No Means No

Raging Moderate by Will Durst

An avalanche of revelations concerning public figures engaging in various sexual assaults has tumbled down upon our heads, and the airwaves are consumed with accusations, recriminations, equivocations and ethical gyrations, not to mention the threat of career annihilations. And it couldn't happen to a more deserving aggregation of guys.

Since early October, after numerous women came forward to accuse Hollywood producer Harvey Weinstein of sexually abusive behavior, huge numbers of high-profile males have faced similar charges and either been fired, allowed to resign, lost committee leadership positions, had projects canceled, entered rehab, become incapable of speech or are favorites to win the vacant U.S. Senate seat in Alabama.

We're not just talking politicians, but judges and talk show hosts and actors and comedians and producers and professors and presidents and professional athletes and coaches and chefs and reporters and editors and publishers and venture capitalists and rental clowns. We haven't even scratched the clergy, which many of them would most assuredly enjoy.

Men Behaving Badly is a tale as old as dogs chasing cats, a concept even more apropos when you consider that most men are horndogs to begin with. It's a miracle women have survived considering the position of vulnerability various quirks of nature foisted upon them: childbirth, being 10 percent smaller than male counterparts and a shorter fertility period. Offset by living longer and a tendency to mature more quickly and some might argue owning a monopoly on that particular aspect.

Every single woman you've ever met, including your sister, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, (if you met her) has been the unwelcome recipient of inappropriate touching and crude groping and hugs that go on much too long and clumsy pawing and cheek kisses that inexplicably involve wetness and all sorts of leers and ogles and catcalls and having to constantly worry that the provocative or unprovocative clothing they are wearing might provoke the unwarranted attention of some deranged carbon unit with y-chromosome poisoning who thinks he is god's gift to women. Which admittedly is many of us. Okay. Most. All?

And that categorically has to include grabbing someone by the private parts and the fact we have a leader who bragged about that sort of activity is as helpful as wiring a park bench to a chandelier. That's not locker room banter, that's an oafish toad gloating about his clueless entitlement and disregard for decency.

It is way past the point that we men get hip to the simple fact that no means "no". It doesn't mean, "yes, please." It doesn't mean, "maybe." It doesn't mean, "It's getting hot in here, so take off all my clothes."

And it certainly doesn't mean "You big lug, you're so cute when you're angry and thank god you know what I want more than I do and I love it when your face turns that blotchy tomato color." Because, trust us, nobody likes that blotchy tomato color.

Not only does no mean "no", it also means "don't." Don't threaten, don't harass, don't stand close enough to smell your aftershave and don't make sly innuendoes, which usually aren't very sly or innuendoish. This is the second decade of the 20th Century. Time to lose the Middle Ages werewolf attitude and start walking and acting upright. Make your great-grandmother proud.

Press Release

Beaverhead County Receives Department of Justice Community Policing Grant to help in hiring an additional Deputy Sheriff

On 11/28/2017, Beaverhead County accepted a grant award from the U.S. Department of Justice through its Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Hiring Program of $125,000.00. The grant funds will be used with a county match to hire an additional deputy sheriff position to bring the total patrol force number to eight (8) full time officers, including the Sheriff and Undersheriff. Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office is one of five (5) agencies in Montana to receive this grant along with 179 other agencies nationwide.

The addition deputy position will allow the Sheriff's Office the ability to provide more coverage throughout the county and positive interaction with the several small towns and communities. The goal will be to help the Sheriff's Office address some of the following issues associated with the rural nature of Beaverhead County: Security of the rural schools; drug trafficking; methamphetamine and opioid abuse and its community impact; and mental health concerns unique to rural and isolated areas.

The grants award was a result of successful collaboration between the Sheriff, County Commission and the County Attorney.

More information may be found at the Beaverhead County Website, Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office Facebook page, or US Department of Justice website.

Forest Service map prices set to increase January 1 for first time in 10 years

For the first time in nearly a decade, increasing costs of production, printing, and distribution are driving the need for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's U.S. Forest Service to increase the price of its maps. Prices of USFS paper and plastic coated maps will increase to $14 on Monday, Jan. 1, 2018.

The Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest is covered with three maps: north, central, and south. Maps may be purchased at the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest offices in Dillon, Butte, Wisdom, Philipsburg, and Ennis.

The Forest Service continually updates its maps and looks for ways to enhance maps. The Forest Service expects to shorten the revision cycle as cartographers continue to apply new digital technology to the map revision process.

Digital maps for mobile applications can be downloaded here: <http://www.avenza.com/pdf-maps/store>. Digital maps cost $4.99 per side.

There are three ways to order maps from the National Forest Map Store (NFMS):

1. Online: www.NationalForestStore.com
2. By phone: (406) 329-3024
3. By US Mail: USDA Forest Service, National Forest Store, P.O. Box 7669, Missoula, MT 59807.

Letter to the Editor

LAKNAR LANE, IS THERE A PLAN FOR REPAIRS?

Beaverhead County Commissioners do you have a plan to pave Laknar Lane? Since you proposed the Rural Improvement District (RIP) for reconstructing Laknar Lane, and the people overwhelming opposed that, sections of Blacktail Road and Carrigan Lane were paved and Argenta and Overland Roads were paved. A Rural Improvement District would have raised the taxes on every property owner served by Laknar Lane and placed a lien on the property that a buyer would have to agree to assume, or the seller would have to pay off. There are more properties served by Laknar Lane than are served by Blacktail Road and Carrigan Lane combined. The more homes served by a road, the more traffic. ADT, average daily traffic, is a criteria used to prioritize road construction projects. Laknar Lane is an arterial class county road. Webster and Schuler Roads are collector class county roads. Counties have jurisdiction, maintenance and reconstruction responsibilities for arterial and collector roads. There is considerable commercial, heavy truck traffic, on Laknar Lane. Heavy truck traffic does most of the damage to roads. It was not fair to ask the property owners to pay for the reconstruction of Laknar Lane. The $17,000 paid for the engineering study should have been used for repair work on the road. There are more properties in the area served by Laknar Lane than any other area in the county. Therefore there are more taxes paid and more revenues generated by this area, than any other area in the county. Laknar Lane is deteriorating. This road condition is causing auto wear and tear and could deteriorate to an unsafe condition. Usually counties have road capital investment plans to accomplish needed road construction work.

Does Beaverhead County have a road capital investment plan? And by the way, I heard that the commissioners have requested a study to list all the roads in the county and determine, which are county roads, and which are public roads. Sounds to me that this could be used to justify not maintaining roads that are not a county road. That means even less service for our taxes.

Montanans May Now Seek Compensation from Western Union Fund for Fraud Victims

Montanans who were deceived into sending payments to scammers using Western Union's wire transfer service may now apply for compensation from a $586 million fund administered by the federal Department of Justice. This fund is related to a multi-state settlement with Montana Attorney General Tim Fox and 49 other states, the District of Columbia, and Western Union that was first announced in January. Montanans may be eligible to receive compensation if they were a victim of a fraud-induced transfer using Western Union between January 1, 2004 and January 19, 2017.

Montanans who reported to Western Union or to the Federal Trade Commission that they had been the victim of a scam using Western Union may receive a claim form in the mail from the claims administrator, Gilardi & Co., in the days ahead. The form will contain a claim ID and PIN number, as well as instructions explaining how consumers may file their claim to receive compensation. If you do not receive a claim form in the mail, but believe you may have an eligible claim, visit <http://www.westernunionremission.com> or www.FTC.gov/WU. Consumers may also call 1-844-319-2124 for more information on how to file a claim.

"Many different types of scams were carried out over several years by con artists who instructed their victims to send funds via Western Union. These dishonest schemes included romance scams, fake sweepstakes, and grandparent scams. Needless to say, these consumers never received what they were promised after they wired money to the scammers," said Attorney General Tim Fox. "I encourage all Montanans who may be eligible for a refund to file a claim by the deadline and to contact my Office of Consumer Protection if they have any problems doing so," Attorney General Fox added.

All completed claim forms must be mailed back to the settlement administrator by February 12, 2018. Consumers with concerns can call the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection at 1-800-481-6896 or (406) 444-4500, or email contactocp@mt.gov.
