Elaine Olson Brackenbury

Elaine Olson Brackenbury passed away February 19, 2017. She was born April 20, 1934 in Bridge, Idaho in the old Post Office where her family was living at the time and her mother Genieva was the Post Mistress. The family moved to various places in Idaho including Blackfoot, but later returned to Bridge where her father Frank was the last Post Master. Elaine liked to tell stories about growing up with her many brothers and sisters.

Elaine met her husband Don at a Naf Dance. She always swore she would never marry a redheaded man, but Don changed her mind. They were married in Elko, Nevada on October 10, 1953 after Don returned home from the Army. Don and Elaine had nine kids; four boys and five girls (daughter Pamela passed away at age two). Elaine went with Don to work on various ranches in Idaho, California, Utah, Montana and Nevada. Elaine was a homemaker and mother. At times she worked as cook on the ranch where Don was currently working. Being a cowboy's wife with eight kids, money was usually tight so Elaine fixed things when they broke. It was not unusual to find her with a screwdriver in her hand and the air blue with curse words, although Elaine would tell you she didn't swear. One of Elaine's favorite places to live was in Glen, Montana where Don worked for Hagenbarth Livestock. She always spoke fondly of time spent in Glen with friends Floydena and Kathy.

Don and Elaine moved to Caliente, Nevada in 1993 to help their son Hank and his wife Joi on their ranch. They later moved to Hank and Joi's ranch in Yerington, Nevada where they lived until the time of Don's passing in August 2016. Elaine spent the past several months in Dillon, Montana.

Elaine is preceded in death by her husband Don, daughter Pamela, her parents Frank and Genieva Olson, brothers Frank, and Dorsel, and sister Imogene Heitz. She is survived by brothers Glen (Judy) and Darwin, sisters Eloise (Harry) Wier and Florence Barnes, children Jesse (Samie) Brackenbury, Lancaster, CA, Debbie Brackenbury, Dillon, MT ((children Justin (Mara), Kristin Robertson, and Austin)); Hank (Joi) Brackenbury, Beatty, NV, (son Jared (Adriana)); Carey Reyes, Dillon, MT, (children Matt (Carly), Luke (Mikaela), Sabrina (Travis) McClure, and Robyn (Danny)); Howard Brackenbury, Butte, MT; Ted (Audrey) Brackenbury Dillon, MT, ((children Heather (Trent) Merica, Tyler and Tucker)); Stacey Roundy, Dillon, MT, (son Andy Steidle); Brandy Brackenbury (Ethan), Mountain Home, ID ((children Tymeir (Ritchie) Hinkley, and Stevie)); eighteen great grandchildren, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Elaine's wishes were to be buried with her daughter Pamela in the Almo, Idaho cemetery. A gathering of family and friends will take place there at a later date. Cremation has taken place. A guestbook is online at www.brundefuneralhome.com.

Joint City Hall/Council

By: MJ

City Hall held a joint meeting with City Council Feb. 9th. Guest speaker was Mr. Alan Hulse, the CEO of Montana Municipal Interlocal Authority (MMIA). The council is working to create a "use agreement or contract" that will provide a framework between the city and other organizations that use the city hall for events. It is up to the city to protect the taxpayers in a responsible way. This is an enormous task for the city fathers. It was suggested that the city not only look at events happening in city hall but also what is happening in the city parks, baseball fields and school events. It appears that the more paper work the city has the more protection the taxpayers will have.

MMIA: Insurance became cost prohibitive for many small municipalities and they asked the state for help. To help solve the problems in 1986 MMIA came into existence to support local communities; with risk management. The towns would join MMIA thus giving MMIA added bargaining power to purchase insurance at a lower rate for the cities. The cities would then bind coverage through MMIA.

Mr. Hulse explained many issues the city fathers needed to evaluate when drafting a contract. Following are some examples he spoke of; 1) city figures out where they want to include insurance, 2) extent of exposure that will be brought on the city with events. 3) consider the type of event (if a family has exclusive use of a park for a family reunion and someone gets hurt, MMIA would cover city but they will not cover the group) 4) city must ask to see written proof of insurance endorsements and 5) city needs to take into consideration the impact the event will have on facility...

MMIA has exclusion policy for special activities like rodeos, circuses, martial arts... If the city gets sued for the listed excluded events MMIA, they will not cover be covered by MMIA.

✓ The committee tabled the draft contract for further information. Mr. Hulse agreed to look at the draft contract bring back suggestions.

