DO YOU QUALIFY FOR WIC?

WIC is the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children. This public health program is designed to improve health outcomes and influence lifetime nutrition and health behaviors in a targeted, at-risk population. Nutrition is the cornerstone of the WIC program.

WIC provides good food and a whole lot more! This program provides nutrition and health education, breastfeeding support, healthy food and referrals to other services free of charge to Montana families who qualify. This includes low-income pregnant, breastfeeding, and postpartum women, and to infants and children up to age five who are found to be a nutritional risk.

Persons applying for WIC benefits must meet the following eligibility requirements:

- Pregnant women
- Breastfeeding women
- Postpartum women
- Infants up to age one
- Children up to age 5
- The household must reside in Montana
- The household income is at or below current WIC income guidelines OR
- Household meets adjunctive income eligibility definition (automatically qualify)
 - a) Medicaid
 - b) SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance program)
 - c) TANF (Temporary Assistance to Needy Families)
- 1 month of check stubs is required for proof of income.

This program does not discriminate based on race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, and reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity.

Persons wishing to apply for WIC need to contact Beaverhead County Public Health to set up an appointment. WIC days are every Tuesday in Dillon and the third Monday in Sheridan located at the old Community Health Center.

People interested in more information about WIC can go to the Montana WIC Program website at <http://wic.mt.gov>. A WIC prescreening tool can be used to determine if a person may be eligible for WIC benefits and takes less than 15 minutes to complete.

For more information or to make an appointment, please call Beaverhead County Public Health at 683-4771. Public Health is co-located with Southwest Montana Community Health Center at 41 Barrett Street in the Community Services Building.

Lift Station: WWC Engineering firm did a study for the city on the cost of a new lift station located off Selway Drive, that would accommodate the new proposed trailer court and other business in the area. It ended being cost prohibitive for the city and will not be done. Estimated cost was around 312,000±.

Liens applied: Discussion around the table was about having sewer/water statements in property owner's names only and not in renters' names. It was discussed that a landlord can't have water turned off as it's considered a harassment of the tenant. The committee is still working on a solution to the problem.

Shut Off Valves: There was conversation about adding to the ordinance the capability of the City repairing a shut off valve and billing the customer if they don't have it fixed within a 3 month period. Discussion is ongoing.

Service Lines: How people are charged for water/sewer services was the question on the table. Mayor Klakken mentioned properties that have one service line that is servicing multiple homes. In some instances, there is only (1) sewer bond but in other instances it is the sewer bond amount times the number of residences that people pay for. Example: Say an apartment building has (1) line but ten apartments. Does the city charge a sewer bond to each apartment or does the city charge according to size of line? How should a trailer court be charged for sewer; charge trailer court owner by sites time 3? Some are charged this way and others are changed by the water line size. Mayor Klakken would like to have the committee correct the data base and make it equal for all users. The ordinance needs to have clearer language. Issues was tabled, and nothing was decided.

Non-Payment of Water/sewer bills: Ponderings were held at the Water & Sewer Committee meeting for non-payment of water statements. Mayor Klakken reported that he thought the Montana Code Annotated to say that before July 7th of each year the city can attach a lien for outstanding unpaid bills to a property owner's taxes. The city can shut the water off via a shut off valve for water to a property however there is no shut off valve for the sewer. Example: When the city has a property owner that has sewer service only and gets water from a private well the city has no way of shutting off his sewer service if they refuse to pay. The discussion was to add to the ordinance that would identify a way the city to collect unpaid sewer statement. Note: The committee has not forwarded a decision to the council at this time.

Dillon Motor Coach: Council had a hearing on June 28th. At the June 25th Planning Board meeting the board approve the Dillon Motor Coach and RV resort project with 3 site conditions. 1) have an active week control program, 2) owner review current lift station agreement making sure it's capable of handling the project, 3) length of time a person can stay in the park. NOTE: City council approved the Motor Coach/RV Park with above listed conditions with 1 amendment to 3rd condition.

2018 Women Stepping Forward for Agriculture Conference

Pack your blue jeans and head for Billings to attend the Women Stepping Forward for Agriculture (WSFA) Conference! This year's conference will be held October 2-4 at the DoubleTree Hotel.

