AUTHORS DAVID ABRAMS AND GEORGE VENN TO READ AT DANCES WITH WORDS IN APRIL.

In April, two authors will read as part of the University of Montana Western's "Dance with Words" series.

On April 19, 2018, David Abrams will visit the University of Montana Western campus, followed by George Venn on April 26, 2018. Each performance will take place at 7:30 pm at The Cup, Montana Western's coffeehouse located below the library on campus.

"Dances with Words" is produced by English Professor Alan Weltzien. The series, free and open to the public, provides the community with a unique opportunity to listen to authors reading their own works, including Montana Western student writers.

David Abrams

Abrams's stories and essays have appeared in "Esquire," "The New York Times," "Glimmer Train Stories," "Narrative," and many other publications. He earned a BA in English from the University of Oregon and an MFA in Creative Writing from the University of Alaska-Fairbanks. He lives in Butte, Montana with his wife.

Abrams is best known for his contemporary military fiction. His Iraq War comedy, "Fobbit," was named an "instant classic" by Publishers Weekly and a Top 10 Pick for Literary Fiction in the Fall of 2012. "Fobbit" was also a New York Times Notable Book of 2012, an Indie Next pick, a Barnes & Noble Discover Great New Writers selection, a Montana Honor Book, and a finalist for the L.A. Times' Art Seidenbaum Award for First Fiction.

Abrams's latest novel, "Brave Deeds," is a story that "follows a squad of six AWOL soldiers as they attempt to cross war-torn Baghdad on foot to attend the funeral of their leader, Staff Sergeant Rafe Morgan."

"Brave Deeds" was recently named a Montana Honor Book by the Montana Book Award committee.

George Venn
George Venn is a northwest literary historian, critic, editor, and poet. Venn graduated from The College of Idaho and completed his MFA at the University of Montana; he then became Writer-in-Residence at Eastern Oregon University. For thirty years, he wrote and taught writing, literature, and ESL. Since the 1970s, he has regularly published poetry and prose that discover, celebrate, and illuminate the rural northwest experience.

Revered in Oregon, his work has been included in the national Poetry in Motion program, carved in stone at the New Oregon Zoo, and featured in the Ron Finne film "Tamanawis Illahee." Three different composers have set his lyrics to music for concert performances across the Pacific Northwest.

In 1988, his collection, "Marking the Magic Circle," won an Oregon Book Award and a silver medal from Literary Arts; in 2005, the Oregon Cultural Heritage Commission and the Oregon State Library selected it as one of the 100 best Oregon books in two centuries.

Venn's latest is "Lichen Songs: New and Selected Poems." It features a variety of poems curated from his immense catalogue along with several new unpublished pieces.

After successfully completing all the DUI Court requirements Eric Imes graduated on August 31, 2017; Bill Mular graduated on February 2, 2018; and Rooster Reynolds graduated on March 15, 2018.

Each of these participants has completed countless hours of individual and group chemical dependency treatment, self-help groups, weekly court appearances, appointments with the DUI Accountability Court Coordinator and random UA testing. These participants have also maintained employment and demonstrated sobriety and the proper attitude to support recovery. They have worked very hard at this program and are to be congratulated.

The DUI Accountability Court is a program lasting 12 to 18 months. Individuals with 2nd or subsequent DUI's or other alcohol related driving offenses are eligible for this Court. Pursuant to legislation passed during the 2017 Montana legislative session a felony DUI offender is now eligible to be sentenced to the DUI Court directly instead of the Department of Correction's treatment at the WATCH Program.

Anyone interested in learning more about the DUI Accountability Court is invited to attend the weekly court appearances at 3:30 in the Beaverhead County Courtroom, or contact Claris Yuhas, Court Coordinator at 406-683-3776.