ATTEMPTED ARMED ROBBERY

Terry Watson was booked by the Dillon Police Dept. on Sunday after an armed robbery attempt at the Dillon Safeway pharmacy.

The off duty officer that struggled with and subdued the armed suspect was Jeremy Barnes with the Utah Department of Public Safety and has 12 years of law enforcement experience.

The investigation shows a shot was fired from the suspects' gun during the struggle.

The Dillon community and law enforcement are very happy that Mr. Barnes was there and luckily, no injuries were sustained by anyone.

Weekly Report by Senator Jeff Welborn

HELENA:

First of all, I want to give the weekly shoutout to the Montana Youth Challenge Academy faculty, staff, and most importantly the cadets themselves for making it to Helena last week, and joining us for a legislative visit, hosted lunch, and tours of the capitol. It was a great source of pride for Rep. Ray Shaw, Rep. Tom Welch and myself to have the opportunity to introduce them during the floor sessions in both the House and Senate.

Moving into some policy discussions that folks have been asking about, I will share a couple things we're working on.

One of the proposals I've introduced this past week SB 183, making permanent, the Hunters Against Hunger act, that we passed as a pilot program back in 2013. This program, which hunters can donate extra wild game to local food banks, donate a few dollars extra when purchasing licenses to pay for processing of the donated meat, or donate meat from game animals directly to folks in need of the sustenance. The Fish & Game Dept. administers the donations, but this is a total voluntary program that doesn't cost the department a dime. It has proven to be an effective, successful program, and has allowed the generosity of hunters to help folks in need all across Montana. This measure passed the Senate 49-0 on Monday and is now on its way to the House for debate.

While the Montana legislature works around a tight budget, Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks is asking for $11.2 million to help combat invasive species in Montana. As long as this money is spent wisely and an effective preventative measures are put in place, I will support this effort for reasons I will touch on in a bit. Now a little bit about the proposal.

The fisheries division in Fish, Wildlife and Parks would deal solely or strictly with aquatic invasive species, primarily Zebra Mussels. FWP will also oversee decontamination stations where boats leaving Tiber and Canyon Ferry under certain circumstances, if they are not going to stay on those reservoirs, would have to be decontaminated.

Evidence of invasive mussels has been found in the Tiber Reservoir and one test for mussels has returned positive in Canyon Ferry. Invasive mussels can be a very costly problem. These invasive mussels can cause damage to the fishery, it can cause serious problems to hydroelectric equipment, wreak havoc on irrigation structures and equipment, and they can threaten the drinking water supply to cities and towns, so it is a real threat to all Montanans. In the Midwest, it is a multi-billion dollar problem and it has the potential to be that here and then as a result in downstream states as well.

Although chemical analysis and mussel sniffing dogs have identified the invasive species in Montana, no adult mussels have yet been found, and I certainly hope it stays that way, but in the meantime, we must properly fund a regimen of healthy water ways, that remain free of these invasive species. I feel that now is the time to work with other states, and provinces as well as Federal partners in eradicating this problem before it's too late.

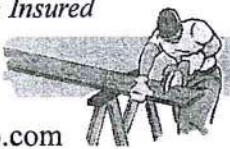

Thanks for listening to this week's report, and please continue staying in touch on the issues important to you. I wish each of you a good week ahead.

Thank you

My most grateful thanks for all the concern and good wishes the community sent me after my unfortunate accident that happened on February 1st.

I'm improving under the care of Dr. Dan Downey and hope to be out and about in the near future.

Thanks to everybody for well wishes, cards and flowers. Many thanks to my family for their care and understanding of my plight.

Dillon is a good place to live.

Sincerely

Beth Brillhart

Letter to the Editor

Bullies, Bullies! Bullies everywhere. There are many characteristics of a bully. None are good. But here are a few characteristics of a bully.

A bully tries to dominate others. A bully ridicules others. A bully cannot control his own life but tries to control the lives of others. A bully does not trust himself or others. A bully makes mistakes but always blames someone else for the mistakes he makes. A bully cannot follow directions but makes up his own directions. A bully criticizes others but cannot take any criticism. A bully never apologizes for hurting others. A bully never apologizes for the mistakes he makes because according to him he makes no mistakes.

These are just a few characteristics of a bully! Where can you find a bully? In the military. In business. In schools. And now we have a President of the United States who is "Bully number One". The White House has become the "Bully House."
