Are School Newspapers Hanging By A Thread?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

I wish I could tell you that my old alma mater (Marshall County High School in Lewisburg, Tennessee) still publishes a student newspaper, but that would be fake news.

The defunct MCHS paper (where I spent some of the happiest, nerdiest years of my life) has a lot of company. A Google search promptly brought up a National Public Radio story from four years ago titled "High School Newspapers: An Endangered Species." Around the same time, the New York Times reported that only one in eight public schools in New York City produced a newspaper.

Numerous factors have contributed to the decline of student newspapers. For one thing, tight budgets have squeezed extracurricular activities in general. Too bad a good PR person hasn't helped newspapers compete with the extracurriculars that fire up more community support. ("No, there aren't many concussions or torn ligaments, but that rascally 'Associated Press Style Book' would just as soon paper-cut you as LOOK at you!")

Standardized testing has taken time away from "luxuries" such as journalism classes. But emphasizing fact regurgitation over creativity and common sense may not work out so well in the real world. ("The robber wants me to give him my money or my life. But he didn't offer options C and D! I can't function without options C and D!")

Schools have always seen a dichotomy between those students who eagerly await the gossip and accolades of the student newspaper and the hipsters who find the whole endeavor "lame"; but the immediacy and brevity of today's social media have made ink-on-paper reporting seem as outdated as emptying the potbelly stove ashes for the schoolmarm. Still, the passage of 10 or 15 years might make the periodical seem less tedious. ("So, reading my three-paragraph expose© of gymnasium conditions doesn't seem so boring compared to staring at the wallpaper in your parents' basement, does it?")

I hope society can recognize the value of a strong student press. Student journalists give parents/taxpayers a more nuanced view than the "Okay, I guess" or "Everything sucks" assessment that students usually deliver upon arriving at home. (Granted, it may be just "Okay, I Guess And Whatever: Which Is Right For You?" or "Everything Sucks, and We've Got The Bar Graphs To Prove It"; but you take your victories where you can get them.)

No matter what career path students wind up taking, student journalism teaches invaluable job skills, such as teamwork, sensitivity to deadlines, analytical thinking, clear writing and protecting company shareholders from calamitous split infinitives!

BIRTH
INTERNET

School newspapers have a value that goes far beyond the brief time they're "hot off the press." Although the yearbook gets all the glory, the school newspaper is a priceless time capsule of fads, fashions, slang, nicknames and Burning Issues. ("Grandpa, I never realized you were so passionate about animal rights. But wasn't that sort of hypocritical? I mean, weren't newspapers printed on dinosaur skin or something?")

There are some positive signs. A teacher at MCHS has agreed to coordinate young journalists, and my hometown paper (the Marshall County Tribune) has graciously offered to give them a page in the weekly shopper to air their news and views.

I hope teachers, newspapers and potential financial backers nationwide will take inspiration from this.

122 N. Montana St Dillon, MT 59725Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Hankamp

I'm not one that writes to the paper. However, I feel as if a response to your letter is necessary. For you to say that Mr. Haugland knew he would not fulfill his term is nothing but a lie. When Garth ran for his last term as County Commissioner, he had full intentions to finish his term. In no way, did Garth sacrifice his last few years, he loved what he did for the county and saw those he worked with as family.

Garth was the most committed, hard working, and dedicated Commissioner, public servant, father, husband, and friend that I know. I find it offensive that you would say differently. Garth didn't get sick until the middle of his term. He would have never ran if he wouldn't have thought he could have fulfilled his term.

I believe in two years you are going to run for commissioner. I must say God help us if you win. We don't need someone like you leading Beaverhead County. I say this because of some of your other comments in your letter. It shows how much you need to learn about issues and what the commissioners can do. If you think the commissioners can control people that come to meet on public ground think again. The rainbow gatherings were out of their control and they addressed the impacts as best they could. Also, I am not sure how the commissioners can be held responsible for the elk, buffalo, and brucellosis issues.

Your letter has several unfounded accusations against Mr. Haugland and the current county commissioners. Your letter shows how hot headed you are. I would caution you about pointing fingers and making accusations.

