Montana Awarded $2 Million Grant to Test, Track Unsubmitted Sex Assault Kits

Attorney General Tim Fox announced today that Montana has been awarded a $2 million federal grant to test and track unsubmitted sex-assault evidence kits across the state. This is in addition to a $284,500 grant Montana received earlier this month specifically for kit tracking.

At the request of Attorney General Fox's Sexual Assault Evidence Task Force, Tina Chamberlain with the Montana Board of Crime Control submitted an application to the Bureau of Justice Assistance for the FY 2016 National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative Competitive Grant, requesting $2 million. The National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative provides an opportunity for Montana to inventory, test, and track unsubmitted sexual assault kits, examine the issues surrounding why the kits were not submitted, and facilitate a development of victim-centered policies and procedures in responding to sexual assaults and eliminating unsubmitted kits.

"This is great news for survivors of sexual assault and for all Montanans concerned about justice," Fox said. "We are moving forward with our comprehensive, statewide plan to address unsubmitted sex assault evidence kits being held by local law enforcement agencies. The issues of sexual assault prevention, investigation, and prosecution are very important to the Montana Department of Justice and we've taken a number of proactive steps to enhance law enforcement's response to sex assault crimes. The issue of unsubmitted kits is a key element of not only addressing how previous cases have been handled, but how we can work toward a consistent, comprehensive approach to sex assault crimes in Montana. I want to thank our Sexual Assault Task Force members and the Board of Crime Control for their hard work in putting together the successful grant application. We look forward to ensuring every unsubmitted sexual assault kit that exists in Montana is sent in for testing and that survivors of sexual assault receive the justice they deserve."

Deb Matteucci, executive director of the Board of Crime Control, said, "We are thrilled to be partners in this very important initiative. The role of our agency is to facilitate strategic planning within the criminal justice system, identify needs, promote public safety, support services to crime victims and strengthen the performance of the justice system. As one of our victims' program specialists and grant managers, Ms. Chamberlain was able to develop a compelling proposal and bring this important resource to the state. We are looking forward to working with Attorney General Fox's task force, the state crime lab, local law enforcement, and others to seek justice for victims of sexual assault."

Last December, the Attorney General's Office contacted every county sheriff and city police chief in Montana asking for a census of unsubmitted kits in their possession. They were asked to provide the total number of unsubmitted kits, the date of each kit, and general reasons why each kit was not submitted to the state crime laboratory. During that same month, Attorney General Fox appointed the Montana Sexual Assault Evidence Task Force. He directed its members to examine the issue of unsubmitted kits in Montana and to develop policies and protocols for submission of kits for forensic testing.

Now that the grants has been awarded, a coordinator will be hired to facilitate communication between the task force and project partners, as well as law enforcement jurisdictions and survivors whose kits result in positive DNA hits in the national Combined DNA Index System. The coordinator will also track Montana's approximately 1,400 unsubmitted kits throughout the three-year project. Other positions, including an investigator to assist local agencies with unsolved cases, a community victim advocate, and a law enforcement training coordinator will also be filled as part of the project. Grant funds will also be used to produce a law enforcement field guide outlining policies and procedures for sexual assault investigations.

Testing of the unsubmitted kits will be outsourced; those closest to nearing the statute of limitations will be prioritized. It is estimated all testing will be complete in 18 months.

One critical component of Attorney General Fox's plan is to provide assistance to the seven tribal governments in the state. While tribal governments work under their own sovereign nation justice initiatives, the Montana Attorney General's Office will ensure that training opportunities and technical assistance are available to help tribes establish their own sexual assault protocols in evidence collection, tracking, investigations, prosecutions, and victim assistance.

The grant project narrative, including an implementation timeline, is available here: <https://dojmt.gov/wp-content/uploads/MBCC-2016-SAKI-Proj-Narrative.pdf>.

More information about Attorney General Fox's task force is available here: <https://dojmt.gov/agoffice/sexual-assault-evidence-task-force/>.

FEA PRESIDENT'S AWARD PRESENTED TO GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS LEADERSHIP

More than 175 members of the Federation of Exchange Accommodators (FEA) recently attended the Association's Annual Conference in Las Vegas, Nevada. Max Hansen, Dana Huffaker and Jeni Schmauch of American Equity Exchange, Inc. in Dillon attended and participated in the two day program.

