3HATTRIO

The Old Depot Theater is proud to bring the 3HATTRIO to the Old Depot Theater on Thursday, October 12th at 7:00. This trio of musicians brings to the stage innovative music "that reflects the magical landscape of the American Desert", writes Western poet, Paul Zarzyski. "This is music that would have reverently spoken to bygone western-hat-donners from Gene Autry to Georgia O'Keefe to Edward Abbey."

Hal Cannon sings, plays banjo and guitar and writes many of the 3hattrio songs. He's been a practicing musician most of his life but also takes pride in his life as a folklorist, radio producer and scholar of cowboy lore. Greg Istock plays acoustic bass and foot percussion. He has a Caribbean music background and is an active visual artist. Eli Wrankle is a classically trained violinist and a student at Southern Utah University. He comes from a family of artists and joined the group when he was fifteen. Now twenty, he is the old soul of the group.

3hattrio made their European debut at Celtic Connections in 2017 to outstanding reviews. This Glasgow Scotland festival is the largest winter music festival in the world. They have been featured at the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering and the Moab Folk Festival, but mostly they play at home with their dogs and the occasional lizard, spider or Red Tailed Hawk.

"It will be so exciting to hear the 3hattrio in the historic and intimate Old Depot Theater," said Jean James, Deputy Director of the Beaverhead County Museum. Tickets at $10 per person may be purchased at the museum, and reservations made by calling 683-5027. Remaining tickets will be sold at the door.

MONTANA WESTERN BULLDOGS SHINE AT HOME RODEO

The Montana Western Rodeo Team closed out the fall portion of their schedule with a strong performance at the Harry Andrus Arena Sep. 29-Oct. 1, 2017.

After two performances and a long day of slack, 31 Bulldogs found themselves in the short-go. The Bulldogs brought home three buckles and two all-around champions.

Both the Men's and the Women's finished second. The men maintained their third-place spot in the Big Sky Region standings, sitting 661 points behind second place Northwest College. The women stayed in second place, 318.5 points behind Montana State University.

In the roughstock, Senior Tristan Hansen wowed the home crowd in the bareback to win with a score of 152. Teammate Talon Schneiter took third. Brody Smith, Ruger Piva, Cole Snider, and Troy Kirkpatrick also covered their rides. Hansen is currently atop the standings with 637.5 points.

In the bull riding, junior Connor Murnion took home the buckle with a score of 163. Riley Savage placed fifth with a 68. Murnion is third in the region while his younger brother Kelly is fourth.

In the timed events, Garrett Mussman took third in the tie-down roping with a time of 27.6.
Matt and Lawrence Lesofski took fourth in the team roping with a time of 18.9.

In the barrel racing, Jaylee Stimpson was third with a time of 32.39. Stimpson sits third in the region and teammate Callie Wollenburg is just a few points ahead in second.

Kelsy Robinson finished second in the breakaway with a time of 8.3 on two, and teammate Tori Lewis was

THE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA WESTERN ANNOUNCES LIVING HISTORY EVENT

The University of Montana Western's Environmental Sciences department has announced "The Birch Creek Civilian Conservation Corps Camp: A Living History" event for Sunday, Oct. 15, 2017 from 1-3 p.m. at the Birch Creek Center. This event will feature students from Montana Western's Environmental Interpretation course recreating a working Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) Camp based on those that operated from 1933-1942 as part of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. The Birch Creek Center is one of the best preserved CCC camps in the nation, and will serve as an authentic environment for the students to present their research.

The students in the course, who have been heavily researching and preparing for the event, will be recreating the roles and sharing the history of several positions in the camp at the time. Their roles include the CCC working "boys," the camp military officer and surgeon, and the local unemployed men who were referred to as "lems" who served as local guides to teach the boys how to work in the field performing tasks including building roads and bridges, telephone lines, constructing masonry work, and planting trees. Generally, women were not present at the CCC camps, so the female students in the course will be sharing their reasons for visiting the camp for the day, including the delivery of supplies.

The event is free & open to the public, and no reservations are required. Light refreshments served, and guests should dress appropriately as the event will take place rain, shine, or blizzard. Guests are asked to please not bring dogs to the event.

For more information, please contact Environmental Sciences professor Linda Lyon by calling (406) 683-7075.

Montana Awarded Supplemental Grant to Continue Testing, Tracking Unsubmitted Sex Assault Kits

Attorney General Tim Fox announced that Montana has been awarded a supplemental federal grant for work on testing and tracking unsubmitted sex-assault evidence kits across the state.

At the request of Attorney General Fox's Sexual Assault Evidence Task Force, the Montana Board of Crime Control submitted an application to the federal Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) for a supplemental National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative (SAKI) Competitive Grant, requesting $917,740.

"We want sex assault victims to have full confidence in Montana's criminal justice system," said Attorney General Tim Fox.

In addition to utilizing the additional $917,740 for sex assault kit storage and testing, the Montana Department of Justice anticipates the grant money will be used for modifications to its sexual assault kit tracking system and purchasing sex assault kits for the Montana Forensic Rape Examination Payment Program.

The work of the SAKI team, which is part of the Montana Department of Justice's Division of Criminal Investigation, will now be extended for an additional year through September 30, 2020, thanks to the supplemental grant funds.

At a meeting of his Sexual Assault Evidence Task Force in Helena, Attorney General Fox praised its members as well as the SAKI team for the progress being made on moving Montana's untested sex assault kits forward for testing. Currently, 225 of the 1,140 untested kits have been sent to a contracted lab for processing.

Last fall, Montana received a $2 million grant from the BJA. The National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative grant provides an opportunity for Montana to inventory, test, and track unsubmitted sexual assault kits, examine the issues surrounding why the kits were not submitted, and facilitate a development of victim-centered policies and procedures in responding to sexual assaults and eliminating unsubmitted kits. At that same time, Montana also received a federal National Institute of Justice grant for nearly $285,000 to build a database to help track the kits.

In December 2015, the Attorney General's Office contacted every county sheriff and city police chief in Montana asking for a census of unsubmitted kits in their possession. They were asked to provide the total number of unsubmitted kits, the date of each kit, and general reasons why each kit was not submitted to the state crime laboratory.

Free Lunch, Great Speaker 10/10/17

Jesse Laslovich, with SCL Health and St. James Hospital in Butte, will speak about emergency air transports during a medical crisis. This is a topic near and dear to Mr. Laslovich's heart and he will give us the lay of the land, so to speak, on medical air transports and how you can avoid financial bankruptcy. Our speaker is known to be knowledgeable, insightful, and entertaining. Come and enjoy a light lunch with us, fellowship and the presentation starting at 11:30 a.m. Please feel welcomed to join us for this talk which is sponsored by the Senior Lunch and Learn at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday, October 10th at 11:30 a.m. You'll enjoy a variety of homemade soups, bread, and desserts. We meet downstairs in Fellowship Hall (corner of Pacific and Glendale, in Dillon. Questions call 683-2655 or Chris 865-0722). 10/5-9 PD
