Chinese Umbrella Syndrome

by: Joe Barnhart

I love trade wars. It's a great opportunity to kick some trade butt with those foreign scum bags. China - no worries. U.S. exports to China last year were $130 billion while imports from China were $506 billion. Which, is actually good because there's more we can attach tariffs to so those items will go up in price and we'll get to pay more for them. I know it's confusing so I asked an economist the other day about it.

Me: Hey, what's this China, America ... trade, tariff thingy?

Economist: How did you get in my office?

Me: You know, flat screen TVs and stuff like that.

Economist: Is that a jelly donut in your shirt pocket? I'm calling security.

Me: May I use your restroom?

Such insight helps us understand how the U.S. trade imbalance, while daunting at times, is clearly nothing to worry about. The big guy at the top (think: massive comb-overs) knows what he's doing. Right?

A good solid trade war will surely balance the imbalance, right the wrong, and deplete my retirement portfolio faster than you can say, "Buy American." Which would be pretty cool, huh? I mean if we could actually buy stuff we need made in America. Then it'd be as easy as erecting some giant walls and watch the rest of the world cry cuz they miss us. We don't buy = they don't sell. I know it's complicated -- math was never easy for me, either.

So, obviously we Americans need to spend on "Made in USA" products. Let's stop and ponder what this means for U.S. manufacturers.....nope, total blank. Did you think of anything? Oh well, brainstorming sessions can be that way.

I have nothing against the Chinese people - after all, they invented fireworks and those cool little festive drink umbrellas where if you consume 6 drinks you forget your name and kiss anyone resembling your spouse. So I've heard. It'd be tough to live without such quality products.

Maybe the trade war will provide the spark for a grassroots effort to, "Buy American." I desperately want to and don't lie -- you do, too. But it seems every product is labeled, "Made in China" or "Product of China" or "Made in a small sampan (pronounced: boat) off the beautiful shores of Shanghai." Who will win the battle? I only got a C in my college economics class so obviously I don't have a clue. But I'm sure, like you, I'll suffer the consequences.

Our FFA chapter had a great weekend at their State FFA Convention in Billings this past weekend. They brought home lots of awards and successes including being name the 1st place Star Chapter for the entire state of Montana! This is a great honor and from everything we can find the first time in BCHS history.

We will be celebrating their accomplishment with a fire truck ride through Dillon on Monday, April 16. The students and advisor Caleb Igo will load the fire truck at 11:45 AM on Monday and the parade through town will start at 12:00 PM.

Please help us get the word out and show your support of this great program and their tremendous accomplishment!

The April meeting of the Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society will be Tuesday the 17th at 7:00 pm. We will meet in the Research Room of the museum. After our short business meeting, we will be discussing pedigree charts; what they are, why they are important, and how to create one. There are many different kinds of pedigree charts. Some are very colorful, while others are plain. Bring your pedigree chart on paper and/or computer and we will talk about it with the group and see who has the most unique chart. Bible Truth...What the Bible says about being 'Saved' (Part 1)

----We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God, 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is the reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with the Bible are false.

I was once told by one who has believed in Christ as her personal Savior that she doesn't use the term 'saved' when talking to people about God's plan of salvation. The reason given was because people don't seem to understand what 'salvation' or being 'saved' means.

Thus the reason for this article – to help give understanding regarding what the Bible means by the term 'saved'. Scriptures will be given regarding who needs to be saved, why one needs to be saved, what do we need to be saved from, and how does one go about being saved.

I am aware that some who are considered 'intellectuals' and theological 'scholars' take the position that the Bible is not to be interpreted literally. They also claim that the writings of the Pentateuch (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers & Deuteronomy) are a parallel to other ancient writings, such as the Babylonians. These books may be interesting reading, but purely myth & speculation.

We at Big Sky Missionary Baptist Church believe the Bible to be God's truth from cover to cover; therefore it alone is qualified to provide answers to that age old question, "What must I do to be saved?"

The word 'saved' means "to make whole, to keep safe and sound, to heal, to deliver, to protect and preserve." It is used in the Bible at times when referring to someone being saved physically and at other times to one being saved spiritually. This study relates to the spiritual salvation of man.

The first question on this subject is, "Who needs to be saved?" The answer is – everyone who wants to enter heaven when they die. John 3:3, "...Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." Being "born again" refers believing in Christ as one's Savior. At that point the believing individual is saved.
