"Top 10 Burglary Safe Zones"

At Protect America, we've put together a list of the 10 cities in Montana with the lowest burglary rates. We call these cities "Burglary Safe Zones." We've also made a list of the 10 cities in Montana with the highest burglary rates. We call these cities "Burglary Hot Spots."

Each year, the FBI releases a Uniform Crime Report detailing the number of crimes in each municipality in the US. Protect America has digested this data and turned it into lists of burglary safe zones and hot spots for each state. We only counted cities that submitted burglary data.

Dillon has been named #2 on our Top 10 List for towns in Montana. What does this mean?

Chief of Police Paul Craft stated that based on the definition that is used by the Uniform Crime Reporting from the FBI, Dillon has had only 2 Burglary, Residence. He stated that there have been other thefts that have occurred during the past year, but those are not included in the Burglary Stats. In order for a crime to be classified as a Burglary, an individual has to enter or remain in an occupied structure with the intent to commit a crime within the structure.

Montana Western begins teaching new equine instruction option

The 2016-17 school year marks the beginning of the new equine instruction option for University of Montana Western natural horsemanship majors.

The equine instruction option was announced last February by then Interim Provost Sylvia Moore. The option was developed by Natural Horsemanship Instructor Eric Hoffmann with assistance from Moore and Equine Studies Chair Olie Else.

"This new option fulfills a significant need in the equine industry for properly trained and certified equine instruction," Else said. "It is important that we train the upcoming generation of horsemanship instructors to observe and teach safe and effective horsemanship."

Block one marked the first time the option has been taught to natural horsemanship majors. The first class, practical instruction of haltering and handling, required that students be hands-on in halter breaking six young horses donated by the local Holland Ranch. At the end of the class students taught techniques regarding horsemanship, safety and horse care to 12 cadets from the Montana Youth Challenge Academy.

In developing the program, Montana Western received feedback from the United States Equestrian Federation and American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) identifying a lack of instructors in the equine industry.

"This is a major step forward in the university's efforts to provide quality personnel for the equine industry," Don Treadway, former executive vice-president of AQHA, said. "The horse aficionado of the future will demand professionalism with their equine experiences and this program will train students to fill that need."

The university also coordinated program development with the Certified Horsemanship Association (CHA) to meet the group's certification requirements.

CHA is a non-profit organization that certifies equine instructors and accredits equine facilities. A certificate from the organization ensures an instructor has the experience, knowledge and the necessary skills to teach horsemanship.

The certificate also increases the employability of its instructors both nationally and internationally, Hoffman said. "There are jobs all around the world waiting for students who earn this degree. Our graduates will meet the highest standards of excellence."

"I feel very privileged to be in the new option area," senior and natural horsemanship major Tess Turk said. "Having this hands-on experience has made me realize the time and effort required by instructors to safely and successfully teach horse-related skills."

Montana Western is able to offer students classes with real-world experiences because of its Experience One (X1) program. Through X1 students take a single class at a time for eighteen days.

"The classes offered at Montana Western have fueled my passion to teach horsemanship and has already provided me with amazing opportunities," Turk said.

Montana Western's natural horsemanship degree offers option areas in instruction, management, science and psychology.

The program is a partnership with the Montana Center for Horsemanship, a state-of-the-art facility operated as a non-profit guided by board members including local ranchers and members of the community.

For more information about natural horsemanship at Montana Western, call 406-683-7331 or visit the equine studies website at umwestern.edu/academics/equine-studies.html.

Open letter to the Citizens of Dillon

On November 1, 2016 a notification was published in the Dillonite Daily from the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office in regards to a Sex Offender Registration Compliance.

In reading the notice, you will see that the Dillon Police Department did not participate in this "Operation". The reality of the situation is that the Sheriff's Office, who invited the U.S. Marshal's Office to Dillon to perform the compliance checks did not inform the Dillon Police Department that the "Operation" was taking place.

