Merrill Wayne Fitzwater

Wayne was born Nov. 9, 1918 at Greenville, Ohio the youngest son of Jasper and Elsie (Bretz) Fitzwater. The parents were basically farmers until the father went to work for the Pennsylvania Railroad, first at Bradford, Ohio and then out of Columbus, Ohio. In the early 1930's Jasper lost the greatest part of his left hand and with the compensation of $12,000 received from the Railroad the family moved to a small farm near Greenville. Because of bad association with certain persons involved with "bootleggin" on the part of Jasper. The parents divorced with the only daughter Annabelle, staying with the mother and Wayne went back to the Bretz grandparents farm where he had previously lived, along with older brother Stanley, from 1921 through 1934. The reasoning was that boys should be brought up on a farm.

Wayne and Stanley worked studiously at farm chores and work and had intense interest in the Western U.S. During those lingering depression years with little pay and few jobs, both boys trapped furbearers which in about 1934 enabled them each to buy Harley-Davidson motorcycles, with Stanley first riding west and then Wayne. Both boys found the west fascinating, but Stanley worked at tree trimming in Ohio and during WWII he went to India as a hydraulic specialist at an airfield.

Wayne went to Montana in 1936 and worked on the Huntley irrigation project in Yellowstone County. From that location the Beartooth Mountains could be seen on a clear day and with the mountains calling he went to the Gallatin Canyon area and worked for the U.S.F.S. until going into the Army in 1941.

Wayne was assigned to the First Infantry Division known as "The Big Red One" and went to England for additional training. He saw combat action in the European Theater and received gunshot wounds to the chest, left side and a serious wound to his left leg. Wayne received the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and Combat Infantry Badge. After his military discharge Wayne worked with his brother in a tree-trimming business for a while, was married in 1944 and fathered twin daughters, Bette Lou and Sandra Sue. That marriage ended in divorce with Wayne getting full custody of the daughters. With the difficulty of caring for the very young daughters and securing no reliable baby-sitter and working regularly at tree-trimming Wayne's sister, who was married but childless, asked to take the daughters for rearing. Not too long afterward Wayne was offered a Montana job with the U.S.F. Service. Again, in the Gallatin Canyon area, and moved there in 1948.

In 1949 Wayne was offered advancement with the Forest Service on the job as a Montana Game Warden. Having always had an interest in the outdoors and wildlife he was hired as a game warden and worked as such until his retirement in 1978.

In 1952 Wayne married again and a daughter Lorri Anne was born, when he was assigned the Dillon, Montana district where he also retired. Again, that marriage ended in divorce after about fifteen years.

Wayne married Alice Burwell in 1973 with that marriage continuing until April of 2005 when she passed.

Wayne survived by his daughters Bette Lou and Lorri Anne, grandsons Justin, Brandon and Zachery, numerous nephews, nieces and cousins.

He requested burial at Dillon, Montana with no funeral services and any memorials go to the Deer Lodge, Montana Law Enforcement Museum or the Beaverhead County, Montana Museum.

Wife Alice requested burial at Medford, Oregon beside her first husband Orville, the father of her only sons.

Wayne wrote a book about his experiences and adventures as a game warden. The book is titled Where in the Hell Did You Come From?: Game Warden Ups and Downs & Ins and Outs. He served in the Montana Fish & Game Department for over 25 years, covering many of the warden districts in the southwestern part of the state. The job wasn't just checking hunting licenses and writing up tickets! Stealthily tracking a poacher through the woods, trapping nuisance bear, and lending a helping hand to sportsmen in need were all part of a day's hard work.

LaVon D. Brillhart Feb/2018

Tax time is soon approaching. All of us will pay our share of taxes as good citizens. We might complain a little but we will pay. President Trump has lowered the tax rate this year and has lowered the tax rate for corporations from 35% down to 21%.

But wait! 40% of the top corporations paid no taxes and received tax rebates. They paid zero in taxes.

With loop holes, offshore tax schemes, corporations have avoided over $100 billion dollars in taxes. What a deal!

Here are just a few of the corporations that have cheated America and nothing is done about not paying their share.

Johnson Controls the manufacture of auto parts and heating equipment made in one year a profit of $1.56 billion, paid no taxes and received a $477 million tax refund. What a deal!

Xerox Company in one year made a profit of $552 million, paid no taxes and got a tax refund of $23 million. Plus they eliminated over five thousand American workers.

One more! General Electric made a profit of $34 billion dollars in a five year period. Paid no taxes and received a $3 billion dollar refund. Another great deal.

President Trump has repeatedly said about the football players who do not stand for the National Anthem are not American. Called one of the men a "son of a bitch." But I am sure they pay their taxes.

