BEWARE OF MUDDY, SOFT FOREST ROADS

As snow melts and rain begins to fall across Southwest Montana this spring, Forest Service officials are concerned about very soft and muddy roads.

"We love our back country routes and enjoy getting out to explore them, however, soft roads are easily damaged by vehicle traffic and are very expensive to fix," Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF Engineer Morgan Sandall said.

"From time to time we may have to close roads this spring so they don't get rutted and damaged," he said.

Some routes are temporarily closed this time of year anyway, but additional roads may need to be closed until they dry out this year, Sandall said.

In the Big Hole, Molly Ryan, the Forest Service Ranger in Wisdom, noted that each year, starting May 15, snowmobiles are prohibited in the high country of the west Big Hole, south of Big Hole Pass and in the center of the West Pioneer Mountains. The late spring snowmobile ban has been in effect since 1993, she said.

"Until then, chained-up vehicles trying to reach the snow really tear up soft roads," she said.

"When roads get rutted, water in the ruts only increases erosion," she said. "People driving around drifts into wet meadows do a lot of damage next to the road," she said.

Over in Madison County, Recreation Officer Gordon Ash said many roads in the Gravelly and Snowcrest ranges are closed until July 2.

"We close some of our roads from April 1 to July 2 to avoid this very thing," he said.

"We still find people breaking through snow drifts, and driving onto roads that may still have gates open, but are legally closed," Ash said.

The Forest Service opens road gates for snowmobiles, and then tries to close them all during the spring thaw period, but sometimes can't reach the gates in time before travelers drive on them, causing rutting problems, Olson said.

Officials reminded travelers to carry a current Forest Service travel map, showing which roads are open at this time of year.

"Just because you don't see a sign or a gate doesn't mean a road is legally open," Morgan Sandall, Forest Engineer in Dillon said. "Use the map to make sure you're driving in areas where roads are legally open."

For more information, consult a Forest Service map or call the nearest Forest Service office.

3/14-4/14 BILL

On Feb. 21 2018 I paid to print some bad poetry and inflammatory rhetoric about a Scapegoat. I lied. I did so hopefully to prove a good point. I will use myself as example to illustrate my agenda.

If some one had lied to me I would feel angry, mistreated, deceived and less likely to listen again. If you feel this way after 'Mr. Andrews' pays to withhold his name behind money in a local rag, do you feel the same toward those who spend Millions lying in the same way during election season?

Here are some Documented Examples from our recent US election campaigns. In the 2012 Federal Office campaigns, these several individuals paid handsomely to place their henchman in the public eye. Koch Bros. @$400M, Sheldon Adelson @$93M, Paul Singer @$3.7M, Robert Mercer @$5.8M, George Soros $2.8M(D). The CrossRoads GPS and American Crossroads @ $240M, Americans for Prosperity @$122M, American Enterprise Institute @, Freedom Partners @$256M, Heritage Foundation, CATO Institute, Libre Initiative @$5M, Donors Trust and Donors Capital Funds @$148M, Concerned Veterans for America, Center to Protect Patient Rights @ $146M, are groups sustained by primarily one source (Koch Brothers) of funding. The Kochs (Matador Ranch) alone maintain 165+ different Political Advocacy groups, think tanks, and funds. The money they speak/ spend dwarfs the citizen donor campaign cash gathered for elected Officials and is spent to elect and influence them, and lie to us. Source: Center for Responsive Politics OpenSecrets.org, Center for Media and Democracy, SourceWatch.org, ProPublica, for 2012 Election Campaign Expenditures.

The breadth of influence shown here was compiled and exposed after painstaking research in convoluted tax records, years after the election. The 'people' above do not declare the source$ who pay their support until after the election. But the Citizen must declare his person and his agenda beside his political Speech/$donation. A Koch PAC hides behind fake names and administrative bureaucracy to keep the electorate from knowing whose message, intent, advantage (candidate) is truly $pushed.

They were granted this Right to 'Equal Protection' to "$peak" combining the 14th Amend, "Equal Protection" Clause and the 1st Amend. Freedom of Speech. The crux of which relied on the 2010 Supreme Court to described the word "Person" to designate a State Tax Id Number to be equal to a Human Citizen "Person" in terms of Constitutional Rights to political Speech(money).

Regardless of his speech, a candidates advocacy will more likely represent is financiers interest than any other. If his largest "contributors" are anonymous, how would his constituency(us) know his intent to resemble its own? His Citizen donors(you) each must declare their named political intent/ donation by Law. But business/Billions are not required to do so regarding their "Speech". Why? What do they gain from our ignorance? Inevitably, who can least afford their own advocacy?

Why do they desire, like I did, to obscure the citizen of their "free speech"? Here is a nature of censorship in America. Where one can "speak", but only the Human Person need worry that his word threaten his body, family, or property. The (Big) business(person?) however, can afford to buy a false name/Fake News from behind which it can pay/play without reprisal. Our division, ignorance and poverty betray an effect of their true intent. Who has the cash to anonymously speak/compete? I don't.

My "Speech" may shame my family, risk my life or livelihood, but their "Speech" has much more to gain and risks nothing in anonymous monetary advocacy. If a disembodied voice of money can afford to outlive, out-shout, payoff, any policy barrier offered by any individual fund, how long before any system of political influence only benefits those who can pay enough to hide their name? Does it already? Congress has 20% approval and 90+% reelection rate. It costs a $Billion to 'elect' a President. How can there be 'Equal Protection' in an anonymous monetary hierarchy of political advocacy?

I paid $100 to withhold my name from some bad poetry meant to advocate my Speech. $100 to deceive you. Those specific individuals and institutions listed above paid $Hundreds of Millions$. In one election cycle. In every State. Why? Because it "doesn't work"? I desired to obscure the 'Citizen' of my speech to prove this point. To "Speak" while preserving the worth of my career, employer, and Person, that may live beyond my advocacy. What subjects always elicit censorship of this kind? Am I comparable to those Billions? Only in that lie. Do you trust me? Why would you trust them? What does who gain from such anonymous Millions, and what do we? Can you afford the market for your Speech? Not for long. Calvin A. Counihan 4/2018 Corporate Name "Calvin Andrews" ®
