Letter to the Editor

I am responding to the article ""City Drama" in the Dillon Tribune last week by Lynn Westad. Drama could be explained as "creative writing." A drama usually tells a story involving conflict and emotions through action and dialogue designed for theatrical performance. I have not seen any performance like that by any of the current City Fathers/Leaders.

Upon checking dates I found Mayor Klakken did not fire any appointed city employee before being sworn in as mayor. Where is the statute that would have allowed Klakken as a private citizen to fire a city employee?

It was implied in the "City Drama" article that Mayor Klakken makes "appointments" to boards and committees based on personal reasoning. The article also stated that an appointment did not meet the residence requirement. It appears she may be referring to Mr. Raymond Graham, chair of zoning committee. Mr. Graham served on the city council in 2006-2007 and at that time his legal residency was determined. Why is this still a question today?

It was implied that the committees and council are manipulating ordinance changes. Untrue statement. The City Attorney and Conservation District board are working to determine how this appointment will be made. Let the process work its way through. With the election year on the horizon, would this be the reason for misleading articles.

Fact: Lynn Westad was a past council woman and one of the original authors of the zoning document. As we all know it is difficult to see our personal projects tampered with by other people.

I have attended many city council and committee meetings. I found the people currently serving our community are following statutes and representing the community to the best of their abilities. The public comments they receive are most welcome and open the floor for further discussions and debate. Win-Win for the community.

The "City Drama" article defines why facts are important. Facts keep personal opinions at bay.

Get Over It!
Jude Davis

MEDIA RELEASE
ALCOHOL COMPLIANCE CHECKS

On February 17th and 18th, members of The Beaverhead County Sheriff's Alcohol Enforcement Team conducted Alcohol Compliance Checks to determine if local establishments throughout Beaverhead County would serve alcohol to persons under the age of 21. Out of the eighteen locations checked fifteen locations passed by determining the minor was under 21 years of age. The other three locations failed to verify the age of the minor prior to selling alcohol. The common denominator for the violations appeared to be a lack of training.

In contrast, last year 15 locations were checked with 7 violations. This is a marked improvement. The ultimate goal of this program is to achieve 100% compliance by liquor license holders.

The minors used in this program received training provided by the State Of Montana. This training emphasized that there will be no attempt to deceive the servers. When asked, the underage person will produce their own valid Montana License which shows they are under 21 years of age.

Establishments that serve alcohol are encouraged to attend Responsible Alcohol Sales and Service (RASS) Training. These classes are geared for checking ID's, education on Montana liquor laws and liability. You may locate a list of state approved server training programs at www.alcoholservertraining.mt.gov under Alcohol Server Training tab.

The Alcohol Enforcement Team is encouraging all establishments to educate themselves on asking for and reading ID's. The number of incidents involving underage drinking can be reduced by all of us doing our part.
