Southwest A Basketball Tournament

Dillon Boys finished third at the Southwest A tournament this weekend. They will advance to the Western A Divisionals in Butte at the Civic Center. The games will take place Thursday - Saturday this week. The Dillon girls also advanced to the Western A tournament.

Dillon boys lost their first game to the Hamilton Broncos Friday night 36 to 48. Dillon struggled from the beginning in a low scoring game and at half time the score was 17 to 25 Hamilton.

The Beavers then played Saturday morning for a loser - out game. Cody King put up 18 points, Brad Rakich got 12 more and the Beavers made it past Stevensville 60 to 54 to take third place. Justice Peterson added 10 points for his team. Dillon's Justice Peterson scored 18 points and Coby King put up 9 in the game against Frenchtown that Dillon squeaked out the win 43 to 41. Dillon was ahead in that game at halftime 29 - 16. The Beavers only put up 4 points in that 3rd quarter against the Broncos defense.

ELK BRUCELLOSIS SURVEILLANCE OPERATIONS SET FOR TENDOYS AND MADISON VALLEY

As part of its multi-year Targeted Elk Brucellosis Surveillance Project, in the coming weeks Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks is planning elk capture operations in both the Tendoy Mountains and Lima Peaks southwest of Dillon and on the eastern side of the Madison Valley.

In the Tendoy and Lima Peaks, up to 100 female elk will be captured with the aid of a helicopter. Elk will be sampled and tested for brucellosis and thirty of the animals will be fitted with radio collars to track their movement for one year. Processing of the elk will occur on site and the animals will be released as quickly and safely as possible.

There are similar plans for the Madison where the capture operations plan for 40 female elk from the Bear Creek Wildlife Management Area and from between Indian Creek and Wolf Creek. Again, all the elk will be tested for brucellosis and each animal will be fitted with a radio collar to track its movement for up to three years.

The goal of these operations is to evaluate the presence and understand the movement of brucellosis in Montana's elk populations. The research will also help FWP understand the overlap between elk and livestock on the landscape.

In the case of the Madison, researchers will also be looking to evaluate the influence of management actions on elk distribution.

Brucellosis is a bacterial disease that infects cattle, bison and elk and can result in abortion or the birth of weak calves. The disease is primarily transmitted through contact with infected birth tissues and fluids.

Animals that test positive for brucellosis exposure do not necessarily carry or spread the disease, but at one time were exposed to brucellosis and have developed antibodies that can be measured with blood tests.

This project is a joint effort with the Montana Department of Livestock with support from the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation.

FWP's research lead on the project, Dr. Kelly Proffitt said, "Important on-the-ground work of this nature couldn't happen without these partnerships." Dr. Eric Liska, the brucellosis program veterinarian with the Montana Department of Livestock, said, "The Department of Livestock appreciates the partnership with FWP and the information and knowledge gained through this collaboration."

FWP asks the public to avoid the capture area for their personal safety as well as that of the staff and the animals.

More information about brucellosis and the Targeted Elk Brucellosis Surveillance project can be found online at <http://fwp.mt.gov/fishAndWildlife/diseasesAndResearch/healthPrograms/brucellosis/>.

Attorney General Fox Urging Congress to Help Protect Employees from Sexual Harassment

Attorney General Tim Fox joined a bipartisan coalition of 56 states and territories urging Congress to end secret, forced arbitration in cases of workplace sexual harassment. Too often, employees are required to sign employment contracts containing arbitration agreements mandating that sexual harassment claims be resolved through private arbitration instead of the judicial process. The secrecy surrounding these proceedings can protect serial violators and provide inadequate relief to victims.

"All employees should expect to work in settings free of sexual harassment," said Attorney General Tim Fox. "Passing the type of legislation we are requesting would mean the rights of victims to be heard in court would be upheld, rather than victims being subjected to confidential arbitration proceedings. I'm proud to join attorneys general around the country in asking Congress to uphold the rights of sexual harassment victims in a way that holds perpetrators publicly accountable for their actions."

The attorneys general letter sent Monday to leaders in the United States House of Representative and the United States Senate asks Congress to pass appropriately-tailored legislation to ensure that sexual harassment victims have a right to their day in court.

"Congress today has both opportunity and cause to champion the rights of victims of sexual harassment in the workplace by enacting legislation to free them from the injustice of forced arbitration and secrecy when it comes to seeking redress from egregious misconduct condemned by all concerned Americans," states the letter cosponsored by Florida Attorney General Pam Bondi and North Carolina Attorney General Josh Stein.

Attorneys general from the states, D.C., and five U.S. territories joined the letter: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.
