from leaching or precipitating in the water.

The recent Flint, Michigan, crisis of lead in its drinking water happened over the last two years because that town switched its drinking water supply to a local river and failed to add a corrosion inhibitor at the source. The river water corroded the lead piping, according to The New York Times.

Sheridan is about 60 miles southeast of Butte on Highway 287, just south of Twin Bridges.

Lead levels in the city of Sheridan's drinking water do not exceed federal water quality standards, officials said Thursday, but residents are still being advised to drink bottled water for now.

Lead levels were high enough to trigger a response from state and local health and environmental officials, but they said they do not pose a significant danger to residents in the small Madison County city.

They are being asked to use bottled water out of an "abundance of caution."

During routine sampling, the Montana Department of Environmental Quality analyzed the drinking water for Sheridan on July 8 and notified the town of the problem the same day, officials said Wednesday.

State and local officials held a news conference in Sheridan on Thursday that media and about 25 residents attended. Tom Livers, the director of the Montana DEQ, was among officials on hand.

URGENT: ANOTHER SECTION OF BIG HOLE UNDER FULL CLOSURE TO FISHING

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is alerting the public to the latest closure affecting fishing in southwest Montana involving the Big Hole River.

Specifically, the following section of river is now closed to all fishing effective immediately:

- Big Hole River from the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks' Maiden Rock FAS to Notch Bottom FAS.

FWP follows the guidelines set by the Big Hole drought management plan developed in coordination with the Big Hole Watershed Committee. In this case, once again criteria were met for a full closure with flows dropping below the trigger point of 190 cubic feet per second.

Meanwhile in Region 3, the following stretches of river also remain closed to all fishing until further notice:

- Big Hole River from Saginaw Bridge on Skinner Meadows Road to the confluence of the North Fork Big Hole River and Big Hole River
- Big Hole River from Notch Bottom FAS to confluence with the Beaverhead River
- The entire length of the Jefferson River

The following sections of rivers are closed to fishing daily 2 p.m. to midnight until conditions improve effective Tuesday:

- Big Hole River from the North Fork Big Hole River to Dickie Bridge
- Beaverhead River from Anderson Lane to the confluence with the Big Hole River
- East Gallatin River from Spring Hill Road Bridge (Hwy411) to the confluence with the Gallatin River
- Gallatin River from Sheds Bridge (Hwy 84) near Four Corners to the confluence with the Madison River at Three Forks
- Madison River from Ennis Dam to the confluence with the Jefferson River
- Ruby River from Duncan District Road to the confluence with the Beaverhead River
- Shields River from Daisy Dean Bridge Road to the confluence with the Yellowstone River
- Yellowstone River from Carter's Bridge FAS to the confluence with the Clarks Fork of the Yellowstone east of Laurel

MONTANA WESTERN SELECTS NEW DIRECTOR FOR STUDENT COUNSELING

Jerry Girard has been named the new director for student counseling at the University of Montana Western, Dean of Students Nicole Hazelbaker announced recently.

"We are pleased to bring someone with Jerry's experience into the position," Hazelbaker said. "The director plays a very important role on campus with the formulation of policies and procedures for how best to serve our students."

Girard previously worked as a counselor under the supervision of former Director for Student Counseling Lynn Weltzien. Weltzien retired at the end of the 2016 school year.

"I'm excited to continue working with the students, faculty and staff of Montana Western," Girard said. "Our program is in a strong place and I'm eager to keep building a program that is understanding and responsive to student needs."

Girard is a licensed clinical professional counselor and a licensed addiction counselor. He previously taught high school for 13 years.

He will assume his new responsibilities in August 2016.

Do You Know the Truth…"Is baptism required in order to enter heaven?"
(We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God as stated in 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is a reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with Biblical teachings are false.)

Entering heaven is based on being cleansed from sin. This cleansing is not accomplished by baptism, "But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot," 1 Peter 1:19.

1 Peter 3:21 refers to baptism as a ritual that "does also now save us (NOT the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of the dead." This makes it clear that our cleansing from sin ("putting away of the filth of the flesh") comes from Jesus Christ & the resurrection. "The answer of a good conscience toward God" reflects the commitment of the individual after he has repented of sin and placed his faith in Christ. Baptism comes after salvation and shows the individuals commitment to "…walk in newness of life" as stated in Romans 6:4.

We are told of the necessity of repentance in Luke 13:3, "I tell you, nay: except you repent you shall all likewise perish (be destroyed)." Jesus stated in Luke 15:7 & 15:10 that there is joy in heaven in the presence of angels over one sinner that repents. The Apostle Paul testified in Acts 20:21 of the need of "…repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ." We are also told that "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" in Romans 10:13.

Conclusion: Calling on Jesus Christ in repentance & faith, not baptism, is what qualifies us for entering heaven.
