BLM temporarily closes Axolotl Wilderness Study Area due to fire

The Bureau of Land Management's Dillon Field Office has issued a fire prevention order temporarily closing the Axolotl Wilderness Study Area in Madison County due to the Monument and Wigwam fires.

The order is effective at 3 p.m. Aug. 13 and lasts until rescinded. The order prohibits general public access to the Axolotl Wilderness Study Area to avoid conflict with the ongoing fire suppression activity on the nearby fires. The closure area lies within the east half of Township 7 South, Range 3 West and the west half of Township 7 South, Range 2 West.

"Right now, we don't have any fires on BLM lands in the Dillon area, but the flames are nearby and we're keeping a close eye on all wildfire activity in our jurisdiction," said Keith Johnson, acting field manager. "To protect the public and to allow fire crews to safely do their work, we are closing the Axolotl Wilderness Study Area for the time being."

A copy of the closure order and a map of the affected area are available at the Dillon Field Office, 1005 Selway Drive, Dillon, MT 59725. For more information, call (406) 683-8050.

Updated information on the Wigwam Fire is available online at https://inciweb.nwcg.gov/incident/6134/ and information about the Monument Fire can be found here: https://inciweb.nwcg.gov/incident/6122/.

in 2000, Beaver in 2013, and Meyers in 2017. These fires are burning in timber with a heavy component of dead and down trees. This is a very unsafe area for fire personnel due to snags and no safety zones.

A helicopter is available to make some water drops today. Additional smokejumpers that had been working on the fires on the Pintler Ranger District have been reassigned to the fires in the Anaconda Pintler Wilderness. The plan is to keep the fire in the Beaver Creek drainage. Trails in the nearby area are closed including parts of the Continental Divide National Scenic Trail.

Additional Information:

Updates and information will be provided as significant changes occur.

Prevention: During this time of high fire danger, people are reminded to be careful with all fires; be sure to extinguish campfires completely and to keep motorized vehicles on roads and trails.

Fire Activity and Smoke: Currently, there are 68 uncontained large fires in the nation, which are filtering smoke into the valleys of Montana. You can find information about these fires on Inciweb at https://inciweb.nwcg.gov. Additionally, smoke from 68 uncontained large fires in the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Alberta is also flowing through Montana. Further information on smoke can be found from the MT Department of Environmental Quality's web page at http://bit.ly/wildfiresmokereport.
