Phyllis Davis Burwell, 91 of Dillon, Montana passed away at Barrett Hospital and Healthcare on March 20, 2017. Memorial Services are planned for Saturday, March 25th at 11:00 AM at Brundage Funeral Home. A full obituary will follow. Guestbook is available online at www.brundagefuneralhome.com.

Happy 75th Birthday To Capitol Records!

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

In the peak years of my scouring yard sales and junk shops for second-hand, dollar-bin vinyl record albums, I didn't really focus on company labels. I paid more attention to genres and artists.

Still, it's only fitting that I now shine the spotlight on a single company, since I learned that Capitol Records (the first major West Coast record company) celebrates its 75th anniversary on March 27.

Besides the Broadway musical soundtracks, classical recordings, high fidelity jazz sessions and comedy albums (yes, I have a battered copy of Andy Griffith's 1958 pre-TV "Just For Laughs" album near my bed), Capitol has hosted some real pop/country/rock superstars over the past three-quarters of a century: Nat King Cole, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Frank Sinatra, the Kingston Trio, the Beach Boys, the Beatles, Glen Campbell, Bob Seger, Queen, Garth Brooks, Coldplay, Katy Perry, and hundreds more.

I did not realize until I started researching this column that TV star Bozo the Clown was actually created in 1946 for Capitol's new children's record library. Bozo. Capitol. Somehow the two words seem to go together perfectly. ("Oh, the polls shifted suddenly since I started this three-day filibuster? Uh, I think I hear my page calling me.")

My wife and I watch a lot of the current crop of time-travel TV shows ("Timeless," "Doctor Who," "DC's Legends of Tomorrow"), in which someone is always intentionally or accidentally altering history. I shuddered when I thought about someone traveling back in time (either with an agenda or just a general flair for mischief) and altering some of the great recordings Capitol has contributed to the American songbook.

What if there was no one to encourage Sloopy to hang on? What if all Helen Reddy's anthem could manage was "I am woman, hear me mansplain"? Or if "Someday, lady, you'll accomp'ny me" was about public restrooms?

Would it be as romantic if the original Beach Boys had sung "In My (Wiretapped) Room" or "Wouldn't it be nice if we were older/Then we could use Medicare before it goes broke"?

Would our musical legacy be as rich if it included "She Blinded Me With Settled Science," "Blue State Christmas" and "Be True To Your School Voucher" -- and if the Steve Miller Band's "Jet Airliner" was expanded to include a verse for every single new airline surcharge?

Do we really need a ditty as divisive as "Good Vibrations: The Kind That Will Hopefully Slide That Bleeding Heart

Sanctuary State Right Into The Ocean?"

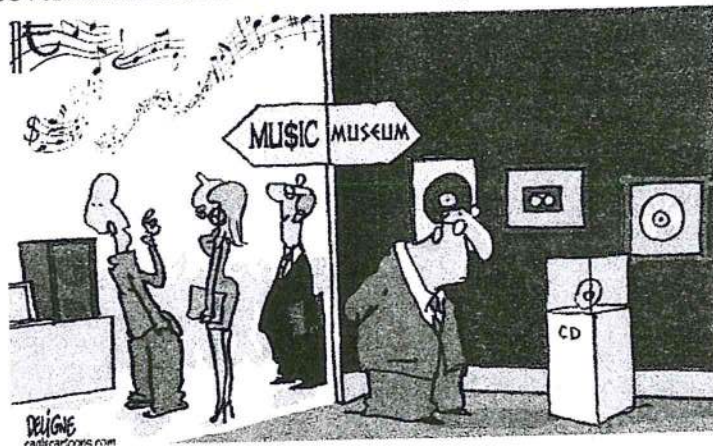

It might promote healthier lifestyles, but wouldn't we lose some of the poignancy if the altered reality found oldies stations playing "The Night They Bicycled Old Dixie Down"?

Audiophiles with different locations on the political spectrum would probably come to blows if "Theme From A Summer Place" became "A Summer Place? EVERYWHERE Is A Summer Place! Watch Out For Drifting Polar Bears!"

Could Loggins and Messina be bribed into producing "Your Mama Don't Dance And Your Daddy Don't Have A Y Chromosome"?

Could threats make MC Hammer sing, "U Can't Touch This ---- Oh, Wait, You're A Celebrity, So Go Ahead And Grab"?

Let's all be thankful for the Capitol discography as it exists ---- and pray that we don't wake up to hear a rebooted Ol' Blue Eyes crooning, "I've Got You Under My Skin (And I Feel Downright Patriotic Now That The Government Can Track Me This Way)."

W-2 Scam Targets Businesses, Nonprofits, and Tribal Organizations as Tax Filing Deadline Approaches

The Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection (OCP) has received multiple reports of businesses being targeted by a sophisticated "spear phishing" email scam that is also known as the "CEO Scam" or the "W-2 Scam." While OCP has only received reports of three businesses falling victim to this scam so far in Montana, nationally, other entities have been targeted in this scam, such as nonprofit and tribal organizations. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) warns that this scheme is meant to compromise the personal information of as many people as possible within each targeted organization.

