Ghetto's in Dillon

By: MJ

At the zoning meeting Sept 12th Ms. O'Rouke, a member of the audience, commented that the "intent" of the zoning ordinance was for the boards to review things according to USE and not ZONES. She indicated that the intent of the document was not to created ghetto areas where children had nowhere to play. Note: (The word "intent" means; the act or fact of the design or purpose that is clearly formulated in a plan/document.) Question: Would this be her personal opinion or wordsmithing and not what the document articulates?

To define an area by USE and not ZONE is not clearly defined in the zoning document. The town of Dillon is "zoned" into areas that clearly identify the use and what will be allowed or disallowed. Zones plainly identify the uses of areas in Dillon. The document then breaks down and defines in more detail what will be required via the use.

Mr. Wendland, a local contractor submitted plans to build single family residences off the north end of Railroad Street. He submitted drawings to the zoning board for approval. It appeared that Ms. O'Rourke's remarks about ghetto areas were in reference to the plans submitted by the contractor. The development of this area, an M1 Zone will bring tax dollars into the city and help build revenue as well as provide affordable housing for middle and lower income citizens in the area.

Is the word "ghetto" a word that isolates, divides, or segregates the people into "who's who" or" better than thou" groups? A community that is viable must work together, support each other and leave the negative judgements out of the calculation.

NOTE: A home is a man's castle, a place that you take pride in, a place that supports a loving family, a place that supports the community with revenue and is an important part of a viable community. You cannot build character, courage and a sustainable community by taking away people's initiative and independence.

Time to Get Your Flu Vaccine

Flu shots are now available through the public health department, healthcare providers, and pharmacies. Flu vaccination provides protection against the influenza strains contained in the vaccine that will last for the whole season. Contrary to popular belief, it does not lose its effectiveness if given early. It is important that the vaccine be given before the flu season starts as it takes about 2 weeks before immunity develops. So there is no need to "wait" to get the flu shot.

Flu viruses change from year to year, which means two things. First, you can get the flu more than once during your lifetime. The immunity (natural protection that develops against a disease after a person has had the disease) that is built up from having the flu caused by one flu virus strain doesn't always provide protection against newer strains of the flu. Therefore, a vaccine made against flu viruses circulating last year may not protect against the newer viruses. That is why the flu vaccine is updated to include current viruses every year. Because of these reasons, a vaccine is needed each year. New vaccines now protect against four strains of influenza instead of three. The nasal vaccine is no longer available.

Vaccine may be administered at your healthcare provider, pharmacy, or Beaverhead County Public Health. Public Health is open for immunizations Wednesdays, 9-1 and 2-5. No appointments are needed. Public Health will be holding a drive-thru flu shot clinic on Friday, September 22 from 11-2 on Montana street in the parking lot in front of Womack's Printing. Enjoy the convenience of receiving a flu shot without getting out of your car. Please have a copy of your insurance card ready. The regular vaccine is $25 and high-dose vaccine for seniors is $50.

FWP TO HOST DUCK IDENTIFICATION CLASS

Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks will present a duck identification workshop, tailored to both waterfowl hunters and bird watchers on Wednesday, Oct. 4, in Bozeman. The free class will begin at 6:30 p.m. at FWP's Region 3 headquarters at 1400 S. 19th Ave.

Retired FWP Wildlife Division Assistant Administrator, Jeff Herbert, will present hands-on identification tips and a video. Jim Hansen and Claire Gower representing both Central and Pacific Flyways, and Matt Wemple, Warden Sergeant from R3 enforcement will also be available to explain and answer questions about Montana's waterfowl species and Montana's hunting regulations and seasons.

Montana's duck and goose hunting season opens Sept. 30 following a special two-day youth waterfowl season for hunters ages 10 to 15 on Sept. 23 and 24.

This is a great opportunity for those wishing to introduce anyone young or old to ducks or duck hunting. It's also great for those who enjoy bird watching and would like to be better at identifying duck species on the water or in flight, or for those who ventured out on opening weekend who might want to brush up on correctly identifying.

Everyone will get a free duck identification booklet. If duck hunters have harvested ducks the prior weekend, they should feel free to bring in wing specimens that they would like to have identified.

Fire Hydrant Flushing

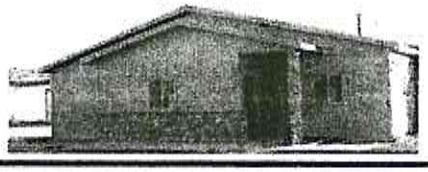

The City of Dillon will begin Fire Hydrant flushing beginning September 25th, 2017. The purpose of the flushing is to remove sediment and impurities such as rust and mineral deposits that build up over time and accumulate on the wall of the pipe. It is also done to make sure that our hydrants are working correctly in case of an emergency such as a fire.