RED HAT SOCIETY NEWS

Diana Carroll and Maggie Benson co-hosted the Red Hat Belles' February activity on February 16th at the Pizza Hut. They had decorated the tables beautifully with a Valentine's Day motif. 21 ladies were able to attend; including Georgia Thomas as our newest member.

Donations for the Dillon Backpack Program were collected by Alyce Wassall. Door prizes were awarded to "Cis" Siebert, "Pete" Tarleton and Lydia Towery. The big Valentine hearts that decorated the tables were awarded to Irene Nesgoda, Marion Williams and Linda Shaw.

Harriet Chambers and Mary Jo Waldemar volunteered to co-host our March activity. Elaine King and Glenda Olsen volunteered to co-host in April. Places and times to be announced. Thank you to Harriet, Mary Jo, Elaine and Glenda.

Thank you to the Pizza Hut and staff. If we don't get enough to eat with your pizza and salad bar, it is our own fault!! Of course, thank you to our co-hostesses, Diana. and Maggie. Everyone had a great time.

The Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society

The Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, February 21, in the museum research room. This month, after our brief business meeting, we will be talking about artifacts and how they can put life into your family history. Do you have an artifact that by itself just makes you think it is something that should be thrown out? And then you learn the story behind it; which ancestor had it, what was important about it, why it was kept, etc.? Share with us by bringing your seemingly unimportant artifact and tell us what makes it an amazing artifact. As always, the public is invited to attend.

Seasonal jobs open for mussel response inspection and decontamination stations

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks today announced that it is recruiting additional aquatic invasive species inspection and laboratory technicians for the upcoming season. The job opportunities are part of the state's on-going effort to battle the risk of spreading invasive mussels to other areas in the state.

The seasonal jobs, which offer competitive pay and benefits, will generally run from April through October.

In October 2016, Montana's first-ever detection of invasive mussel larvae showed up in Tiber Reservoir – and "suspect" detections turned up in Canyon Ferry Reservoir, the Missouri River below Toston Dam, and the Milk River. The discovery triggered a natural resource emergency in Montana and led to several strategies to manage the threat of invasive mussels spreading to other areas.

Recent Joint Mussel Response Implementation Team recommendations to the Montana Legislature addressed annual preventative actions including additional mandatory Montana watercraft inspection stations; deployment of watercraft decontamination stations at Tiber and Canyon Ferry reservoirs; and doubling sample collection to more than 1,500 taken from more than 200 waterbodies.

To qualify for one of the seasonal positions on the AIS team, applicants must be at least 18 years old, possesses a valid driver's license and clean driving record. Additional skills should include excellent customer service, a strong public service work ethic, and the ability to work in a team atmosphere. Interest in natural resource conservation is desired but not required.

FWP hiring staff will be on hand at the following locations to review resumes, conduct interviews and accept applications:

Do You Know the Truth... Repentance toward God and Faith in Jesus Christ

---We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God as stated in 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is the reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with Biblical teachings are false.--- In Acts 20:21 the Apostle Paul testified of the need of "...repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ."

In the context of the scriptures repentance is confessing our sin to God and asking His forgiveness for that sin. In 1 John 1:9 we read, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." Repentance is toward God because all of our sins are against God. King David states this principle in his prayer of repentance following his terrible acts of murder and adultery, "Against thee, and thee only, I have sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: that thou might be justified when thou speak, and be clear when thou judgest." (Psalm 51:4)

Our faith must be in Jesus Christ, as He is the one who was crucified, died, was buried and rose again to pay the price of our sin debt. Paul reminds the Colossian church in 1:13-14 that they had been "...delivered from the power of darkness...translated (transferred) into the kingdom of His dear Son...", and had received "...redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins."

It's important to understanding that Jesus Christ alone must be the object of our faith. Trusting in baptism or various other rituals, church regulations, dedications, personal virtue, or financial contributions, are vain and will not save anyone.

Note the words of Jesus in John 14:6, "I am THE way, THE truth, and THE life: no man cometh to the Father, but by me."

Conclusion: Acknowledging God and Jesus Christ intellectually is vain. Trusting anyone or anything else is vain. Only through repentance toward God and faith in Jesus Christ, God's sacrifice for sin, will we be ready for that day when death rings our doorbell.