"Spear phishing" is a more focused form of "phishing," or posing as a legitimate source to gain access to sensitive personal identification and financial information. "Spear phishing" emails are sent to specifically targeted recipients and are designed to look like they were sent from someone the recipient knows and interacts with – possibly a business owner, a supervisor, a colleague, or a department manager. The email's subject line and content are likely to be specific to the target recipient's business responsibilities or interests.

"This 'spear phishing' scam is especially despicable because it takes advantage of the trust that colleagues build between each other," said Montana Attorney General Tim Fox. "These cybercriminals often research their intended target by exploring the target recipient's LinkedIn and other social media pages to build a convincing email. It's easy to fall victim to those emails. Educating Montana businesses, charities, schools, tribal organizations, and others about the existence of this type of scam is the best defense we have," Attorney General Fox added.

The Montana Office of Consumer Protection has received dozens of notices about the following specific "spear phishing" scam as the April 18 tax deadline approaches:

A person pretending to be a company executive sends an email to a staff member, usually someone who works in the human resources or payroll department. Cybercriminals use various 'spoofing' techniques to disguise the email address to make it appear as if it came from an organization executive. The email requests a list of all employees' W-2 information, including employees' names, addresses, social security numbers, and wage information. In reality, though, when the staff member responds with the W-2 information to the email, the scammer is now in possession of the type of sensitive personal information that allows them to commit identity theft. The scammer may even file fake tax returns to steal the employees' tax refund money.

If you, or someone you know, receives an unusual email requesting such information, do not respond immediately. Instead, contact the alleged email sender or company executive by phone or in person to ensure that the request for W-2 information legitimately came from within your organization.

If the request was not legitimate, the scam attempt should be reported to the IRS at phishing@irs.gov with 'W2 Scam' in the subject line, and reported to the Montana Department of Justice's Office of Consumer Protection through OCP's convenient online reporting form here, or by phone at (800) 481-6896 or (406) 444-4500.

Organizations which have their W2 information compromised should report W-2 thefts immediately to the IRS so the agency can take steps to help protect employees from tax-related identity theft. The next step is to file a complaint with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Internet Crime Complaint Center.

Employees whose Forms W-2 have been stolen should review the recommended actions by the Federal Trade Commission at <http://www.identitytheft.gov/steps> or the IRS at www.irs.gov/identitytheft. Employees should file a Form 14039, Identity Theft Affidavit, if the employee's own tax return rejects because of a duplicate Social Security number or if instructed to do so by the IRS.

For more information about guarding against identity theft and what to do if you think you're a victim, you can also visit the Montana Department of Revenue's identity theft website.

NEXT STEPS: To get updates on the latest scams and identity theft attempts affecting Montanans, sign up for Consumer Alerts from the Office of Consumer Protection. To report an attempted scam, use OCP's convenient online reporting form here. You can also call to speak with an OCP investigator at (800) 481-6896 or (406) 444-4500, visit OCP's homepage at <https://dojmt.gov/consumer/>, or call your local law enforcement agency.

ELECCION YEAR
 By: Lynn Westad

It may seem early but this is the year that the Mayor's term is up in December as well as 5 council seats. John Gerry Ward 1, Russ Schwandt Ward 2, Bill Shafer Ward 3, Jim McIsaac & Mandy Maass Ward 4. Filing to run is in June and will be here before we blink.

Time to give it some thought about the people who have been representing you at the City. How would you rate the Mayor? How would you rate the council?

The council is the legislative group. The Mayor's role is executive to enforce any policies and ordinances set by the Council. In response to a question the Mayor stated at a recent council meeting we do not enforce that ordinance. Does the Mayor decide what is or what is not enforced? In your opinion do you think Dillon has made forward progress or is it moving backwards. We need active thoughtful people to bring good ideas to the table. Only requirement for Mayor is to be a resident of the city. Council members must be a resident of the Ward in which they are running. It is time to think about being a candidate or encouraging someone to run.

So are you satisfied or unsatisfied with the performance of the Mayor or a Council member. So what has been accomplished so far? Was your water bill reduced or increased. Yes some saw increases. What about the streets. Have any been redone or just patch jobs that only last a couple months. Street maintenance charge increased and how calculated changed so some saw large increases. Were any street signs replaced there are still many missing? Repeal of open container so we can drink 24 hours a day anywhere in the city. No consultation with other sources that work to prevent alcohol related incidents. Complaints about nuisance conditions in the city ignored. These are a few that came to my mind. You may have other information positive or negative.

If you are elected the work can be difficult and time consuming. It is also rewarding because you are working to make our community better. But every action taken will be wrong in someone's opinion. Support and join those who want to serve in keeping Dillon a great place to live.