The annual conference began in 2001 and has evolved each year since, and is now planned by a committee of agriculture-minded ladies from across the state. Their mission is to empower women involved in all sectors of agriculture through education, collaboration and networking, to ensure the success of farms and ranches across the region.

This year's agenda promises to give attendees a blend of education, entertainment and inspiration. Topics covered this year range from the Farm Bill and financial strategies to overcoming the opioid epidemic and alternative forages. Attendees can interact with presenters during the popular Women in Business panel, and new this year, the Generational Differences panel with a range of Montana agriculture couples sharing their success and failures as they forge their way. This year's keynote speaker will tackle the difficult topic of suicide in rural communities through "Lipstick, Laughter and Life" with inspiration and motivational speaker, Renee Rongen.

Register by September 9 and receive early bird pricing at $70 ($90 after September 10), which includes all meals and speakers. Hotel reservations also need to be made by September 9 to receive a rate of $109. For all the details, visit the website at www.womensteppingforward.org.

Although Stage 1 fire restrictions will be lifted, visitors to the Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF are reminded to continue to be careful with fire. Make sure campfires are completely out and cool to the touch, keep all motorized vehicles on roads as it is easy for hot catalytic converters to start fires in grass and shrubs. Chainsaws need to have a spark arrestor screen and make sure trailer chains are not dragging.

For additional information on fire restrictions, visit the fire restrictions website at www.firerestrictions.us.

Teens, Would It Kill You To Open A Book?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

Call me a nuanced curmudgeon.

I'm not so bothered by the AMOUNT of time that teenagers spend with the internet and/or digital devices as by the lack of QUALITY of their pursuits.

I'm reacting to the recent Drudge Report headline "A third of teens haven't read a single book in past year."

Researchers from San Diego State University, analyzing four decades' worth of data and publishing the results in the journal "Psychology of Popular Media Culture," show traditional reading devastated by texting, social networking, aimless web surfing and addictive video games.

For instance, in the late Seventies, 60 percent of 12th graders read a book or magazine almost daily; by 2016, even with the availability of Kindle and similar devices, only 16 percent did.

Printer John Peter Zenger risked prosecution for seditious libel in order to hold the colonial governor of New York accountable. Abraham Lincoln read by firelight. Sequoyah painstakingly developed a symbol for each syllable in the Cherokee language. Today's kids? "Wash...hands...after...using...restroom. Do those 25-year-old fossils think we have all day to read these interminable instructions???"

Sure, my generation had shortcuts such as "Classics Illustrated Comics" and Cliff's Notes; but some of us were glad that Shakespeare's immortal words were more complex than "Just hanging out. You?"

Yes, we had to learn a lot of things the hard way; but we also benefitted from the accumulated knowledge of prime ministers and explorers and inventors. We pondered the commandments brought down from the mountaintop on two tablets. That's a far cry from hanging on every word of some nitwit who brings out two Tide pods on YouTube.

We used to be able to take lifelong lessons from even the driest literature. I direct you to the movie "Dead Poets Society." But now we're more likely to hear, "Seize the day? I can't even seize my car keys. I've got carpal tunnel syndrome from texting."

Older Americans share a priceless common bond when we can remember where we were when we first saw newspaper photographs of the Kent State riots or John F. Kennedy Jr. saluting his fallen father. Fifty years from now, today's adolescents will probably reminisce, "Remember that girl who sent a topless photo to that boy she sort of liked, and it went viral? Should've won a Pulitzer! Should've won a Pulitzer!"

Sometimes you need something substantive that makes you THINK. And I don't mean like "Your post on Snapchat made me think...that I'd better get a catheter, so I don't miss one minute of the big videogame tournament!"

Don't get me wrong. A number of teens (including my son the sophomore) do share my passion for reading. They learn something from essays and sermons and manuals and investigative pieces and manifestos.

And herein lies the real division of "haves" and "have nots" in our country in the coming years. Youngsters who "get" reading will have life more abundantly. The willfully ignorant will miss out on all the jokes and literary allusions that zoom over their heads. They'll be blindsided when history repeats itself and throw a hissy-fit when no one tells them about the town hall meeting to discuss zoning ordinances.

Maybe they'll really get a comeuppance in the ROMANCE department.

"Want me to play the Naughty Librarian, handsome?"

"What's a librarian?"

"Never mind. Sigh What's the Cherokee phrase for 'Get lost, loser'?"
