RETURN PERFORMANCE

The Greg Blake Trio is coming back to the Old Depot Theatre in Dillon, Montana, on Friday, November 3rd at 7:00 PM. They had such a good time performing at the Old Depot Theatre to a very enthusiastic audience in late June of this year, that they offered to come back again. For this concert, Greg Blake and Isaac Callender will be joined on stage by Ellie Hakkenson.

Headliner, Greg Blake was born in southern West Virginia and from there acquired his love for bluegrass and mountain-flavored music. He was selected Bluegrass Guitar Performer of the year 5 years in a row by the Society for the Preservation of Bluegrass Music in America. Greg now lives in Conifer, CO. It is there he founded the Colorado-based group, Mountain Holler, before joining Jeff Scroggins and Colorado in 2011. When Blake sings, you can hear a voice that connects to the great old generations of mountain singers and that eerily powerful high tenor cry that inspires traditional bluegrass. Isaac Callender had the opportunity to learn and tour with Dick and Lisa Barrett as a fiddle student and guitarist. In 2006, Callender joined recording artist April Verch on tour and recorded on her album "Steal the Blue". He currently lives in Sand Coulee, MT while continuing to teach, write and perform with various other local and international groups. He recently taught a weekend workshop for the Dillon Junior Fiddlers. Hakkenson plays bluegrass fiddle and classical violin. She grew up performing with her family. Both Hakkenson and Callender play for Jeff Scroggins and Colorado where Hakkenson is currently the fiddler and vocalist. She recently won the 2016 Rockygrass Fiddle contest.

The Dillon junior Fiddlers will open the concert. Other sponsors are Atomic 79 and the Beaverhead County Museum. Tickets are available at $10 at the Knock About and the Beaverhead County Museum. For reservations and information, call 406-683-5027.

Attorney General Fox Releases Statement on Ninth Circuit Decision Upholding Montana's Contribution Limits

Limits Established by Citizen Initiative in 1994

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox released the following statement Monday on the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' ruling upholding his office's defense of Montana's contribution limits in Lair v. Motl:

"Today's ruling is a win for democracy in Montana.
The voters of Montana approved the current contribution limits, and I'm proud of the hard work my team put in to defend the will of the people."

Montana's contribution limits were passed by voters in 1994, through a citizen initiative. The Lair case challenging the contribution limits has been ongoing since 2011.

DESPITE HIGH WINDS AND SOME RAIN, HUNTERS VENTURE OUT FOR OPENER

Hunters took to the field in southwest Montana in great numbers over the opening weekend of the general season for deer and elk. Check stations from around the region had hunters reporting muddy and tough conditions in some places due to rain, and high winds throughout most of the weekend. A total of 3556 hunters were checked by staff and volunteers in Region 3.

The busiest check station was the Cameron station in the Madison valley. There, staff and volunteers met with 691 hunters, the highest number of hunters on recent record. Hunter success was below the recent average for elk in the Madison. However, at the Gallatin check station, 16 elk were checked which is above the recent average.

Large numbers of hunters were also seen at the Alder, Divide and Silver City (Helena area) check stations.

Success varied, but overall harvest was promising across the region, with deer and elk success rates ranging from 5.2 percent at Silver City to 19.4 percent at Livingston.

Check stations also saw other species like bighorn sheep, antelope, moose, and one wolf.

A closer look at the first weekend's data can be found in the attached data (R3 Weekend 1).

The two check stations in Park County (Livingston and Gardiner) were run this year primarily to gather samples for Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD). They also gathered hunter and harvest data. In fact, this is the first time the Gardiner check station has been open during the general rifle season. It used to only operate during the Gardiner Late Hunt which ended after the 2009 season. Samples were taken from the five mule deer checked in Gardiner as well as the four mule deer that came through the Livingston station to test for CWD.

The only documented cases of CWD in Montana were in captive elk at a game farm in Philipsburg in 1999; however, CWD has been detected in free-ranging populations in 21 other states and two Canadian provinces – the closest case being just seven miles from the south-central Montana border in Wyoming. That is why Fish, Wildlife and Parks is ramping up surveillance and prioritizing south-central Montana for sampling.

Is your propane cylinder

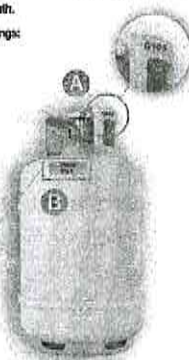

SAFE?

Propane cylinders must be periodically requalified to be safe for use*. Do not use cylinders that have not been requalified because you risk property damage, severe injuries, or death.

To see if your cylinder is okay to use, look for these markings:

(A) Manufacturing Date:
 Cylinders must be requalified within 12 years of manufacture (in this illustration by May 2017).

(B) Requalification Date:
 If the cylinder is older than 12 years, look for a "requalification date".

Type of Inspection Cylinder must be requalified within 5 years

V123456 0714 E

Requalified Month/Year requalified

This illustration indicates a visual inspection and must be requalified within 5 years or by July 2018.

Other possible requalification markings:

7/14

No expiration date means the cylinder must be requalified within 12 years (by July 2028 in this example).

7/14S

S means the cylinder must be requalified within 7 years (by July 2021 in this example).

7/14E

E means the cylinder must be requalified within 5 years (by July 2018 in this example).

*A list of US DOT approved requalifiers and their ID number (RIR) is available on the PHSA website: <http://www.phsa.gov>

For more information, contact the Hazmat Info Center: 1-800-487-4922

Rocky Mountain Supply is happy to offer propane cylinder requalification FREE of charge. Please make sure your propane cylinders are empty and plan a little extra time for the inspection process. We are unable to fill cylinders that are out of date until they have been requalified.