By statute, the Sheriff's Office is required to maintain the records in regards to Sexual and Violent Offenders. It is the duty of the Dillon Police Department to be informed of and acquainted with those on the offender list as a matter of public safety. Only having a small portion of the local Law Enforcement informed about the offenders in that jurisdiction does not ensure the public's safety.

I have been in communication with agents from the U.S. Marshal's Office and the situation with them has been resolved. The location of offenders within the city limits of Dillon was also resolved by utilizing the Sexual and Violent Offender list that is accessible within the Montana Department of Justice website.

Rest assured that the Dillon Police Department will use any and all available resources to protect the citizens of Dillon.

Sincerely,
Paul L. Craft
Chief of Police

First I would like to say Thank You to Brenda Womack for the Dillionite Daily. I am sorry that it has cause the author of the letter that was delivered to Womack Printing much heart ache.

Several weeks ago a letter was dropped off at Womack's Printing by an unidentified person. Wow, what a letter. The author of the letter definitely expressed his/her personal opinions in a way that was condescending, demeaning and belittling. We are hearing everyday how horrible the national election is because of what candidates are saying. The author of this letter makes them look good.

There were six points made in the letter from how incompetent, inept and ugly the people are that have anything to do with the content of the Dillionite. They went onto express opinions on, religion, Mayor Klakken, the decision makers for city (council members), mayors wages (that have not changed)...

Brenda Womack operates a business in Dillon that supports several families via wages and pays all other expenses that go along with the ownership of a businesses. Let's not forget the getting up at the crack of dawn or staying late to publish the Dillionite five days a week.

Freedom of Speech is an honor. Maybe that is why there are so many publications that we have at our fingertips. Perhaps the author may be able to find a more suitable paper that gives them the information they are looking for.

The letter I speak of will not be published.

Upcoming Soil Health and Cover Crop Roundtable Workshops

Join agronomist Kate

Vogel to learn about cover crops, soil health, and grazing, at one of North 40 Ag's upcoming roundtable workshops. These interactive sessions allow producers to learn about successes in the region and ask operation specific questions.

Hey Jude

We are having some problems with elderly family...care, stress, etc...any help?

We have an obligation to elderly parents/grandparents according to the Bible.

1 Timothy 5:4. (Widows who have children or grandchildren let them... pay back what is due their parents or grandparents, this is pleasing to God) The family unit was important in biblical times, just as it is today. We want to show the same love to elderly parents, etc, that they showed to us growing up. When family members can no longer help, sometimes skilled nursing is needed. There are many options, & resources available. Whether it be the parents staying in their home as long as possible & having healthcare individuals come in, or a family member moving into the family home to render aid or moving the elderly person into a child's home. If the parent(s) or grandparents live outside ones area, there may be other siblings who can meet their needs. If possible one who doesn't live close to the elderly in question, can help other siblings financially with their parents care.

The stress involved in taking care of our elderly family is great indeed, but we can look to the Bible for sources of guidance.

2 Cor. 1:3 God comforts us so we can comfort others.

TODAY'S HUMOR (for some anyway) REDSKINS DROP OFFENSIVE NAME

The Washington Redskins finally drop offensive name: Dan Snyder, owner of the NFL Redskins, has announced that the team is dropping "Washington" from the team name, and it will henceforth be simply known as, "The Redskins."

It was reported that he finds the word 'Washington' imparts a negative image of poor leadership, mismanagement, corruption, cheating, lying, and graft, and is not a fitting role-model for young fans of football.

Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society

The Nov. meeting of the Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society will be Tuesday the 8th at 7:00 pm in the museum research room. This is election day, so remember to vote before you come. After the brief business meeting we will have two reports from the Montana State Genealogy Conference held in Missoula in September. These state conferences always have professional genealogists speak, so come hear some of the advice they give for researching our ancestors. Also, we will have a report on the Library of Dust. As always, the public is invited.
