Attorney General Fox Holds Tobacco Companies Accountable

State of Montana Recovers $3.4 Million in Owed Payments

Concluding a multi-year legal battle between the state of Montana and several major tobacco manufacturers, Attorney General Tim Fox announced a settlement agreement Tuesday that ensures the tobacco companies follow through with past commitments to the state.

Since 2004, tobacco companies have disputed, withheld or refused to transfer annual payments owed to the state of Montana. The payments owed to the state were agreed to in the 1998 nationwide Master Settlement Agreement resolving multiple state lawsuits over alleged concealment and misrepresentation of information regarding adverse health impact related to use of tobacco products. As outlined in the original 1998 settlement, a portion of the annual payments by the companies to the state are intended to encourage "diligent enforcement" of a stipulated tobacco statute.

Withholding payments to state governments is a tactic collectively deployed by the same tobacco companies across the country. Montana is the only state in the nation that has not settled with the tobacco companies for a lower amount than originally owed. Additionally, Montana is the only state in the country that can litigate this issue in state court. All other MSA states must participate in a nationwide arbitration. This allows a Montana court, rather than an out-of-state arbitration panel, to judge the proceeding. The most recent settlement with the state, signed July 18 of this year, ensures the state of Montana is paid in full all funds withheld for calendar year 2004.

"Any businesses operating in Montana must be held accountable for wrongdoing," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "This settlement ensures that tobacco companies live up to the deal they agreed to two decades ago and pay in full the funds owed to the state. This is an historic agreement for the state of Montana, and I'm proud of my team for making this happen."

In total, Montana recovered $3,367,741 in back payments and interest. Importantly, the settlement also protects and confirms Montana's right to retain its full payment for calendar year 2004 of over $27 million. The remaining disputed portions of the annual payments owed to the State range from $2 million to $5 million a year.

The funding secured by this settlement, like other MSA payments, fund important health programs including the Children's Health Insurance Program and other programs operated by the Department of Public Health and Human Services. These funds are key to supporting smoking prevention and cessation programs.

The companies involved in the settlement include: RJ Reynolds, Philip Morris, Farmer's Tobacco Company of Cynthiana, Commonwealth Brands, Compania Industrial de Tabacos Monte Paz, Daughters & Ryan, House of Prince, Japan Tobacco Inertanital U.S.A., King Maker Marketing, Kretek Intertnational, Scandinavian Tobacco Group Lane, Liggett Group, ITG Brands, Peter Stokkebye Tobaksfabrik, P.T. Djarum, Santa Fe Natural, Reemstma Cigarettenfabriken Gmbh, and Wind River LLC.

Book Signing

The Bookstore will be hosting Chef Barrie Boulds and author Jean Peterson on Thursday, July 26 from 5:00-7:00 pm. They will be signing copies of their "Big Sky Bounty Cookbook." From mountain streams in the west to the rolling prairies in the east Montana's habitats and natural resources offer an abundance of culinary possibilities. The mountains provide the necessities for a delightful elk tenderloin with huckleberry demi-glace, while the prairie contributes to rattlesnake cakes with roasted red pepper remoulade. Gardens and farms statewide produce the makings of Aunt Lois O'Toole's rhubarb strawberry pie. The chef and author present locally sourced epicurean dishes that exude Montana charm. Historical context couples with seventy-five easy yet sophisticated recipes celebrating unique flavors and heritage. Please join us on Thursday or call The Bookstore at 683-6807 to reserve an autographed copy of this unique cookbook.

Letter to the Editor

On Monday July 30, 2018 at 7 p.m. there is going to be a meeting concerning the elimination of the Wilderness Study Areas (WSA's) in Beaverhead County last year by our county commissioners. It will take place in the Search and Rescue Building- 1000 Hwy 41 Dillon.

Our county commissioners sent letters to Sen. Steve Daines and Rep. Greg Gianforte supporting the elimination of the WSA's in the county without ever holding an open meeting to find out if this is what the Constituents wanted.

There are 29 WSA's in Montana at stake with this legislation including the West Pioneers, the Centennials, Farlin Creek and several others just in Beaverhead County.

Now Daines and Gianforte are using these county commission letters as proof of local support.

By eliminating the WSA's they are effectively opening up these pristine mountain ranges to motorized Recreational vehicles, logging, mining and more. The BVHD county commissioners said in the letter to Daines that "NO" WSA's in this county were worth keeping as wilderness.

It is critical that residents of BVHD and nearby counties show up to show that we do not support the WSA bills and prefer an open, inclusive and collaborative process to determine the future of these places.

If the present legislation passes it would be the largest rollback of protected lands in Montana's history.

These are areas that we depend on for clean water, thriving fish and wildlife populations and a 7- billion-dollar outdoor recreation economy.

We all expect and deserve a say on how our valuable public lands will be managed over many years to come.

Please join us for the meeting.

If you can't make it, please call our county commissioners at (406) 683-3750 or email them at mmcginley@beaverheadcounty.org and let them know how you feel.
