1959 Yellowstone Earthquake Author coming to Dillon

A devastating earthquake that struck the Hebgen Lake area near Yellowstone National Park in 1959 left a powerful mark on a 7-year-old boy who was asleep in his Idaho Falls home. Historian and author Larry E. Morris said he didn't wake up. "My mom certainly did. I think a jar fell and broke," he said.

Morris is an independent writer and historian. He was born and raised in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and received a master's degree in American literature from Brigham Young University. He has completed extensive research on the members of the Lewis and Clark Expedition and is the author of "The Fate of the Corps: What Became of the Lewis and Clark Explorers After the Expedition." He also the coauthored "The Mystery of John Colter: The Man Who Discovered Yellowstone" He wrote "The Perilous West: Seven Amazing Explorers and the Founding of the Oregon Trail" as well as numerous articles on the early American Fur Trade.

The earthquake book focuses on the human drama of the quake, and virtually all of the narrative takes place in Montana, especially the Madison River Canyon, Hebgen Lake, West Yellowstone, Bozeman, Helena, Missoula, Ennis, and Virginia City. Larry Morris will be signing copies of his book along with a short presentation allowing time for questions and discussion at The Bookstore on Friday, September 23rd from 5:00-7:00. Please call 683-6807 if you would like to reserve a copy today.

A bit of history...

Submitted by Chuck Dishno

240 years ago on September 22, 1776, Captain Nathan Hale was hanged by the British. As he stood on the gallows he spoke those famous words that should flutter all our hearts, for here was a true patriot. Nathan Hale said, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

Hale was a 21 year old American soldier for the Continental Army during the American Revolutionary War.

What is Jesus Doing Now? I know he's no longer a baby.

By curing the sick & raising the dead, Jesus demonstrated what he would eventually do for all obedient mankind. (Luke 18:35-42 & John 5:28,29) After Jesus died his Father restored him to life as a spirit person. (1 Pet. 3:18) Jesus then waited at God's right hand until he received power from his Father to rule as King over the entire earth. (Heb. 10:12,13) Now Jesus is ruling as King in heaven. (Dan. 7:13) Soon Jesus will use his power as King to put an end to all suffering and those who cause it. Millions who "exercise" faith in Jesus and "obey" him will enjoy a life in paradise on earth. (Ps. 37:9-11)

Hey Jude,

Some people think that prayer is just a waste of time. What's your opinion?

Well first, everyone has an opinion, we need to know what God's word, the Bible says. That is our guide to everything. Yes people often feel, that when they pray no one is listening. Others believe that God hears their prayers.

Notice what the Bible says about prayer at Isaiah 30:19 "...He will be gracious unto you, at the voice of your cry (or prayer), when He shall hear it, He will answer thee". The Bible assures us that there is a "personal God," and that He does hear our prayers. To be heard, we "must" pray only to the God of the Bible, not to any other god. God also requires that we "ask according to His will"—for things He approves of. God assures us that if we pray in this way, "We have the confidence in Him, if we ask anything, according to His will, He heareth us." (1 John 5:14) So, for our prayers to be heard, we need to get to know the God of the Bible and learn what "his will" is!

Thank you.

Parenting With Precision: Are We There Yet?

Tyrades! By Danny Tyree

"I wish I'd found you 10 or 12 years ago!"

No, that's not what I said as I brushed the lint off that succulent M&M from my winter jacket. Okay, it is; but it's also what I sighed after giving a quick read to the new book "Parent Hacks: 134 Genius Shortcuts for Life With Kids," by Asha Dornfest (who founded ParentHacks.com in 2005).

Oh, sure, some of the advice in this breezy volume from Workman Publishing Co. may leave you saying, "Well, duh"; but other tips on diaper blowouts, sleep rituals, organization and improvised repairs could well pay for the book by themselves.

The book really brings the generations together with chapters such as "7 restaurant items that double as toys." "AARP Magazine" used some of the same research on stir sticks and drinking straws for the article "7 restaurant items that double as Social Security increases."

One of the chapters in "Parent Hacks" provides weary parents with "7 pretend games you can play lying down." Been there, done that. When nieces Claire and Emma were little, I would provide low-impact entertainment by sitting still and letting them decorate me with blush, fingernail polish, hair ribbons, etc. Of course those were simpler times. Afterwards, I could wash up and go about my business. Nowadays, Target would be beating down my door and imploring, "Please use our bathroom! Ten percent discount on anything in the store! Pretty please! Handsome please! Whatever."

Yes, lots of recent changes make good advice essential. It's no longer enough to assure your kids that Momma and Daddy would never allow monsters to live under the bed. After all, Airbnb might accidentally RENT the space to a one-eyed, one-horned flying purple people eater.

In this age of "safe spaces" and "trigger warnings," it's just too easy for parents to commit an inadvertent "microaggression." Questions as innocent as "Would you like a night light?" could trigger traumatizing flashbacks to "Oh, say can you see...?"

How do you explain it to your youngsters when the Tooth Fairy goes all Wells Fargo on them and spreads their baby tooth money over multiple accounts?

A simple "excuse me" used to make everything okay when you inadvertently dismissed Junior's unseen playmate. Now there's a whole Imaginary Lives Matter protest march to worry about.

Kids grow up so fast nowadays! There's a never-ending need for hacks to help them cope with Too Much Information and Too Many Responsibilities. The nation's infants shouldn't have to lie awake agitating over thoughts like, "Mom keeps asking me 'Who's the cutest baby in the whole wide world?' every time she sees me. How am I supposed to pay for dementia care for her?"

I'm glad so many just plain folks can band together and share advice learned via the School Of Hard Plastic Soldiers. It gets complicated when politicians get involved. ("Feel the Bern! Um, I mean, label the faucets so you DON'T feel the burn. I always get those slogans mixed up!")

Of course politicians COULD inspire parents to repurpose simple items. Maybe campaign posters could be reconfigured to help with toilet training. ("Make boom-booms great again!")
