MONTANA WESTERN PROFESSOR RECEIVES EARLY CAREER PRIZE FOR HISTORICAL ESSAY

"Atlantic Studies" has awarded Assistant Professor Erin Zavitz with their Early Career Prize for her essay
"Revolutionary Narrations:
Early Haitian Historiography
and the Challenge of Writing Counter-history."

The article, published in the "Atlantic Studies: Global Currents" journal, "examines a selection of understudied nineteenth-century Haitian texts to illuminate how Haitians tensely narrated their country's foundational event and negotiated the challenge of constructing the first black nation-state in the Americas."

The prize is awarded to recent Ph.D. graduates who are early into their careers as professors.

On winning the award, Zavitz said "I didn't expect to get it, so it was a nice and exciting prize. This is the third year that the journal has done it."

"Revolutionary Narrations" is a selection from a book currently being working on by Zavitz.

"The book will be about Haiti. The essay is a reduced section of two chapters. The process of getting the book published will take several years," Zavitz said.

Zavitz is very interested in research focusing on Haiti.
Last year, she was able to allocate funds from The British Library's Endangered Archives Programme to preserve a rare collection of Haitian newspapers.

"We're waiting to get hard drives back with the digital [newspaper] files on them. The next step is to catalogue those, and then, hopefully, we can get more grant funding for creating a web page or a digital exhibit to make the newspapers more accessible to people who want to use them," she said.

Zavitz is hopeful that the prize will help her with future efforts to preserve history.

"It really gets your scholarship out there, so people pay attention. People know you're doing research that's particularly noteworthy and innovative. It's also really good exposure for Montana Western. The other two winners are from Denmark and Switzerland, so it's a very international journal," Zavitz said.

35th Annual Dillon Fiddle Contest
 The 35th Annual Dillon Fiddle Contest is once again the headliner for Presidents Day Weekend in Dillon, MT, on Saturday and Sunday, February 17th and 18th. In addition to the contest that begins both days at 9:00 a.m., the Dillon Junior Fiddlers will host a Concert and Variety Show on Saturday night at 7:00 p.m. at the Old Depot Theatre. Contestants are expected from all over Montana and surrounding states and those that come in on Friday night are invited to a jam session at Los Koritas between 6 and 8 p.m. Contest tickets are available at The Bookstore, Sweetwater Coffee, Beacon Business Center, and Patagonia, as well as any Dillon Junior Fiddler for $10 each. Contest tickets double as a chance for a variety of door prizes, although purchasers do not need to be present to win. Tickets for the Saturday night Concert and Variety Show are available at the door for $5 each, with the doors opening at 6:30.

Judging this year's contest are Tim Hodgson and Jessie Maw, both extraordinary fiddlers well qualified to decide who will take home trophies. Hodgson is no stranger to the Dillon Fiddle Contest, having competed in the very first competition as a teenager. From Victor, ID, he has been playing fiddle over 40 years and has competed in and judged hundreds of contests over that time. He is a 2-time National Men's Fiddle Champion and a 7-time Idaho State Fiddle Champion. Tim just finished his 29th year fiddling and singing with the Bar J Wranglers from Jackson Hole, WY. Tim has 4 kids and was recently made a first-time grandpa! Jessie Maw is also not a stranger to the contest, having played fiddle since he was 5 years old and competing early on at the Dillon Contest. He has won numerous national Championships and is in demand as a performer and instructor. Jesse has performed with Mark O'Connor, Jerry Douglas, Brent Mason, and Gonzalo Bergara, to name a few.

The Dillon Fiddle Contest is a fundraiser for the Dillon Junior Fiddlers who hope to send as many fiddlers as possible to the Montana Fiddle Camp in Monarch, MT, this June. It is also an opportunity to treat the group members to an opportunity to compete against a variety of out-of-area fiddlers and to share tunes with other competitors. The contest divisions are arranged by age for the most part. Adult fiddlers play an initial round and then the top eight from that round go on to compete in the Championship Division with remaining fiddlers comprising the Adult Division. There will be a silent auction during the contest and the Dillon Junior Fiddlers will open the Concert Saturday night. For more information or tickets call 406-660-2304 or 406-683-9747.

Federal Judge Upholds Montana's Robocall Prohibition Attorney General Fox successfully defends the law

A Federal District Court Judge upheld the constitutionality of Montana's prohibition on automated political phone calls (robocalls). In the case of Victory Processing LLC. vs. Montana, Judge Charles Lovell of Helena ruled "...Montana's robocall statute is a constitutionally permissible content-based regulation of speech."

Attorney General Tim Fox, whose office defended the Montana law, applauded the ruling. "Through their representatives in the legislature, the people of Montana have made clear they don't want robocalls in our state," Fox said. "This ruling upholds the will of the people, and I'm proud of my team for successfully defending the law."

In his ruling, Judge Lovell stated, "The governmental interest advanced by the statute is the compelling interest in protecting residential privacy and tranquility. The Montana statute is narrowly tailored to that government interest by preserving control and choice for the householder and leaving ample alternative (including all of the more traditional) channels of communication for the protected political speech."

Judge Lovell emphasized the individual property and privacy protections established in Montana's law, stating, "In the context of robocalls, Montana's statutory restrictions on robocalls are intended to preserve, not diminish, the private property owner's control over his or her property and personal choices regarding receipt of communications, both of which are integral elements of residential privacy."

The challenge to Montana's law was filed in February 2017 by Victory Processing LLC., a political consulting firm from Michigan.

Rocky Continues to Rise with Move to No. 12 in NAIA Poll

The Rocky Mountain College women's basketball team made another jump to No. 12 in the NAIA Division I Women's Basketball Coaches' Top 25 Poll.

With the 138 points earned in this edition of the poll, Rocky rose three positions from the No. 15 ranking they held in the poll released on January 30. This week's ranking establishes a new school record for highest ranking and it's the fourth straight poll the Battlin' Bears have climbed towards the top.

Rocky won its 20th game of the season last Saturday by coming from behind to defeat Montana Tech, 71-68, in overtime. The Battlin' Bears are guaranteed their first winning season since the 2011-12 campaign. They currently sit tied for second-place in the Frontier Conference Montana Western and just one game behind Carroll for the top spot with four games to play.

RED HAT SOCIETY NEWS

The Red Hat Belles held their February activity at the Pizza Hut on Tuesday, February 13th: Fourteen ladies attended including Amy Scott, who came as Diana Carroll's guest.

The event was co-hosted by "Pete" Tarleton and Glenda Olsen. Mardi Gras and Valentine's Day were both celebrated. Everyone received a Mardi Gras necklace to take home and favors included a variety of candies usually given on Valentine's Day.

Alyce Wassail gave her report on the Dillon Backpack Program. Door prizes of Pizza Hut gift cards inside a Valentine were awarded to Sydney Tiedgen and Louise Volkening. Congratulations.

Sydney and Mary Staples have volunteered to co-host in March. Thank you. A big thank you to the Pizza Hut. Your buffet was the perfect place to celebrate Mardi Gras; also known as "Fat Tuesday". More than a couple of our ladies were seen going back to the salad bar or getting more pizza. Very nice. A special thank you to "Pete" and Glenda for organizing a fun and relaxed social event.