When the city crews are flushing in your area you may find that your water is a rusty color. If this happens please open an outside spigot or a cold water valve in your bathtub and run the water until it becomes clear again.

We will be starting in the east side of Dillon and continue to work through our community.

Thank you for your cooperation and please feel free to call City Hall if you have any questions at 683-4245.

Attorney General Fox Releases Landmark Report on Substance Abuse in Montana

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox released a landmark report Tuesday that provides a comprehensive outline of what the State of Montana currently does to address substance abuse through State programs. The report, part of his office's Aid Montana: Addressing the Impact of Drugs initiative, will serve as an important document for mapping reforms to State programs that address substance abuse.

Speaking to the report, Attorney General Fox said, "Addressing the substance abuse epidemic plaguing our state must be a top priority for policymakers at all levels of government. But before we can move forward in the right direction, we need to know where we are right now. We must survey the lay of the land, and that's precisely what this report does."

In addition to providing a compilation of program summaries, the report also includes valuable statistical information demonstrating the scope of substance abuse in Montana in comparison to other states in the region, and the nation as a whole. Here are a few statistics contained in the report:

- Since 1980, the drug offense rate in Montana has increased 559 percent.
- Methamphetamine violations are up over 500 percent in the past 5 years.
- From 2010 to 2014, the total charges in Montana for ER and hospital visits with a primary or secondary diagnosis of substance abuse totaled $796 million.
- Heroin violations have increased 1557 percent from 2010 to 2015.

Attorney General Fox went on to say, "Our report will allow us to better identify how state resources are used to target substance abuse. From there, we will identify gaps, inefficiencies, what works and what doesn't work, and have a more complete understanding of how the State of Montana can better align efforts to enhance necessary communication between agencies, and improve outcomes for those suffering with addiction."

Over the next 15 months, Attorney General Fox will work with stakeholders to develop a strategic plan to comprehensively address substance abuse, including alcohol and prescription drug use, in Montana. The plan will include policy recommendations to the 2019 Montana Legislature, as well as recommendations to agencies that can be achieved through existing authority and resources.

Letter to the Editor

Last week our monthly VFW meeting was addressed by a guest speaker. Our gathering of, mostly old, combat veterans received a presentation from Ms Kaylan Minor.

As a local attorney, she is running for dillon city Court Judge in the November 7th election. Kaylan's education and experience are impressive as well as her presentation. Because of time table requirements her name will not appear on the ballot. Therefore, Mr. Minor is seeking "write-in" votes. I encourage my fellow Dillon citizens to support her in this endeavor. "Write In".

MONTANA TECH AND ROCKY MOUNTAIN COLLEGE VOLLEYBALL PLAYERS EARN PLAYER OF THE WEEK AWARDS

Student-athletes from Montana Tech and Rocky Mountain College were named the Frontier Conference Volleyball Players of the Week.

Attacker of the Week: Masha Korol, Montana Tech, is a 6-foot-2 junior outside hitter from Ukrainka, Ukraine. The Orediggers opened Frontier Conference play with two wins.

Montana Tech won at Carroll College 3-2 and at home, swept Lewis-Clark State 3-0. Korol averaged 3.25 kills per set with a .358 hitting percentage. Also nominated and listed in alphabetical order: Brielle Bumgarner of Carroll College, Hailey Copinga of Rocky Mountain College, Cassie Krueger of MSU-Northern and Kelsey Potter of Montana Western.

Defender of the Week: Sabrina Hopcroft, Montana Tech, is a 5-foot-7 sophomore defensive specialist from Florence, Mont. The Orediggers opened Frontier Conference play with two wins. Montana Tech won at Carroll College 3-2 and at home, swept Lewis- Clark State 3-0. Hopcroft averaged six digs per set including a season high of 37 against Carroll. Also nominated and listed in alphabetical order: Hannah Amtmann of MSUNorthern, Ayla Carpenter of Carroll College, Holland Fergurson of Rocky Mountain College, Dylan Fowler of Montana Western and Emily Stoker of Providence.

Setter of the Week: Natalie Hilderman, Rocky Mountain College, is a 6-foot-1, freshman setter from Red Lodge, Mont. Rocky opened conference action with home wins over MSU-Northern and Providence, both 3-0 sweeps. The Bears lost to Alaska- Anchorage 1-3 in a non-conference match. Hilderman averaged 11.20 assists and 2.91 digs per set. Also nominated, and listed in alphabetical order: Tori Chelini of Montana Tech, McKenna Fink of Montana Western, Shania Neubauer of MSU-Northern and Rayna Pilgeram of Carroll College.
