BIGHORN AND MOUNTAIN GOAT RESEARCH SET FOR MADISON & GALLATIN RANGES PUBLIC ASKED TO AVOID CAPTURE AREAS

Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks' will be conducting research within the Custer Gallatin National Forest in the Madison and Gallatin Ranges to assess the health of bighorn sheep and mountain goat herds in the area.

The operation, set to occur between now and March 1, 2018, will involve the capture of 30 bighorns and 30 mountain goats using a specially trained helicopter crew and FWP staff.

Once captured, staff will gather health information – checking for respiratory health, pregnancy, exposure to disease, and body condition. GPS collars will also be deployed to help get a better picture of herd health and movement throughout the year.

Each capture operation will take two to five days and the timing depends greatly on weather conditions.

The US Forest Service and FWP urge the public not to approach the capture area, the helicopter, or wildlife, for individual safety, the safety of the capture crew, and the safety of the animals.

Further questions about the operation should be directed to the FWP Wildlife Lab at (406) 994-6357 or the FWP Region 3 Headquarters at 406-994-4042.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Turner

If I or any other Conservative had spent 8 years bashing your do nothing for America President as you and other local living Liberals and Radio Personalities have spent bashing President Trump.

I would not have been labeled a man with an opinion, but rather a bigot, a racist and any other 10 dollar word you over-educated Liberals could hang on me!

Isn't it about time to give it a rest and let President Trump play his hand for awhile?

Just a man with an Opinion.

Ted Rittenbur

P.S. Proud to be with your 70%

A Temporary Refuge

For 14 years, Lee Spencer and his dog Sis camped next to a deep pool on a tributary of the North Umpqua River protecting wild summer steelhead from poachers. Join us as he recounts some of their experiences, as told in his new book, A Temporary Refuge. We'll be serving light refreshments and beverages as Lee regales us with stories and detailed observations. Signed copies of A Temporary Refuge will be available for purchase. Select readings will be read by Craig Mathews, a master fly-fisher, and co-founder of 1% for the Planet. Patagonia Outlet doors open at 7pm, Event 7:30PM Wednesday, January 31st

BOA Annual Banquet

The BOA is having their annual banquet/auction/fund raiser on Feb. 3rd, at the Dillon Elks Lodge. This is our only fund raiser of each year, and a necessity for our ongoing projects. Besides the kid's fish pond and sponsoring the Kid's Fish Derby, including the never ending battle of keeping our public lands open to multiple use.
