LOOK WHAT'S NEW AT LPL FINANCIAL AND JUDY SIRING'S FARMERS UNION!!

Dillon is Character Rich

William Hagler Photography

Patrons of the Arts and local business owners Dale Gien of LPL Financial and Judy Siring of Farmers Union Insurance share an office building. Their love of the arts prompted the idea of adding an art element atop the sign post outside of the building.

They recognized the talent in two Dillon artists and commissioned a copper weathervane by Jesse Scofield with an accent glass orb by James Wigen. Both artists submitted several concepts to Dale and Judy at a dART presentation party hosted by Clare Bailey. When tasked with choosing the winning submittal Judy and Dale decided to combine elements from each artist to create a weathervane with the perfect blend of glass and copper.

Newly installed at the corner of Glendale and Washington streets "Weather Crane" is worthy of study.

A passing glimpse will provide the essence of this sculpture but it is worth pausing a moment to enjoy the intricate hand tooled detail in the crane's wings and neck. Look closely and you will notice the two-toned red glass insets making up the crown and eyes. Marvel as the sun lights up the cobalt glass orb, seeming to make it glow from within. By chance, a gentle breeze might set the sculpture into motion mesmerizing you for a moment more.

Dillon is indeed Character Rich and we are growing in artistic character. "Weather Crane" is the latest Art in Public Places piece created by a dART artist. To date, dART has installed two metal assemblage sculptures with benches by Steve Cook, a ceramic mosaic mural by Katie Barba and an alley mural by Clare Bailey. These installations are made possible by people like Dale Gien and Judy Siring who love their home town and support the artists who live here!

School Supply Drive

Troy Anderson considered for MSU Quarterback

Montana State won't have its difference-maker on offense this year as junior quarterback Chris Murray will sit out the season to focus on academics, coach Jeff Choate announced.

The Big Sky Conference's 2016 freshman of the year, Murray will have two years of eligibility remaining beginning with the 2019 season. Montana State's academic standards are higher than NCAA requirements.

"Chris is obviously an important part of this team," Choate said, "but everyone that enters this program and this university knows that academics are the top priority. This will be a year for Chris to get his priorities in order and raise his academic work to the standard that MSU and this football program demand."

Murray had been hoping to lead Montana State into Big Sky title contention this season, Choate's third with the Bobcats. As a sophomore, Murray passed for 1,597 yards and rushed for 1,124 while accounting for 25 total touchdowns.

Montana State will opened preseason camp on Aug. 3. Junior college transfer Travis Jonsen, who spent time in Oregon's program, is considered the front-runner to win the starting job. Troy Anderson, last year's Big Sky freshman of the year as a running back and linebacker, was a state championship-winning quarterback in high school and figures to be under consideration as well.

Letter to the Editor

Ok, all you political nerds! Sorry, I mean all you "cerebrally gifted individuals." It is time for you to be politically correct. Here is some information, I mean, "overly structured trivia."

I talked with my friend who is a housewife, no, sorry she is a "domestic engineer." She also works part time as a secretary, no, she is an "administrative assistant." She is a very nice lady, a person of "great substance."

I also talked with the young man across the street. He works at a local grocery store as a bag boy, no, he is an "agricultural product organizer." He lives with his mother in a broken home situation, no, they live in a "dysfunctional family situation." They are very poor, no, they are "economically marginalized." This young man did have a job as a "custodial artist." His mother told me as far as she was concerned he was a complete failure, no, he had, "deferred success."

I also got a call from my aunt, her husband, my uncle who is a real psycho, no, he is "pathologically high." Most people always thought he was a pervert, no, he was a "person engaged in nontraditional espionage." My aunt informed me this old, no, "chronologically gifted man" is a prisoner, no he is a "client of the correctional system" for life.

Sorry I sort of got lost. No, I was "locationally disadvantaged." But I have not been incorrect, no, I have not given you "alternative answers." Ok, it was a bunch of "bovine feces" In fact it was "overly structured trivia"

Have a nice day! But what right do I have to tell you "have a nice day?" Sorry, go ahead eat twinkies, have a T.V. dinner and watch the "fake news."

Virginia Creek Fire, Madison Ranger District

The lightning caused Virginia Creek fire detected on August 2 at approximately 12:45 p.m. is currently 30 acres in size (due to more accurate mapping) and is burning in heavy concentrations of mixed conifer (sub-alpine fir, Engelman Spruce, lodgepole pine) fuels with very heavy concentrations of standing dead trees and logs on the ground and is 0% contained.

Resources from the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest, MT DNRC, and the Madison Valley Volunteer Fire Department working on this fire are: 47 personnel including: 4 Engines; 1 Water Tender; 1 Helicopter; and one 26 person hand crew. The fire is located approximately five miles west of McAllister, in the Virginia Creek drainage.

Last evening crews were successful in conducting a burning operation that safely brought the fire to the edges of the Meadow Creek and Virginia Creek Roads and moved the fire to the ridgeline above the fire. Today, if weather conditions are favorable, fire crews are continuing with the burning operation to tie in the west flank of the fire with the ridgeline and bring the fire to the Meadow Creek Road.

Fire personnel are working to keep the fire from advancing past the Meadow Creek and Virginia Creek roads and from burning over the ridgeline above the fire on the southeast side.

Virginia Creek Fire as seen from the Meadow Creek Road Last evening 20 people attended a public meeting that was held in Ennis by fire managers to share information about the fire and planned actions.

Virginia Creek Road #1249 and trail #6314 have been closed in order to provide for the safety of firefighting personnel and public. Smoke will be very visible from Norris Hill south to Ennis for the next few days to come.

Beaverhead County Commissioners

WILDERNESS RELEASE BILLS:

I believe you (collectively) are now aware that Montana resident voters do desire keeping some of the best primitive public lands roadless.

I know that management of our federal lands is a complex endeavor especially in this time of political transformation. Our failure to address man made rapid climate change is an example of not thinking about the future. Our federal leadership denies scientific facts and calls anthropogenic climate change a "hoax." This is a classic example of mismanagement coming from the very top.

Now is not the time to release Montana's roadless lands for industrial strength commercial development.

Political transformation is coming this November when the BLUE WAVE will become a GREEN TSUNAMI!

Respectfully yours,
Mike Mosolf
