Garrison and Royer Win Trap Titles at National Junior Olympic Championships

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colorado (June 26, 2018)

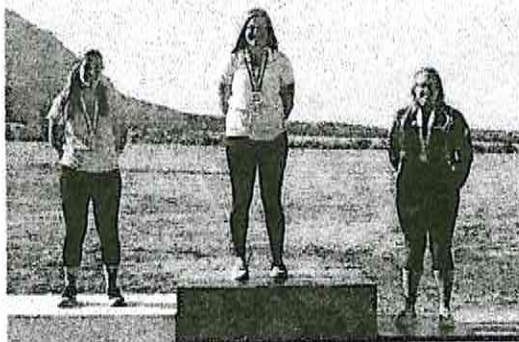

The first half of the National Junior Olympic Shooting Championships (NJOSC) for Shotgun ended today as medals were awarded in the Trap discipline at the International Shooting Park just south of the city on Fort Carson.

Taking top honors in the Men's competition was a defending NJOSC gold medalist, as well as a 13-year-old who showed talent beyond her years in the Women's event. On the line for these athletes were NJOSC medals and potential invitations to the National Junior Team. For a handful of athletes, this year's NJOSC will also serve as a tune-up prior to the Shotgun Selection Match in late July, as well as the International Shooting Sport Federation (ISSF) World Championship later in August in Changwon, South Korea. Junior Shotgun athletes earned their slots on the team for the World Championship during the Spring Selection match in March. To qualify for NJOSC, however, Trap athletes had to shoot at least 80/125 targets at a state Junior Olympic qualifying competition.

Carey Garrison (Crossville, Tennessee) won the Women's Trap gold medal, hitting 44/50 targets in the Final. She qualified for the Final with the third-highest Qualification score of 112/125 targets over two days of competition. Once in the Final, after her eighth, she hit 29 targets in a row on her way to the NJOSC title.

"It was really hard, and I had a lot of up and down rounds, but I pulled it off at the end and I'm really excited about it!" Garrison said. At just 13-year-old, Garrison competes in the youngest age category (J3, for athletes age 14 or younger) where she won the Junior Women's Trap Title at last year's National Championships. She will be the youngest American athlete ever on a USA Shooting Team for the World Championship.

The podium in the Women's Trap competition was rounded out by Garrison's World Championship teammates, Madelynn Bernau (Waterford, Wisconsin) who won silver with 42 targets in the Final and Emma Williams (Savannah, Tennessee), who won the bronze with 32 targets in the Final. Williams entered the Final with the highest Qualification score of 116.

Due to Family emergency we will be closed Monday & Tuesday and reopen on the 5th. Thank you for understanding

"I'm just really excited to go over there and compete with these people," Garrison said. "And I'm looking forward to the food."

Winning the J2 Age Category (age 15-17) gold was Heather Broski (Spring Hill, Tennessee). Winning the silver was Faith Pendergrass (Valley Hills, California) and the bronze was Caroline Johnson (Hot Springs, Arkansas).

In the J3 Category, Ryann Phillips (Gail, Texas) won gold and Ivalynn Barnum (Greenwood, Arkansas) won silver.

On the Men's Trap side, there was a sense of déjà vu to this year's competition.

"It was pretty much a repeat of last year," said defending NJOSC gold medalist Dale Royer. "I got a 46 both times and I'm pretty happy with that. Just got to take it to the World Championship!"

Royer (Jackson, Montana) once again won the NJOSC title this year in similar fashion to last year's, earning identical scores in the Final. He bested last year's Qualification score, however, by four targets to tie for the highest Qualification score of 120/125. Though he wanted to defend his NJOSC gold, Royer focused on reinforcing good habits leading into Changwon.

Dale competed in his first Junior competition in 2013. This was his last as he ages out as a Junior. It is a great accomplishment to repeat and go out with back to back titles.

"Just keeping everything consistent," he said. "Keeping my eyes in the right spot, keeping my gun in the right spot, just stayed steady until the target went out and then I went after it!"

