MLE Mason

MLE Mason (also known as "Mert") born Esther Mae Leslie November 30, 1922 to Jeff and Esther Leslie in Sherman, Texas, peacefully passed away October 24, 2016.

Preceded in death by her second husband "Bud" Harry H. Mason, Jr., her parents, older sister and brother and their spouses, sister-in-law and her husband, two grandsons, one step-grandson, two son-in-law and a niece, many extended family and friends.

Her passions were gardening, knitting, crocheting, sewing, crossword puzzles, hot chocolate, her cats, dogs and a baby skunk (a long time ago) and playing the piano (until macular degeneration impaired her vision). She still enjoyed her crafts, but at a much slower pace and she learned how to do oil painting (the Dr. Ross Way) and hot chocolate.

A graduate of NAUI (National Aquatics Underwater Instructors) she loved scuba diving off Catalina Island and the Baja California Peninsula, hot chocolate. She was great at fishing (deep sea, lakes or rivers), as long as she could catch "the big one." After retiring from being an Administrative Assistant she joined her second husband driving an 18-wheeler across the country for Mayflower Moving Vans. If it wasn't "hot," at least make it chocolate.

She is survived by her first husband, Vic Merth, four children Judy & Jack Davies, Jennifer Hickman, Jon & LeAnn Merth and Joy & George Britton, 6 grandchildren, three nieces, two nephews, numerous great grandchildren and several great great grandchildren.

Her family would like to extend their heart-felt appreciation and gratitude to Dr. Sandra McIntyre, the staff at the Legacy Assisted Living and nurses and staff at Kindred/Parkview Acres without whose care she would not have had the quality of life these last few years.

Her Memorial Service will be Saturday May 13, 2017 at 10:30 AM at Brundage Chapel. Please no flowers. The family requests that any donations may be made to the Montana Institute for the Blind. There will be a reception immediately following the Memorial Service at the 4-H Building, Beaverhead County Fairgrounds. Please come and share a memory or three with the family.

Dillon BLM to study Red Rock-Lima Watershed

The Red Rock/Lima Watershed will get a fresh analysis when the Bureau of Land Management's Dillon Field Office studies the existing resource conditions on BLM-administered public lands within the watershed this summer.

As part of this process, the field office would like to have input from the public to help inform the watershed assessment report and environmental assessment.

The Red Rock/Lima Watershed includes 28 grazing allotments and approximately 69,000 acres of BLM land. The five standards for rangeland health will be reviewed on an allotment-by-allotment basis to determine if the standards are being met.

Those standards include: maintaining properly functioning upland and riparian areas, assuring water quality and air quality meet State standards, and providing for biodiversity. Forest health, fuels conditions and conifer encroachment issues are also included within the land health standards.

Where standards for land health are not met, BLM staff will identify contributing factors and give recommendations for corrective action which will be developed by the field office's interdisciplinary team.

Dillon Field Office staff will prepare a National Environment Policy Act document next winter to analyze alternatives for revised management where resource concerns are found within the watershed. The assessment, determination, and any necessary NEPA documents will be completed by resource specialists from the Dillon Field Office in coordination with permittees/lessees, other agencies and the interested public.

For more information on the process, or if you have data that may be helpful to BLM, call (406) 683-8000 or email MT_Dillon_FO@blm.gov.

Finding the Key to a Forever Family

When Yellowstone Boys and Girls Ranch's (YBGR) foster parents, May* and Daniel*, took James*, a Therapeutic Foster Care (TFC) youth, into their home, they had only a glimpse of what he'd been through. Arriving to them at only seven years old, James came from an abusive family and unsafe living conditions. He and his older sister had experienced severe neglect from their mother and the men who visited their home. His father was either committing crime or locked in a correctional facility.

"James's only memory of his dad is him sitting in the car while his dad went into a 7-Eleven and did an armed robbery," May said.

Before James was born, his life was already threatened as his mother was in a physically abusive relationship during her pregnancy. At two years old, he was admitted to a hospital for a week to be treated for an overdose of TYLENOL PM and, at age three, it was reported he had several head injuries. By age seven, he had moved to several different states and five schools, and struggled with ADHD, speech problems, and significant learning disabilities. A report from a teacher stated that his home was filthy and not fit for humans. There was dog, rabbit, and duck feces throughout the home, and James was very frightened of another boy living with him.

After ten years of caring for James, May now calls them his "forever family". But, when he first arrived, they struggled caring for him.

"When we first got him... he went through all the things that a toddler would do when he was eight, nine, and 10. It got to the point... that we almost had to give him up," May said. She said he acted out in many different ways: wetting his pants, writing on the walls of their house, trying to start fires, and stealing keys.

"He stole keys from everybody he could... he stole our keys," May said.

But, she explained that it wasn't because he was bad kid...

"It was a connection with his birth mom," she said.

May explained that, as a young boy, every day James's mother would put keys around his neck so he could let himself and his older sister in their house, after school. So, May and Daniel began to try to correct the situation and use keys as a reward for good behavior.

"Soon after he had keys piled up in his room, he stopped stealing them," May said. "We knew why it was happening. It was all because of the things that he went through."

After ten years in their home, May praised his accomplishments in school, his behavior, and his hard work.

"He's come a long way. That boys been through a lot," she said.

May said James is a quiet kid, and when he is not in school, he spends time working for members of their community and other foster families doing things like landscape work, delivering wood, and assisting older, disabled individuals.

"He works hard. He's got a great heart and he never expects anything out of anyone," May said.

She explained that although James will age out of the foster care program at 18, he will always have a bed in their home and he will always be "our boy."

"We tell him, 'Get ready because we're getting old and you're gonna take care of us,'" she said, laughing. "We love him and this is his home."

It would seem that May and Daniel have given him the key to his forever home.

Letter to the Editor

How long must one live in Montana to be considered a Montanan? If Montana is not your place of birth are you ever a Montanan? The U.S. Census Bureau estimates that 43.2 percent of Montana residents were born outside the state.

Why do we vilify the financial success of another, when it is what many hope to achieve themselves?

Greg and Susan Gianforte are entrepreneurs who came to this state with a vision 24 years ago. They built a highly successful business in Bozeman, growing it to the largest commercial employer. They raised their family here.

Through the Gianforte Family Foundation, they have made charitable contributions, supporting organizations that have enriched lives through jobs, education, arts and culture, and support for the disadvantaged.

Entrepreneurs see the world through an optimistic lens. They are problem solvers and know how to achieve desired outcomes. The Gianfortes are like all Montanans. They love this state and its people.

I encourage you to vote for Greg Gianforte for U.S. Congress.

THANK YOU

Thank you to all the volunteers who worked so hard to put together another annual fund raiser and thank you to all who attended the spaghetti dinner on April 28. We do not usually name names, but if you were not there, you missed the "never done this before" auctioneer and Shelter volunteer, Roger Kasak, who turned the live auction into a really fun event for all. We raised a little over $8,000 for our furry friends and fed about 100 people a terrific spaghetti dinner. Thanks again from Susie and the staff at the Beaverhead Animal Shelter.