But Mr. Trump has never said a word about the corporations that pay no taxes. He has never said the corporations that pay no taxes are not good citizens. Not one word!

Just think of all the good that could be done for this country if these corporations paid their share of taxes.

There is no justice when it comes to paying your taxes. The rich get richer, the middle class pays the bills and the poorer get poorer.

Pints for the Women's Resource Center

Are you a WIC client or have been in the past?

Did you breastfeed your children and loved it?

Do you think it would be helpful if there was a support system for new breastfeeding moms?

When you're a new mom, it helps to talk to other moms who know what you're going through. That's the idea behind the WIC Peer Breastfeeding Counselor program. Peer counselors are mothers who can share their own experiences and provide help and advice based on current research and knowledge from experts. And it works! Talking to a peer counselor during pregnancy helps women develop the confidence and skill to breastfeed successfully. Peer counselors reinforce breastfeeding recommendations in a socially and culturally appropriate context, and promote breastfeeding as an important element in the healthy development of the mother and baby.

If this sounds like something you would LOVE to do.....Beaverhead County WIC (Women, Infant, Child Supplemental Nutrition Program) is looking for a Peer Counselor to provide breastfeeding support to Beaverhead and Madison County WIC participants. Contact Sue Hansen for more information at 683-4771 or visit us at 41 Barrett Street. The position will close March 1st. Position start by March 19th. Previous applicants may apply.

Hours: Up to 4 hours/week

Wage: $10/hour (up to 16 hours/month) No benefits

Qualifications

Must be enthusiastic for breastfeeding!

Must have basic communication skills.

Must have successfully (or is currently) breastfeeding.

Must have been (or is currently) a WIC participant and is in the WIC age cohort.

Is not a health professional (RD, RN, LPN, or IBL/CLC).

Some of the Responsibilities Include

Available to consult with WIC participants outside clinic hours and outside the clinic environment.

Make telephone contacts from home and/or the clinic.

Conduct home and hospital visits per consult with the supervisor.

Attend statewide WIC Breastfeeding Peer Counselor calls.

The Scapegoat

Should we riot for its censure or removal, its shame may allay the indigent mass whose demand may threaten a centralized status quo. Or, its retention and a resultant violent struggle may justify the Martial State to enforce completion of the Con. In particular, his obvious abuse may spur demand for a State Constitutional Convention to rewrite the People's Power while in the hands of the aristocracy. Ostensibly to save us from such conceit, but truly to entrench the status quo. As of January 2018 they only need 6 more States' demand to accomplish this objective begun in the 1980's. Who calls for this undefined and pan-ultimate outcome in the hands of a plutocracy? What is the enemy of wealth? Poverty. What is the face of poverty? We are.

The scapegoat is a tool of social control. Played out on a large scale, its power is the most effective archetype of propaganda. With relatively little investment, it can embody nearly any character useful to inciting or subduing an audience. It can displace the people's inquest toward a convenient icon that need not know of its power or purpose. The unwitting accomplice is the most powerful instigator. Whose innocence may excuse abuse, answer with ignorance, and play the part with a conviction of righteousness while portraying the affronted victim. Who stands to benefit from an Empowered Victim surrounded by enemies? Which are you?

The scapegoat is the hero whose boon is bought from his suffering. Not for the people but for those that can pay. We're directed toward its ambiguous act as a target for our own bias. A controversy, an icon, a villain, one that will undermine all previous social agreements, ridicule the structure of the people's power, betray authority, security, and propriety while playing the Father, General, Savior, and Martyr's Sacrifice. All while obscuring the market's 'Invisible Hand'. All contradictions are embodied in this icons' pliable obscurity. It's ultimate outcast persona demonstrates a ritual of absolution, pacification, subjugation, and ostracism to expel the 'enemy', 'save' and subdue the tribe. The urgency of which may forestall criticism in favor of power's solution.

The scapegoat's power is a ritual of public spectacle. Only a small portion of the electorate need accept its facade to sway many. It is an icon that can initiate or conclude strategies unacknowledged in the participant or greater whole. Should I fall prey to its ritual farce, I am dis-empowered through acknowledgment of my collusion, or rejection of tribal identity, or abdication of power to call it out. If I accept the scapegoat's gamble, I am the shill, or a victim of its mask. If I abhor its mask, then I am a victim of the confidence game. If I am empowered to call it out, I am the enemy of the tribe and its State is turned against me.