Winning the Men's Trap silver was Jack Brosseau (Durant, Florida) and winning the bronze was Lance Thompson (Carlisle, Pennsylvania).

Winning the J2 Category was Grayson Davey (Anchorage, Alaska). Taking silver was Reed Meyer (Hudson, Wisconsin) and the bronze went to Kevin Whitehead (Oldsmar, Florida).

In the J3 Category, Tommy Jack Thew (Mt. Ida, Arkansas) won the gold, Noah Fleischer (Theresa, Wisconsin) won the silver and Owen Bin (Valley Springs, California) won the bronze.

Competition continues Thursday with the start of the Skeet event, as well as Finals Friday afternoon. More than 225 athletes have come to Colorado Springs to compete at this NJOSC for Shotgun.

CONCERT IN THE PARK

Emmy Award winning "Organic Vaudeville and Jug Band Folk" duo Jack and Kitty will be performing a concert on Tuesday July 10th at 6pm in Jaycee Park in Dillon Montana.

The husband and wife duo has been described by one reviewer as "Leon Redbone meets Alicia Keys or Tom Waits meets Beyoncé". We call our style, 'organic vaudeville folk,' explains Kitty. "It's organic and acoustic with nothing but positive vibes." Jack adds, "Its laid-back music steeped in tradition but with modern pop influences."

The group cites influences as far ranging as 1920s and 30s dixieland jazz and jug band ragtime to modern hip-hop and R&B. That rich musical stew forms the blend of Jack and Kitty's Emmy Award winning artistic approach. Indeed, it would seem that music is in their blood.

Kitty's uncle is Bunny Wailer - of Bob Marley and the Wailers fame. She grew up in rural Scotts Pass, Jamaica listening to a healthy blend of reggae, rap and R&B.

At a young age Jack discovered his vaudevillian great grandfather's phonograph record collection and spent his childhood listening to crooners like Bing Crosby, Al Jolson and Rudy Vallee. As fate would have it, oddball ukulele legend Tiny Tim moved in next door to the Norton household and somehow became Jack's babysitter.

"Seriously, Mr. Tip Toe Through The Tulips was my baby sitter," Jack laughs.

Jack and Kitty have performed in nineteen countries, toured for the US Pentagon, sang at the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts and regularly perform at Nashville's legendary songwriting haven the Bluebird Cafe.

Strockgrower's Event

By: MJ

The Montana Stockgrowers Association (MSGA) held their Midyear Meeting in Dillon, June 14th & 15th. Agriculture and environmentalism are at the heart of the Stockgrowers Association. They invited the entire community and surrounding area to join in the celebration.

Housekeeping meetings were held with the keynote speaker Dr. Vuaghn Holder addressing "Expanding the Nutritional Horizons". The event included a parade of 200+ mounted horses including gentle giants pulling wagons. "Someone's got to do it" and that dirty job went to two young boys bringing up the rear of the parade with their rakes, scoops and wagon. They left no mess behind. A job well done. Thank you. The evening gala supported the community by including an auction of four local float trips, five commissioned original Montana art pieces...

Thank you goes out to the hard-working volunteers using their skills and donating countless hours of work. In turn those guests brought outside dollars that were spent in Dillon. Those dollars will circulate throughout the community supporting families.

At one time Dillon hosted the Class C basketball tournaments that filled the motels, restaurants, stores... Other towns know how valuable those type of events is to help build the economy in any municipality and it has become harder (not impossible) for smaller towns to compete.

Question: Would it be possible for the community to form a group that is interested in moving Dillon into the future? People today are asking for the resources that Dillon has to offer. Rules and regulations are needed in a municipality however, they can become negatives without positives for offset.

People, young and old, working together for the whole, sharing their skills for a common goal like creating ways to bring more tourist dollars into town can and will make a difference. The latest event hosted by Stockgrowers demonstrated that several weeks ago.
