Budget Struggles Continue

By: MJ

The budget struggles continue to go on. The council has passed a preliminary budget that can still be changed. The budget process is complicated process to understand for anyone who is not familiar with accounting in some form. That is what makes it so hard for the public and others to follow. There are many guidelines, regulations and laws that detail and complicate the process of spending the dollars collected. Example: The user fees collected for water and sewer go into an "enterprise fund. Enterprise funds are funds collected for water and sewer and can only be spent on water and sewer related expenses. The law does not allow you to take from the "enterprise fund" to pay for the streets. When you look at budget figures you may see certain accounts that have no money and the "enterprise fund" account that appears to have more than they are spending at a given time.

Mayor Klakkan believes in following the laws. He does not believe that you can rob from Peter to pay Paul. When you take money from one account to pay the bills of another account illegally the cost of that transaction will have to be paid back in the future. Example: Glendale Street repair that took over a $1,000,000± out of the street funds. The city took out a bond to pay that debt. Today the city must take money from the street and ally funds every year to make the bond payment thus decreasing the dollars available for repairs of the rest of the streets in town.

When the leaders for the city look at a budget and see what they determine to be extra money in an "Enterprise accounts" they often try to figure out a way to manipulate the process and charge more expenses to the "Enterprise" funds thus increasing the "General fund" account. One way they may take more money out of the enterprise is by misrepresenting salaries & charging a higher percentage of employee wages to Enterprise funds even though those employees are not working for that fund. Robbing from Peter to pay Paul. Sure this can be done however it is illegal. Some would say that is ok if you don't get caught. Problem is when you get caught it may get expensive.

Council: The council alone has the final say on what happens with the budget and how money will be spent. The council is working overtime trying to figure out how to balance a budget where there is not enough money. Possible solutions might be tax hikes that would be on the November ballot, no employee pay increases this year, cutting overtime allowed, cutting other expenses, creating "districts"... The mayor has no say in how money is spent and only presents the figures to council. Relief via the state gas tax increase will help the city next year and following years.

"Meagher of the Sword"

with Humanities Montana Conversation Speaker
Neal Lewing
Aug. 19 @ 2 PM @ Bannack State Park

Thomas Francis Meagher's colorful lifetime of adventure spans two cultures and four continents. Irish rebel leader, escapee from Van Diemen's Land, American orator and statesman, designer of the Irish tricolor flag, distinguished Civil War general, and finally Montana's second acting territorial governor, his untimely disappearance in Ft. Benton remains an unsolved mystery. This is his story, from folklore, relevant music and his own words.

When Lewing's band, the Montana ShamRockers, was commissioned to write songs to honor T.F. Meagher, his research led him all the way to Ireland to create this unforgettable program. So, don't miss this chance to hear the story of one of Montana's most colorful characters by one of Montana's best storytellers and historians Neal Lewing.

Beaverhead Conservation District Tidbit – Conservation Districts

What is a conservation district? Conservation districts are units of local government designed to help citizens conserve their soil, water, and other renewable natural resources. They were organized in the 1930s as a response to the "Dust Bowl." In 1937, President Roosevelt encouraged Montana to adopt legislation enabling the creation of local soil conservation districts. Today, there are almost 3000 conservation districts nationwide, and their conservation activities encompass a wide spectrum of natural resource issues. The State of Montana passed legislation creating its conservation districts in 1939 to provide for local control of natural resource management programs and activities. Montana's 58 conservation districts cover all counties and include more than 70 municipalities included within district boundaries.

Montana's CDs are political subdivisions of the state and are governed by a board of five to seven supervisors elected by local voters in a general election. Your local elected supervisors are Byron Martinell, Carl Malesich, Jerry Meine, Rich Nordquist, Tom Miller, and Harris Wheat. In addition, Beaverhead Conservation District has three associate supervisors- Kelly Rowe, Meg Smith, and Ben Raffety - that volunteer their time and expertise for district business and projects. District supervisor and associate supervisors volunteer vast amounts of time and expertise to the conservation district through attending monthly meetings, performing 310 permitting inspections, and helping out with various conservation district and watershed projects.

Because of the unique characteristics and proven track record of Conservation Districts, they are entrusted by the state with mandated activities such as implementation of the 310 Law, water reservations, stream access portage routes, county planning board participation, and local Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) consultation. Also, Conservation Districts serve as the local point of contact for numerous federal programs. This is all in addition to the long-standing Conservation Districts roles such as educating landowners about sound conservation practices, working closely with local watershed groups, tree planting, and organizing outdoor classroom educational activities for school children.

The monthly district meeting is held the third Thursday of each month at 6:00 pm in the USDA conference room. If you have questions or would like more information contact Jamie Cottom at the Beaverhead Conservation District, 683-3802 or beaverheadcd@gmail.com.

NAMBY-PAMBY FIRE FIGHTING

One of the good things I did in my youth in the early 60s was to fight forest fires here for 3 years with the BLM and Forest service. We didn't have conditions like there is now, most of our fires were small ones, but we did have 3 fires of considerable size.

Back then we didn't leave the fire line until the fire appeared to be under control. I almost got burned up twice but really was never injured at all. If we slept at all it was in sleeping bags, on the fire line.

Today fire fighters only fight blazes during the day. Somebody might get hurt or killed at night. Each evening they come back to a camp, a hot meal, a shower and a good bed in a trailer.

Well, not to offend anybody, but that's not serious fire fighting. What we have now is a catastrophe of immense proportions. It is a war, and it should be fought as one, 24-7.

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Receives Gold Standard of Excellence in Nursing Award

Hurst Ratings and Analytics has recognized the nursing staff at Barrett Hospital & HealthCare with The Hurst Gold Standard of Nursing Award for achieving excellence in quality nursing, which significantly contributes to the hospital's overall patient satisfaction rating.

"Being recognized with The Hurst Gold Standard of Nursing Award is an honor for our nursing staff and hospital," says Ken Westman, CEO. "It demonstrates the level of dedication and commitment to quality patient care that our patients, their families, and the community can expect at Barrett Hospital & HealthCare."

Nurse communication directly impacts outcomes and hospital patient satisfaction ratings. Hurst Ratings and Analytics reviews key quality indicators from HCAHPS surveys specific to hospital nursing services in the categories of nurse communication, staff responsiveness, medication communication, pain management, discharge information, and care transition.

The Hurst Gold Standard of Nursing Award is given to hospital nursing staffs that achieve top tier weighted scores, significantly above the national average on these performance measures.

"Acute Care Nursing is the largest department of the hospital and is responsible for the majority of direct patient care in our hospital," says Carol Kennedy, Chief Clinical Officer. "Around the clock, they not only attend to patients' clinical needs, they are there supporting patients and their families emotionally as well. It is wonderful that nurses are being celebrated and we are grateful to Hurst for honoring our staff with this special award."

"As experienced nurses, we know the hard work and dedication it takes to achieve the highest standards of patient care," says Marlene Hurst, RN MS CCRN ANP-C, founder of Hurst Review Services. "Our congratulations to the nursing staff, and we hope to see your great work continue."
