Joseph Richard Wellborn, 90

Joseph Richard Wellborn, 90 passed away peacefully on May 24, 2017 at Parkview Acres in Dillon, Montana. There is a reception scheduled for Tuesday May 30, at 4:00 pm at the Elks Lodge. A full obituary to follow, guestbook is available online at www.brundagefuneralhome.com

Elsie Maack DeFrance Terrill

January 9, 1922 - May 15, 2017
95 Trips around the Sun

the young Lawrence Welk.

At 17, she moved to Pony, Montana, to join her brothers who were working in the gold mines. She attended Pony High School for a year before moving over the mountain to Mammoth to work as a cook's helper at the mine. It was there that she met Donald James DeFrance, a third generation Pony man. They married on March 17, 1940, in Butte and shared their next 25 years together.

They followed Don's work in the gold mines to Norris and Whitehall. During this time, Elsie had to spend six months at Galen State Hospital with tuberculosis before making a full recovery. Their first child, Darla, was born in 1941, but died soon after her birth. After their son Dennis was born in 1943, the family settled back in Pony. During World War II they moved to Portland, Oregon, where Don worked in the shipyards, and their son Daryl was born in 1944. They returned to Pony after the war and bought the Pony Cash Store, which they ran for 29 years, raising their own chickens and garden vegetables to sell. Generations of children from miles around perused the penny candy counter at the store, and the dream was to live on to the end of Elise's days in her well-stocked candy dish by her front door for her great-grandchildren. Following Don's death in 1965, Elsie married Emmet Clary, and continued running the store until she sold it in 1979 after collecting all but 37 cents of outstanding credit. Widowed again in 1978, Elsie later married Frank Terrill in 1981 at her home in Pony, and they enjoyed many good years together.

Elsie was a charter member of Zion Lutheran Church in Whitehall, active in the Harrison/Pony Pinocle Club, a lifelong supporter of the Pony VFW, and an avid gardener. She relished her daily gin and tonic and loved large family gatherings, especially when they included a game of poker. Picnics at Potosi and adventures to the lakes above Pony created many of her favorite memories.

She is survived by her son Daryl (Anne) of Pony, daughter-in-law Irene of Billings, brother Louis (Nola) of Harrison, grandchildren Gary (LeAnn), Lisa (Steve), Shannon (Bill), Dan (Amy) and Darla (Marinko), nine great-grandchildren, and dozens of beloved nieces and nephews. She is preceded in death by her

Community Turns Out for Suicide Prevention & Mental Health Training

State Suicide Prevention Coordinator Karl Rosston had a full agenda during a recent two day stopover in Dillon, including an eight-hour Mental Health First Aid training, an evening "Suicide in Montana" community presentation, and a follow up suicide and mental health related session with Barrett Hospital and Healthcare staff.

Rosston focused on suicide warning signs, social factors associated with suicide, and suicide prevention resources. He is grim as he lists Montana's multiple deadly statistics:

- Montana ranks among the top five states in the nation with the highest suicide rate and has for more than 30 years;
- Firearms are the most common means (63%) of suicide in the state; and
- Montana's youth suicide rate (ages 11-17) is double the national rate for the same age group.

Montana's suicide rate is also significantly higher than the nation for other groups including veterans, college students, the elderly, Native Americans, and LGBT (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender) youth.

Rosston references the Rocky Mountain range as a "perfect storm" in contributing to higher than average suicide rates in Montana as well as adjacent and surrounding states. Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, and Alaska all face similarly higher than national suicide rates.

About 90% of those who complete suicide suffer from mental illness, most frequently major depression. But Rosston reminded the audience that depression is one of the most treatable of all psychiatric disorders, especially in adolescents. The treatment success rate is as high as 86% when antidepressants and therapy are used in tandem to address the disorder, he said.

Rosston cautioned the audience to take all signs of suicidal behavior seriously. "If someone you know says he or she is thinking of suicide or is behaving in a way that makes you think the person may be suicidal, don't play it down or ignore the situation." Don't be concerned about overreacting, he said, but instead offer support, get emergency help, if needed, and never promise to keep someone's suicidal feelings a secret.

He referenced a wide variety of suicide prevention resources, training, and programs that exist and encouraged ongoing awareness and empathy. Rosston strongly encouraged area healthcare providers to implement consistent mental health universal screening for every patient on every visit since he referenced it as the "fifth vital sign." Just as every medical visit usually includes a check on the patient's "vitals" (temperature, height, weight, and blood pressure), a mental health screen should be part of that routine. A national study shows as many as 45% of individuals who die by suicide visit their primary care provider within a month of their death, with up to 20% visiting their primary care provider within 24 hours of their death.

Mental Health First Aid (MHFA), an eight-hour training Rosston and Beaverhead County Extension Agent Jackie Sutton co-presented to 60 attendees, is another resource for suicide prevention.

The course is a form of 'first aid' since it teaches the public how to respond in a mental health emergency and offer support to someone who appears to be in emotional distress. The coursework provides an overview of mental health problems, and then focuses on specifics associated with depression, anxiety disorders, psychosis, substance use and eating disorders.

MHFA attendees represented a broad swath from the community including law enforcement, healthcare, education, college students, parents, advocacy groups, activists, and others.

The Beaverhead County Mental Health Local Advisory Council, in coordination with the Beaverhead County Adverse Childhood Experiences Task Force, co-sponsored Rosston's visit as another step on the road to building a 'trauma informed community', said ACE chairperson Melainya Ryan. "These are part of the fundamental building blocks we need to keep moving towards our goal of integrated behavioral healthcare in a strong and resilient community."

