Get Your Griswold On!

Plans Set For 2016 Parade Of Lights And Christmas Stroll, Friday, December 2Nd, Parade Entries Open & Invite For All Business And Community Org Participation

The 2016 Parade of Lights and Christmas Stroll will be held on Friday, December 2nd beginning at 6:00 p.m. All businesses, churches and community organizations are welcome to participate in events across Dillon and in the Downtown area.

The Chamber asks that businesses who want to participate plan an activity or theme that is complimentary to their business that will be available during the Parade of Lights and Christmas Stroll. Ideally, the Chamber asks that businesses participating stay open until 8:00 p.m. on the night of the festivities.

Parade entries are welcome! The parade will begin at the Courthouse at 6:00 after Santa and Mrs. Claus light the Courthouse Christmas tree. For parade entry forms and more information about the parade, call Claudia at 406-660-1973 or stop by Best of the West Properties. This year's Parade theme is "Get your Griswold On!" There will be prizes for top parade entries.

The Chamber is planning on publishing a list of activities going on in each participating business to make sure strollers know what to look forward to. Final deadline to be included on the Parade & Stroll Night list of events is Thursday, Dec. 1 by 5:00 p.m.

Please, send your plans to Mitch at mitch.thomas.staley@gmail.com so you can be included on the list of Parade & Stroll Night activities.

For other questions, contact Mitch at 406-660-0059.

Montana Western English professor contributes to book on Mary Shelley

University of Montana Assistant Professor of English Ashley Carlson recently published a chapter in a new book about Mary Shelley called "Critical Insights: Mary Shelley."

Carlson's chapter titled "Dr. Frankenstein and the Review Board: Research Ethics in Frankenstein," discusses the connections between Frankenstein's experiment and current issues in biomedical research ethics.

"Nearly 200 years after its publication, "Frankenstein" by Mary Shelley remains surprisingly relevant,"

Carlson said. "The novel intersects with questions about how researchers acquire and use human cadavers, what duties researchers have towards their human subjects, and what responsibilities researchers have towards the general public once their experiments leave the lab. These are all questions that the scientific community is still grappling with today."

The book, edited by Virginia Brackett, is part of Salem Press's Critical Insights Series which the publisher describes as "a great starting point for students seeking an introduction to Mary Shelley and the critical discussions surrounding her work."

Carlson earned her Ph.D. in English Literature from the University of New Mexico in 2011. Her research has focused on 19th and 20th century literature, cultural studies, feminism, women's literature and popular culture.

In 2015 she published "Genius on Television," a book of essays about the portrayal of brilliant characters on television series, such as "The Big Bang Theory," "Bones," "Sherlock," "Scandal," and "Fringe."

Carlson is now in her second year at Montana Western. She teaches courses on British literature, literary criticism, popular culture and writing.

Letter to the Editor

UM Western professor Francisconi's hysterical and hate-filled letter that Ronald Reagan and Donald Trump are fascists demands a response, especially from those of us who supported Hillary Clinton. Francisconi should be embarrassed for his absurd, inaccurate assertions and illogical comparisons. Consequently, here are several homework assignments for the professor.

Because Francisconi loves to boast that he is a democratic socialist who cares deeply about the working class, here are other homework assignments. (1) Explain specifically how democratic socialists would prevent their system from escalating into totalitarian socialism whether in the form of Communism or Fascism. (Remember good intentions are not enough. Not all of us are as righteous or as virtuous as professor Francisconi! As such, constitutions, institutions, organizations, knowledge, and incentives are what matter!) (2) Identify which industries you want the government to take over. (3) Identify all the music companies and book publishing companies and social media sites the government will now own. (4) Identify all former private universities such as Notre Dame and Catholic University and Harvard the government will now own under democratic socialism.

Because Francisconi's cheap-word boasting about his compassion for the working class is easy, here are still other homework assignments: (1) Inform us about how many jobs you created for the working class during your lifetime. (2) Inform us about how many of these Francisconi-created, working-class jobs are ESOPS, employee stock ownership plans. (3) Inform us about what the average take-home pay was for these Francisconi-created jobs. (4) Please post all the answers for the homework assignments on your personal faculty webpage at Western.

Perhaps now, Francisconi believes in the diversity of ideas and he will share this letter with current and future students. Perhaps now, Francisconi will encourage his students to disagree emphatically with his ideas. Perhaps now, Francisconi will positively recognize (and not punish) these disagreeable, free-thinking students who challenge his dogma.

Let us never forget Susan Sontag's accurate comparison: "Communism is Fascism, Successful Fascism."

Harrison Featured during Christmas Stroll

Dillon author, R.J. Harrison will be signing copies of his novel, "A Shooting in Bannack" at The Bookstore during the annual Christmas Stroll. This novel is a history/mystery with a dash of paranormal and a healthy helping of sexy romance. The authors knowledge and love for the landscape and history of Montana shine through in his book. He summons ghosts, traces the seams of relationships and follows a trail of adventure.