The scapegoat is an icon of the Cult Of Celebrity. 1) Introduce a thing to fear. 2) Provide the 'only', or no solution for that threat. 3) Maintain discourse within a regulated polarity or "Overton Window" of preconceived ideals too broad or specific for compromise. 4) Reinforce polarity as a means of division through constant introduction of absolutes, anecdotes, or icons. 5) Portray all policy dialogue in the venue of personal identity, as a way of undermining substantive refutation of the useful narrative. 6) Use persona and tribal identity to frame acceptance, introduce controversy, misdirect inquiry, imply valuation of argument, and divide substance by its surface. 7) To parse apart the narcissism of minor difference as a tool to isolate, profile or influence systemic and individual opposition. Played out in a ritualized repetitive Game Theory, whose true purpose is never acknowledged. We may easily vilify the wealth of celebrities and athletes in the theater of the absurd, but forget the Billions that write their checks to buy or bilk our 'representative' government in their favor.

The scapegoat is a tool of Colonial Empire. Its lure serves a purpose. To present a convenient Hero to vilify or sacrifice, to discredit or distract popular cohesive resistance, and divide us into insecure and isolated enmity. To draw the eye from informed justice and guide our security to demand the Empire relieve its insatiable insecurity. The pliable hysteria of sensational or coordinated rhetoric can lead us to accept the manufactured authority of "Yes we can!" invested in the oligarchs purpose and their scapegoat savior. If we need an enemy to temporarily empower us through his vilification or sacrifice, or a reason to incite tribal identity, markets or defensive habits useful to an invested minority, a scapegoat mask can be painted with any face that may pacify or divide a populous' opposition. He may portray the noose of our narcissism. From which will I swing?

If we allow wealth to secure its/our power in a Constitutional Convention, we abdicate our Participatory Republic and the age of technological feudalism may be codified. Who is the scapegoat of a wealthy Victim?

There is only one time when communication becomes connected world wide. The mindset of that era may color a vast stretch of planetary future. If Liberty, Equality, Brotherhood and Respect are not deeply instilled in that initial exchange, their opposites' attributes of Feudal Empire and the enemy 'other' may burn them and us in a pyre of war and industry. We represent the Banana Republic poor becoming aware of our vast swindle. We feel powerless to affect beneficial change, while seeing the product of our labor, civil rights, and natural resource obligated to faceless entities at our expense. Our outrage is justified. 1/2018 C. Andrews

Scapegoat

Come sit with me beneath the palaver tree and let us make speech on a way to see the world as one to whom we offer wonder and not some hoard we're paid to plunder, but know our heaven's hand be not of gold by giving freely warmth in winters' cold but first let's uncover our cult of celebrity played to undermine our public integrity, whose subtle burden of purchased villainy our nervous village bestows upon it willingly it's the savior, sacrifice, hero and whore and the answer to quell our question of war

Beware the party's scapegoat icon, fatted money's sacrificial lamb we're set upon should we fall prey to feed its petty drama its shadowed coin may cast this nation's trauma, should we only see the fool in their scapegoat's face then we'll miss the rule that seals our fates it divides our people as a tool of war in a paid up tragedy of celebrity, threat and more sold to purchase the passion of the peasant that his enmity might pay the bankers rent to arm the state in the name of the few against the penitent poor asleep in their pew then along comes a hero held up before us to inflame the pallor of our poverty's madness

the scapegoat, a victim of their generous falsity is meant to play upon our grace' propensity to forgive the shameful power of wealthy abuse and in our submission remain obtuse to all the money, its media, theater and stage while in its player's lies we're wound in outrage our pined piper scapegoat is a naked emperor, we the labor rats at work in the aristo-cats larder where the cult of celebrity in their tragic melody sings a lalluby slumber through our national malady to sweep up a certain hero in the song of our savior then to sacrifice him on the altar of his behavior what better way to lead the people on?

while a dirty war behind our backs is won, amid the goat's contrived Kabuki and iconoclasm we're made to settle like some shameful orgasm while behind its every tiny 'tweet' and misdemeanor money's made our meaning of life that much meaner so please consider this sorry cinema a sacred tool meant to stampede the peasant and make him a fool and through him empire the earth in aristocracy forever in the power of their monetary piracy, before us lays the flower of our holy earth while they play a trump card to take our garden's worth but still we have our might and maker's wit to together lift us from their pauper's pit, so we're sold a victims irony to guide our goat of debt and led along a path of crumbs sown of sordid get where with every penny paid to oust an-other 'enemy' we're bound in the bonds of their profits' 'frienemy' who've paid our state so armed against the scapegoat's terror

we have forgotten the respect to contain our freedom's error

In the scapegoat's pyre burns a collective wrath while his ardor blinds us to our liberty's path, behind its made up mask of assumed identity is woven a tangled skein of false sincerity, meant to weave a profit from the people's need to hang round our neck a millstone of their greed when we see the wealth behind its fragile artifice no more we'll wonder why the world's amiss and might allow our freedom teach us grace instead of betting all-in the master's whorsey race, but should we fail to cure the State-goat of its money curse no pot can pay enough to escape our scapegoat's endless worse