Attorney General Fox Fights Sales Tax, Defends Montana Businesses and Consumers Before U.S. Supreme Court

Attorney General Tim Fox took action Wednesday to fight sales tax expansion efforts harmful to non-sales tax states like Montana. In a brief filed with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of South Dakota v. Wayfair, Fox highlighted Montana's long history of opposing sales taxes, and noted the impact online sales taxes levied by other states could have on Montana business and consumers.

"Montana businesses shouldn't bear the burden of serving as deputized tax collectors for states and municipalities with an online sales tax," Attorney General Fox said. "For many businesses, getting by is already hard enough without the additional challenge of deciphering a complex web of taxing jurisdiction spread across the country. I'm standing up for Montana businesses and pushing back against efforts to force an online sales tax on Montana consumers."

At issue is a law passed by the State of South Dakota requiring any business engaging in online sales exceeding 200 transactions or $100,000 to collect South Dakota's online sales tax. The tax collection obligations exist regardless of the state in which the business operates. Montana businesses exceeding the threshold established by South Dakota would be required to collect and distribute the sales tax revenue for South Dakota.

In the brief, Attorney General Fox demonstrated how Montana businesses could be affected by South Dakota's law, even with a small amount of sales.

As an example, a person in South Dakota may, after searching for "huckleberry products" online, order a huckleberry lollipop for $1 from The Huckleberry Patch, a small business located in Hungry Horse, Montana. If this process is repeated 200 times the threshold would be met for $200 in sales. The Huckleberry Patch would then be required to collect and distribute the sales tax revenue generated by their South Dakota sales.

Forty states filed an amicus brief before the Supreme Court, backing South Dakota. These states indicated, if South Dakota prevails, they will follow suit with similar online sales tax schemes. An estimated 10,000 state and local taxing jurisdictions exist across the United States. If South Dakota's challenge is successful, Montana businesses would be responsible for determining how much revenue from their online sales go to the correct taxing jurisdiction.

Current remote sales tax law is governed by the cases of National Bellas Hess v. Department of Revenue and North Dakota v. Quill. For almost 50 years, these cases prohibited states from requiring out-of-state businesses to remotely collect sales tax revenue, unless that business has a "physical presence" in the taxing state. The physical presence could be as clear as a brick-and-mortar store front, or less apparent like a team of door-to-door sales people.

In his brief, Attorney General Fox asks the court to reaffirm the Court's interpretation of the law in Quill and Bellas Hess, as well as recognize the substantial practical challenges that abrogating the "physical presence" rule would have on businesses and consumers across the country.

Beaverhead
Conservation District

We're hosting Montana Range Days in 2019

Montana Range Days is coming to Dillon in June 2019 and 2020. This three-day event attracts people from all over Montana to learn about rangelands.

There are educational programs for all ages, and contests to test skills and knowledge. Montana Range Days has been held annually somewhere in Montana since 1977.

We hope you will be willing and able to help host Montana Range Days in Beaverhead County. We might have up to 400 participants in town, and it is an opportunity to meet others with similar interests from across the state, and to share what you know about our area and landscape, and showcase our area for visitors interested in learning about our rangelands.

I am writing to invite you to join the committee for Montana Range Days in Beaverhead County, sponsored by the Beaverhead Conservation District and County Range Committee. An initial organizational meeting is set for Tuesday, April 10th at 9:00 am at the 4-H Building. We will need many hands to make the program a success.

The basic program follows an agenda developed over 40+ years around the state. We will need people to help organize the logistics of managing the event (registration, food service, transportation, sponsors, etc.) as well as developing local programs, tours, and entertainment.

I hope you will be able to come to this first meeting, where we will find out what is involved in staging Montana Range Days. Some of us can remember hosting it 30+ years ago. I guarantee it will be at least as much work – and as much fun. Even if you can't make the meeting, we'd like to hear from you. Our landscapes in southwest Montana ARE Rangelands. We all have an interest in learning more about this valuable resource, and sharing what we know with others.

Please call Meg Smith at 406.925.2765 or Jamie Cottom at 406.683.3802 for more information.