Max was one of the recipients of the 2016 FEA President's Award. "It is a true honor to present this year's FEA President's Award to these leaders in FEA's Governmental Affairs efforts," stated Margo McDonnell, CES®, FEA President. "They have all worked tirelessly during the past year to help FEA solidify FEA as the 'Voice of the 1031 Industry' with both our coalition members and decision-makers in Washington D.C. Their efforts helped ensure that our industry's economic importance and impact was clearly communicated and understood."

The President's Award recognizes outstanding individuals who support FEA and its mission and purpose. Recipients are those individuals who have demonstrated outstanding leadership in their own qualified intermediary position, shown leadership through committee work or at the board level, and have gone above and beyond in their efforts on FEA's behalf to save and grow the 1031 industry. The Federation of Exchange Accommodators (FEA) is the only national trade organization formed to represent qualified intermediaries (QI's), their primary legal/tax advisers and affiliates directly involved in Section 1031 Exchanges. For more information about FEA, visit www.1031.org or contact FEA Headquarters at (515) 244-6515.

Cross Country Making Strides at Season Halfway Point

It is expected that any start up program would have some growing pains. The first year of competition for the University of Montana Western Cross Country team was no exception. This season has been a different story though. Year two has showed improvement all across the board, including having the record books written in on a couple of occasions.

The season started with a dual meet at the College of Idaho in Caldwell. With only two schools running, this was seen more as a warm up event than anything else. Still the Bulldogs had five runners place in the top 10, with Paul Bielwaski (Shelby, Mont.) finishing fourth on the men's side and Mindy Kaufman (Alta, Wyo.) finishing seventh on the women's side.

Next up on the slate was the Frontier Conference Preview Meet in Helena, Mont. Here the women's team finished fifth out of six schools, but sophomores Kaufman and Beth Jansma (Bozeman, Mont.) both placed in the top ten. The men's team finished the meet fourth out of seven teams, paced by Russell Kujala (Plains, Mont.) and Bielwaski who finished 16th and 17th respectively.

Their most recent event took place in Great Falls, Mont. for the University of Great Falls Triangular. Montana Western history was made here when Kaufman finished the race in first place, making her the first Bulldog, man or woman, to win a race in the programs history. Her time of 19:07 was four seconds better than the next finisher. Jansma also placed in the top ten again, coming in in sixth. Kujala paces the men at the Triangular, followed closely by Bielwaski.

The Monday after the Great Falls event, the Frontier Conference announced that Mindy Kaufman's performance was good enough to win conference Runner of the Week, another first for the Bulldogs program.

Three more events are planned for the regular season, starting with the Rocky Mountain College Invite on Oct. 8th. The Dawgs sent two runners to the NAIA National Championships last year. By the way this season is going, it wouldn't be a surprise anyone if that number increases.

A full recap of the seasons remaining races can be found at umwbulldogs.com

Food for Thought

By: MJ

Something to think about: "Fathom the hypocrisy of a government that requires every citizen to prove they are insured...but not everyone must prove they are a citizen. Now add this. "Many of those who refuse, or are unable, to prove they are citizens will receive free insurance paid for by those who are forced to buy insurance because they are citizens." Written by Ben Stein a writer, a lawyer, and actor.

I was raised where

I grew up in a bygone era that addressed a lady older than me as "mam or Mrs." and an older man as "sir or Mr." We knew nothing about computer dating, our day care was a friend down the street and the group therapy sessions were at a gathering of friends or a neighborhood party. I can't forget the party phone lines that often set the stage and provided needed information for our therapy session.

Knowing the difference between right or wrong, having manners, respecting others, being honest and to stand up and take responsibility for our actions, were lessons we were taught around the dinner table. Some form of these lessons seemed to make it into the conversation at every meal we sat down to.

"Fast food" was the snack we picked up off the counter as we ran out of the house to catch the bus that was waiting for us.

The most important lesson was; those who served our county were to be respected and honored and to live in the U.S. was a privilege.