The Mental Health First Aid training had an attendance cap so some interested folks in southwest Montana were turned away, Ryan said. A follow up MHFA training is planned so those still or newly interested should call the Women's Resource Center at 683-6106 to get their names on a waiting list.

Letter to the Editor

The recent production of three separate and multi-talented dance recitals entitled "Heaven on Earth" was a remarkable tribute to southwest Montana's gifted students of dance, voice, and gymnastics, and their respective teachers.

Shine Studio danced back in time to music from the 1940-50's with Judy Garland's "The Trolley Song" and "Easter Parade" and then catapulted into 1980's rock legend renditions from Prince, Queen, Michael Jackson, and others.

The myriad of dance and music included tap, ballet, clog, jazz, hip hop, lyrical, pom, contemporary, gymnastics, and voice. Each child was awash with glitter, sequins, and other eye-popping outfits, including black light 'glow in the dark' costumes. The high points were as remarkable and enjoyable as the classic cases of turmoil when tiny tot dancers became more enamored in the scenery or the audience and forgot all "shuffle, shuffle, step, turn" dance steps. There were a few lost Easter bonnets as well!

Standouts included the mother-daughter dance team of Megan and Jayden Chilson and their fast moving competitive clogging and an extensive production number to Jackson's "Man in the Mirror" reinforcing the song's credo to look within oneself to find peace and love. A contemporary Beatles medley was flawless as teachers and advanced students used graceful and expressive movement to reflect the music's refrain. Cindy Wood, Shine Studio owner and dance teacher portrayed the hapless Gilligan in the "TV Theme Song" medley that included a broad swath of students in overalls and heels (Green Acres), a lone cowboy and his stick horse (Mr. Ed), high pony tails, pink satin and poodle skirts (Happy Days), and other old-time favorites.

And in a tribute to Mother's Day weekend, other mothers, dance studio teachers, and adult students got into the act with a stunning "Thriller" reenactment complete with creatures of the living dead in heavy makeup, tattered attire, and lurching moves among the tombstones. The glittering moon and stars stage decorations greatly enhanced all the performances, but the graveyard additions really 'set the stage.'

Whether you made one, two, or all three recitals, there was something new and remarkable in each performance. Congratulations to Cindy Wood, Shine Studio, the extensive support staff needed to make such productions happen, and the Shine Studio Teachers: Sara Bair; Russ Schwandt; Kyra Wood; Amber Gardner, Erin Hughes; Jordin Rasch; Alex Colvin; Megan Chilson; Colleen Reiser; and any others I may have missed.

And a very high 'high five' to all the Shine Studio performers from Dillon and Twin Bridges. Your hard work and effort resulted in stunning performances enjoyed by all. We're proud of you!

Conservation Tidbit - Planting Trees

Beaverhead Conservation District is a political subdivision created by the Montana Legislature in 1950 to help carry out locally led conservation initiatives throughout Beaverhead County. We will be writing tidbits for the local newspaper regarding conservation initiatives every other week.

You many have noticed the signs while coming into town that designate Dillon as a Tree City USA. The city of Dillon is one of 3,400+ cities that have been recognized as a Tree City USA. This means our city has committed itself to "greening up" by creating a Tree Board, celebrating Arbor Day, and involving the community in tree planting initiatives! According to the Dillon Tree Board, there are over 1,300 publicly-owned trees, valued at more than $6 million dollars, located on boulevards, in city parks, and at the cemetery! The tree board has even provided a tree walk around town to enjoy some of these beautiful plants!

As spring arrives, we are beginning to see many flower buds and leaves arrive in the Dillon area! Trees are very valuable to our area. They are able to provide cleaner air, infiltrate storm water runoff, help retain soil, and provide beautiful scenery. According to the National Tree Benefit Calculator a 10-inch diameter Bur Oak tree in Dillon reduces atmospheric carbon by 293 pounds and intercepts 865 gallons of storm water runoff! One tree can truly make a huge difference!

If you're looking to plant a tree on your property, this is the season! There are many considerations to take into account before planting a tree to ensure its survival. Lucky for us, we have the Dillon Tree Board to help out with the process. They recommend planting the tree in a space with high soil moisture, little competition, and protection from sun and wind! Trees like Bur Oak and the common chokecherry seem to do well in our region. Learn more about tree planting in Dillon, the Tree Walk, and their cost share program by visiting their website at www.dillontrees.org.

The monthly conservation district meeting is held the third Thursday of each month at 6:00 pm in the USDA conference room. If you have questions or would like more information contact Jamie Cottom at the Beaverhead Conservation District, 683-3802 or beaverheadcd@gmail.com

Do You Know the Truth... If hell is real, who will go there and how long will they remain?

---We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God as stated in 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is the reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with Biblical teachings are false.--- Since there is no other source of information about hell than the Bible, facts about hell can be ascertained from it alone.

From Matthew 25:41 we learn why hell was created, "Then he (King Jesus) shall say also to them on the left hand, depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared (produced, provided) for the devil and his angels (messengers)."

2 Peter 2:4 reveals that God cast the angels that sinned against Him into hell, "For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down into hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment." (It goes on to state that mankind will also be judged.)

In Psalms 9:17 we are told that, "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." The phrase "forget God" describes who "the wicked" are.

John 3:36 reveals that unbelievers are condemned, "He that believeth on the Son has everlasting life: but he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." John 3:18 states that the only condemning sin is not believing in Jesus Christ, "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." The unbelievers in John and the wicked in Psalm are both descriptions of those who forget God and will thus be cast into hell.

The question as to who is going to hell is answered by these scriptures. It is those who refuse to believe in Jesus Christ as their personal Savior.

Next week: How long do the wicked remain in hell? How long does hell last? Who has the keys to hell?