R.J (Rob Harrison), born exactly nine months from the day his father arrived home from France, grew up in Dillon. He graduated from BCHS in 1964 and MSU in 1969 with a degree in architecture, putting a creative writing career on hold. He has always been a lover of words and history. The cattle ranch culture of the northern Rockies gave him his lazy country voice and friendly skepticism. After a career in architecture, R.J. and his wife (Cynthia) have returned to his beloved Pioneer Mountains. Retirement has given him time to travel and return to a writing career that he by passed in his youth. Telling stories has always been a part of mountain life, so it is natural that the stories R.J. writes are imaginative, adventurous, romantic, humorous, mysterious and sometimes magical.

Meet the author on Friday, December 2nd from 5:00-7:00 pm. If you have any questions or would like to reserve a copy please call 683-6807

Breakfast with Santa

The Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary invites all children to Breakfast with Santa on Saturday, December 3, 2016 from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, 93 Mt Hwy 91 S., in Dillon. The charge for breakfast is $3 for children, $5 for adults. Come enjoy an all-you-can-eat breakfast, make Christmas crafts, and meet Santa Claus before or after getting your holiday shopping done at The Christmas Store (hosted at the Dillon Elementary School cafeteria).

Giving Tree

Dillon Masonic Lodge No. 16 is hosting the Giving Tree again this year, and the celebration is in full swing. This project helps the children of Dillon and the surrounding area have a wonderful Christmas.

The hours are 11 am until 2 pm weekdays at 26 East Bannack Street, between Ashley's Bliss Tanning Salon and Kristy's NV Hair Salon. Drop in and pick up a tag off one of the trees and buy that gift for a child.

We ask that you wrap it and return it to the Giving Tree location. Thank you for your thoughtfulness.

Christmas Market: Sat from 9am-3pm

The Expedition Lodge Christmas Market is an experience you won't want to miss! Enjoy shopping a festive market full of handmade crafts + gifts as you sip a hot drink + take in the magic of the holidays at Expedition Lodge.

Sisters-in-law Sarah + Amber Hartman started the market in 2013 as a way to showcase their "Dirt Road Decor" hobby business. They also wanted to give area artists a venue to sell their homemade + handmade goods during the cold winter months (similar to the Dillon Farmer's Market). This year, however, Amber + Sarah are both in the middle of building homes + moving! So, "Dirt Road Decor" has taken a back burner for a bit.

We're excited to announce that our very talented friend Carrie Sampson is bringing all things rustic + fabulous from her "Real Deals on Home Decor" store to the 2016 Market. Carrie operates her store in Butte, MT but raises her family in Dillon with husband Joe. We promise the home decor + furniture will not disappoint!

NEW THIS YEAR: Hot Cocoa Bar + Pictures with Santa! All proceeds benefitting the Hand n' Hand Preschool Helen Hilton Memorial Scholarship Fund!

Expedition Lodge + Gatehouse are Dillon's premiere Vacation Rentals. Owned + operated by Justin + Sarah Hartman of Tight Line Adventures in Dillon, Montana.

Montana Joins Multi-State Lawsuit Opposing Expansion of Critical Habitat Definition

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox, along with 16 other state attorneys general and one state fish and wildlife agency, filed a lawsuit in federal court in Alabama Tuesday, challenging two newly issued regulations promulgated under the authority of the Endangered Species Act by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) and the U.S. National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS).

The states assert that the final administrative rules defining "critical habitats," as recently issued by the two defendant federal agencies, unlawfully exceed the authority granted to them by Congress as provided in the Endangered Species Act. The statutory definition of "critical habitats" are those "specific areas within the geographical area occupied by the species at the time it is listed . . . on which are found those physical or biological features (I) essential to the conservation of the species and (II) which may require special management considerations or protection."

The states assert that the federal agencies have improperly, and unlawfully, expanded the definition of critical habitats by adopting administrative rules to include any land or water habitat currently unoccupied by a threatened or endangered species, but which could potentially provide for the survival of such species in the future.

Congress specifically directed that "critical habitat shall not include the entire geographical area which can be occupied by the threatened or endangered species." Moreover, Congress directed that lands unoccupied by threatened or endangered species cannot be designated as critical habitat for those species unless the Federal agencies expressly find that those lands "are essential for the conservation of the species."

The lawsuit contends, that if allowed to stand, the rules would allow U.S. FWS and U.S. NMFS to exercise virtually unlimited power to declare land and water as critical habitat for endangered and threatened species, regardless of whether that land or water is occupied by the species, regardless of physical or biological features necessary to sustain the species, and regardless of whether the land or water is actually essential to the conservation of the species.

The lawsuit also asserts that the final rule would allow the U.S. FWS and U.S. NMFS to declare almost any activity as "destructive of critical habitat," as any activity could potentially prevent eventual development of characteristics necessary to support the survival of a threatened or endangered species.

Speaking to the newly issued rules being challenged by the States, Montana Attorney General Tim Fox said, "While it's important to preserve habitat critical to the survival of endangered species, these newly issued regulations are clearly unlawful expansions of authority by the executive branch, and allowing them to move forward would only further erode the integrity of our country's lawmaking process. I'm hopeful that the incoming administration will scrap these rules, and instead, respect the process used to create laws in this country, rather than promulgate law by executive fiat."
