Access and Functional Needs Population

Beaverhead County Public Health is tasked with establishing a standing meeting among our Access and Functional Needs Population (A & FN) partner organizations. The intent of this meeting is to develop strategies to improve community resilience.

"Resilient communities minimize any disaster's disruption to everyday life and their local economies. Resilient communities are not only prepared to help prevent or minimize the loss or damage to life, property, and the environment, but they also have the ability to quickly return people to work, reopen businesses, and restore other essential services needed for a full and timely economic recovery." Community & Regional Resilience Institute

Access and Functional Needs Population is defined as people having access, functional health, or physical needs beyond their capability to maintain during an emergency. These populations include:

- Economic Disadvantage,
- Language and Literacy
- Medical Issues and disability
- Isolation
- Older adults
- Infants
- Children 18 years or younger

Public Health and Disaster and Emergency Services (DES) have been working together for many years towards helping our community become resilient. Its time to begin focusing on those populations that would require extra help in the time of an emergency or disaster.

Everyone who can benefit from this planning is welcome. All agencies or organizations that work with Access and Functional Needs people are strongly encouraged to attend. Discussion will be about what special needs our community would require so we can plan and develop strategies to prepare for, respond to, and fully bounce back from crises. Please call Sue Hansen at 683-3179 for more information.
