Montana Western Track Team

The Young Montana Western track team is ready to hit the ground running. After building off a great cross country season that sent four runners to the national meet. The Bulldogs are excited to compete and have high hopes for the upcoming season.

"We are hoping to get a couple of national qualifiers." Said head coach Dylan Zitzer, " We are going to push the boundaries of what we have accomplished so far, and springboard off of an awesome cross country season into an excellent track season."

Zizter's team echoed his goals: "We have been held to higher standards this season." said sophomore Josh Jessop, "Im excited to run some fast times and set some PR's (personal records)."

Teammate Russel Kujala added "I'm excited to have a lot of kids running this year. Personally, this is the best I've felt coming out of winter training. It's the same across the board we are ready to go."

"I think we are ready to go really hard." said three-time cross country national qualifier Mindy Kuafman, "The conference girls were strong in the indoor season, and I'm excited to compete against them with my fitness being substantially better than it was.

The Bulldogs will open the 2018 track season Friday, March 30 in Laurel, Mont. at the Yellowjacket / Battlin Bears Invitational.

Montana Western will compete in seven meets this season including the highly competitive War X meet in Spokane Wash. the first weekend in April. "I'm excited to run in some of the bigger meets." said Kaufman

The Bulldogs will run twice in Missoula and Great Falls. and once in Helena, hoping to qualify for a chance to compete in the NAIA outdoor track and field national championships in Gulf Shores, Ala. in late May.

State agencies encourage safe interaction with live poultry

Raising backyard poultry has become an increasingly popular activity in Montana. Many feed stores in Montana carry live chicks for sale, and the spring season is a popular time to start raising a new flock.

With the proper safety precautions, raising backyard poultry can be a fun and healthy experience.

However, some groups of people have a higher chance of becoming ill from handling live poultry. Even handling baby birds displayed at stores can cause a Salmonella infection. To avoid illness, it's important to keep several key precautions in mind.

In 2017, 13 percent of Montanans who were sick with Salmonella or Campylobacter interacted with live poultry in the period before they became ill. "Even if animals appear healthy, they could still transmit disease to people," said DPHHS epidemiologist Rachel Hinnenkamp. Children under five and people with weakened immune systems, such as pregnant women, the elderly, and those with chronic disease, are at the highest risk for infection and should avoid handling live poultry. The Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS) and the Department of Livestock encourage safe handling of live poultry using these simple prevention methods:

- Wash your hands with soap and water after handling animals
- Avoid touching your mouth after animal contact
- Don't eat or drink around animals
- Avoid kissing or snuggling your birds
- Keep chicks and ducks outside of the home
- Supervise small children around animals

"When caring for backyard flocks, these prevention methods will help keep you and your families healthy and enjoying the benefits of raising animals," said Assistant State Veterinarian Dr. Tahnee Szymanski of the Department of Livestock.

Outstanding Young Man Award

This years Outstanding Young Man Award win is an outstanding leader, volunteer, employee, son, friend, and member of the Dillon community. There is no one more deserving of this highly respected award than him.

He has a friendly and outgoing personality and is always more than happy to give a helping hand when he can. It is no surprise that his career and extracurricular activities involve helping people. As a personal banker, he works with people from all walks of life; assisting his customers with their financial and banking needs. He has a great relationship with his coworkers and supervisors and is a customer favorite. His reliable nature and knowledge of banking make him an asset to his employer and his customers.

His love for Dillon is reflected in the fact that he takes great pride in giving back to our community. Throughout his childhood and continuing into his college days at UMW, he participated in several Jaycee events. It was only natural for him to be drawn to the Dillon Jaycees, which he joined in 2011. Since then, Jason has been an extremely active member, helping with nearly every Jaycee event throughout the years. In addition to sitting on the Board of Directors as Treasurer and the Rodeo Board for several years, he has also started two new Jaycee events, the Red White and Blue Golf Scramble, and the Summer Kickoff Concert. Further, he has been a repeat recipient of the "Project of the Year Award" for the Red, White, and Blue Golf Scramble, as well as his involvement in the new flagpole at Vigilante Field. In December 2017, he was elected by his fellow Jaycee members as President for 2018; reflecting his peer's respect for him, faith in his experience as a Jaycee, and his skill as a leader. But his leadership and activism are not limited to the Dillon Jaycees. As an avid golfer, he has volunteered his time as a coach for the Hook-A-Kid-On-Golf program since its inception in 2014. In 2017, he was added to the Board of Directors for the Beaverhead Golf Course. His love for golf and helping others, paired with his leadership and management skills, have been a great benefit Beaverhead Golf Course and our community as they continue youth programs and increase their positive impact on Dillon.

He is a young man whom you can always count on to lend a helping hand. Whether it is to help you move furniture, or move cattle, Jason is there with a smile on his face. He is dependable, steadfast, and truly believes "service to humanity is the best work of life". The hours he has committed to the Dillon community through various events and meetings are too many to count. He does not volunteer his time and energy for recognition or awards, but he is an exceptional and humble example of what it is to be an Outstanding Young Man and is most deserving to be awarded accordingly.

Please help me congratulate Jason Schumacher as this year Outstanding Young Man Award winner!

Webelo leader for Boy Scout Troop 465, coached in the Dillon Football League for 8 years, served 3 years as a Director for the Beaverhead Little League, one year as Pony League President and Minors President, and initiated the Curt Williams Memorial Scholarship Award. In the 5 years that he was a Board Member of the Dillon Cubs American Legion Baseball, he served one year each as Treasurer and Secretary. He put in countless hours helping with fund-raising and construction of the new Legion Field. He has also served as an announcer of Cubs games and has worked in the concession booth. He got a lesson in international relations trying to get bleachers from China to Dillon and helped read the directions to Jim Richardson to assemble them. In true service fashion, he is remaining on the Cubs Board to see this project through and to keep baseball strong in Dillon, even as his sons moved on to collage.

With both his sons committing to the University of Montana Western Bulldog Football program, that became a new focus his generosity. After the tragic loss of his son last year, the family set up an endowment scholarship in his honor for Education majors and football players at Western. The FOREVER MJ #18 scholarship will offer two $1000 scholarships. In addition, behind the efforts of Darin Morast and Flint McCullough, the Engine 18 Tailgating Company was formed where he will continue to help with fund-raising efforts for western football as a board member.

Will you please help me congratulate this year Distinguished Service Award winner Mark Simkins.