BEAVERHEAD TRAIL COALITION ACQUIRES PHASE TWO

Beaverhead Trail Coalition acquired title to Phase Two of the High Trails network on the foothills west of Dillon on September 28. The transfer gives the Coalition ownership to much of the land between the "M" and "B" west of town. Related land in the area is managed by the Bureau of Land Management and Beaverhead County, according to Dr. Dan Downey, Coalition president. "The radio tower area immediately above the "B" remains in private ownership due to high property values," Downey reports, and requests no one trespasses on that property".

The Coalition has now acquired a total of 781 acres to support public access to enjoy hiking through the hills involved.

"Now we need to set our sights on acquiring another 327 acres in Phase 3 to complete our original ownership objectives for the area," adds Pete Wakeman, Coalition member. "Phase 3 includes an additional trailhead option that is much more suitable for horse and mountain bike access," Wakeman adds. All funds for the overall project have been provided by grants and private donations so a new campaign is needed for Phase 3. Tax deductible donations can be made on line at "Beaverhead Trails Coalition" or in send it to P.O. Box 586 in Dillon.

Once the original acquisitions are completed, Coalition members are investigating the option of acquiring additional trail easements across private land to the north to provide access to public lands that extend to the Beaverhead National Forest in the Argenta area.

The coalition thanks Montana Fish and Wildlife Conservation Trust, area land owners, and numerous other private individuals for their support to date.

Stella's father, Cleve, and nine year old brother, August, are commuting back and forth on weekends from the Ruby Valley to Great Falls. Cleve has maintained his job with Ruby Valley Bank and Anna Marie, Stella and Haddon stay with Stella's grandparents close to Great Falls. They will be returning to Seattle very soon to avoid weather complications when a heart match is found. They will need to stay in Seattle for at least 6 months after Stella's transplant surgery. It is clear that travel money, extra medical costs, living expenses and airfare to Seattle are very difficult for this young family.

Tickets will be on sale at Beacon Business Center, Frit's Dream Bean Café (aka Serendipity), the 3 Rivers Qwik Stop in Twin Bridges, and of course, they will be available at the door on the 9th of October. Ticket prices are $10 for adults, $5 for children under 12 and a family ticket of $30 that includes three tickets to be entered in the door prize drawings. In order to raise as much money as possible, area merchants, friends and the fiddlers are donating some wonderful door prizes. Ticket holders need not be present to win a door prize. To date, the door prizes include two $100 gift cards to Walter's IGA, an offering from Frit's Dream Bean Café, an art piece from James Gang Art Works, and other exciting items, some of which have been purchased through the generosity of the Ruby Valley Bank.

Tales and Tunes showcases the acting and singing talents of the fiddle players along with a liberal sample of their traditional music. When the "Big Book of Family Tales" is opened, the audience will be given a chance to meet a cast of characters, some real and some imaginary. The music will feature a variety of music styles and ethnic origins. Old and young alike will enjoy this show that celebrates connections that are made between generations through stories and music.

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Receives Quality Award

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare was recently awarded the Montana Rural Healthcare Performance Improvement Network's Quality Improvement Award for its work on Emergency Department Transfer Communications. The awards were announced during the general session at the MHA Annual Convention held in Billings on September 29, 2016.

The Montana Rural Healthcare Performance Improvement Network (PIN) is a voluntary membership of 48 critical access hospitals throughout the state. Through this Network, member hospitals are able to benchmark their performance with their peers on a variety of financial, utilization and direct patient care measures that encourage safe, effective, patient-centered care delivery in even the most remote communities of the state. PIN quality of care measures are based on national benchmarks, but are tailored to reflect the realities of the state's rural population.

Throughout 2015 & 2016, PIN members worked to improve the completeness of patient care information documented and provided during transfer from the Emergency Department. Critical Access Hospitals (CAHs) play a vital role in stabilizing and transferring patients in emergency situations. Emergency Department Transfer Communication measures allow CAHs to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of that important role. Improved transitions of care are a key component of increasing the quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of health care services. Effective transfer of patient information from the ED to the next site of care can foster continuity of patient care and help to reduce errors and improve outcomes.

Applicants for awards in 2016 were required to demonstrate measurable improvement in two or more of the previously mentioned quality of care focus areas. Applicants were also required to demonstrate an active and leading role in supporting PIN quality improvement efforts by participating in PIN events and sharing with peers.

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare has demonstrated a commitment to its community and the region it serves through its efforts to participate in the PIN's benchmarking and quality of care improvement programs.
