Montana Western Completes Two Game Sweep of Northwest Indian College

The Lady Bulldogs pulled away early to open the season enroute to a 89-25 home win over the Eagles of Northwest Indian College on Friday night. They played again Saturday for a great start for the team with a great effort showed by Cierra Lamey.

The lady Bulldogs defense was too much for the Eagles, as UMW wins 98-23 and improves to 2-0 on the early season.

The Montana Western Lady Bulldogs started the game strong against the Northwest Indian College, holding the Eagles to just three points in the first quarter while scoring 30 of their own. Execution of the offense and a strong zone defense was the recipe for success for the Bulldogs in tonight's contest. In the first two quarters of play, the Bulldogs shot 52% from the field compared to the Eagle's 12%.

The defense forced 18 turnovers. Cierra Lamey (Wise River, Mont.) and Taylor Howlett (Spokane, Wash.) had a strong first half with 11 and 10 points respectively. In the second half, Darby Schye (Malta, Mont.) came on strong, scoring 8 of her 13 total points and recording 10 total rebounds. ### Bulldogs Dominate Northwest Indian College to Complete Weekend Sweep

The Bulldogs took more time to get going than Head Coach Steve Keller had anticipated, but eventually cruised to a 135-60 win over the Eagles of Northwest Indian College in Friday nights game.

Montana Western got off to a hot start Saturday making just about every they shot took, on their way to a 121-62 win over the NWIC Eagles.

The Montana Western Bulldogs scored 41 points before surrendering a lone free-throw 8 minutes into the 1st half. Senior Shyke Smalls (Great Falls, Mont.) got things going early hitting four buckets without missing including two three pointers. The Bulldogs shot an astounding 76 percent from the field in the first half including 68 percent from downtown. The Eagles couldn't buy a bucket to begin with, but eventually got some to fall before the first half buzzer sounded with a score of 74-23.

Smalls couldn't miss in the second half either, totaling 16 points (6-6 FG) on the night. Cameron Evans (Billings, Mont.) also had a big night scoring 17 points and tallying a game high seven rebounds. The high scorer of the night was Zaccheus Darko-Kelly (Missoula, Mont.) with 18 points and eight assists.

The Bulldogs will travel to Bozeman, Mont. on Nov. 4 where they will take on the Montana State Bobcats.

It's that time of year again to start packing shoeboxes. Millions of children around the world need to know that someone cares for them. A single shoebox filled with gifts has a tremendous affect on children living in orphanages, severe poverty and war-torn areas of the world.

Since 1993, more than 100 million children have been touched by the power of a simple gift. Every shoebox is a tool that can be used by God to reach one more child with the Good News of Jesus Christ.

If you would like to be a part of this amazing ministry contact Barb Kramer at 925-2657. I can provide you with information on how to pack a box and prepare it for shipping. I have labels and boxes for your convenience. Collection week is November 14-21. You can drop off your box at Grace Bible Church at 1049 Laknar Lane, from 11:00 am to 1:00pm starting Monday the 14th.

Dawgs' Trample Bison in Season Opener

The Montana Western Bulldogs took care of business early on Thursday dominating Salish Kootenai College in route to a 116-71 win.

Right off the bat, junior transfer, Dom Robinson (Tacoma, Wash.) scored the first points of his Bulldog career and the first points for the Bulldog 2016-2017 season. During the first half Head Coach Steve Keller went with a five player rotation, subbing guys in every five minutes. This allowed players Kooper Kidgell (Billings, Mont.) and Troy Scott (Dillon, Mont.) to come in early and provide Western a spark both offensively and defensively. The Bulldogs went into halftime with a commanding 58-33 lead, lead by Kidgell's 14 points, and 5 assists along with, Troy Scott's hot shooting hand going 3-3 from behind the arc.

The Bulldogs began the second half strong, running the court and generating easy buckets from all over the floor, including a two handed slam from junior forward Marcus Payne (Livingston, Mont.). Some of the other second half highlights included some fancy passing from Robinson who finished with 3 assists and true freshman Derek Durocher's long distance three pointers.

All eleven Bulldog players found themselves in the scoring column with Kidgell recording a game high 23 points on an impressive 8-11 shooting. Brian Neal (Tacoma, Wash.) contributed 17 points in 16 total minutes of court time. The Bulldogs had 6 total players in double figures in a strong season opener in front of the home crowd.

Zachary Mills of Salish Kootenai College led the way in scoring for the Bison with 21 points on 8-18 shooting.

Bulldogs are in back in action at home Friday and Saturday night against Northwest Indian College. Tip off is scheduled for 7:30 pm in Straugh Gymnasium.

An Investment We Need in Montana's Future:

Lawmakers Should Pitch in Half the Cost for Montana's Public Universities

This legislative session, let's make a commitment to the future of Montana families and students by committing enough public funding to cover at least half the cost of public universities in Montana. Our state currently pitches in about 39% of the cost of education for the Montana University System (MUS), an amount that pales in comparison to the national average of 54% that states across the country contribute to public higher education. Now more than ever, we need representatives and the Montana Legislature as a whole, to step up our investment in higher education and return Montana's public universities to primarily-public funding.

While the Montana Legislature made huge strides lifting our state share of funding for higher ed from its low in 2012, there is much more progress to be made. Declining to fund even half the cost of our public colleges and universities is a disservice to Montana students and families, who are left with a choice of higher tuition & fees or lower quality, a disservice to our public institutions that are forced to focus on enrollment over excellence, and a disservice to the very prospect of long-term economic prosperity in our state. A study by the MT Bureau of Business and Economic Research found every state dollar spent on higher education has a direct economic impact of three dollars generated in state tax revenue. Money invested in our University System is an investment in both the short and long-term success of our state. Now is the time to make a clear and strong investment in our state's future with the state investment it takes to keep public education public.

Over 75% of students in our University System are Montana residents, and over 80% will be living and working in Montana within a year of graduation. Young Montanans considering college should never face a set of in-state options that are stymied by our state's commitment, and the future of Montana's workforce needs more. As Montanans who returned to our state's universities during the Great Recession return to the workforce retrained and re-equipped, the Montana University System has been forced to grapple with what and where to cut. When Montana's Universities can only count on 39% of funding from the state, any swing in enrollment has an outsized impact on our University System across the board and leaves our public colleges and universities unjustifiably vulnerable to inevitable swings in enrollment.

The University of Montana Western is currently experiencing a time of drastic growth. In order to maximize our university's potential, we must maintain our students' expectations as well as attract and retain qualified faculty. Unmet student concerns of safety and accessibility are immensely important, yet resolvable with more state funding. Our legislators have done a lot in the last two legislative sessions to lift our state's share in public universities back up from a painfully low 32% in 2012. This work to bring public education back from the brink is important and appreciated, but it isn't complete. Our state's students need the sort of stability that only the public commitment of years past can provide. In a year with low revenues, it's more important than ever that our state prioritizes the sort of smart, long-term investments in areas like public higher ed that expand opportunity and strengthen our economy. We implore our legislators to help bring back a state commitment that ensures the quality of higher ed in Montana and keeps our universities affordable enough for the average Montanan.

In 2000, the state of Montana funded 49% of the cost of our University System. In 1992, 72%. Today, restoring our state share to at least half the cost of higher ed sends a strong, much-needed message about what it means to be a public University, about our commitment to tomorrow's students, and about our commitment to investments that are proven to work. With revenues down, the question of adequately funding higher ed in Montana is a question not just of commitment, but of priorities. We know that the current state contribution to public universities is woefully below the national average, that a dollar toward higher ed equals three dollars toward Montana's economy, and that failing to invest elevates enrollment at the cost of quality. We know that we can do better, and we call upon our local legislators to push for public funding for public universities this spring with a commitment to fund at least 50% of the Montana University System's budget when it comes up in House Bill 2 and the General Fund Appropriations Act.
