Ready To Visit A Rage Room?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

The imperishable words "Hulk smash!" aren't just for green super-heroes anymore.

According to the Wall Street Journal, entrepreneurs in New York City have launched competing "rage rooms."

At The Rage Cage or The Wrecking Club, patrons who pay a fee, sign a waiver and don protective gear can unleash their pent-up anger, using baseball bats, sledge hammers, etc. to demolish defective electronic devices, 99-cent-store dishes and other expendable items.

In a tension-filled world where angry people hurl vases at their spouse or smash rural mailboxes, such rage rooms could be the innovation we need.

Innovation? The Journal did note that a prototypical rage room was operated in New York some 40 years ago. The owners probably tried to carry over too many practices from more conventional enterprises. ("Can't understand why we're going bankrupt. The ol' extended warranty scam, er, BENEFIT... used to work like a charm.")

Rage rooms are your chance to be the proverbial "bull in the china shop" - except that you have to wait in line, you have to wear clothes and you don't get made into T-bone steaks afterwards. ("Conversion to steaks: bad for repeat business. I learned that at the seminar.")

Such venues could become a nationwide trend, but investors must weigh the startup costs. So far, liability insurance is costly, and landlords demand high rent. Even the late Fred Rogers would have been leery of rage rooms moving into the area. ("Won't you be my nei-hey, keep those ruffians away from King Friday XIII or this cardigan is going upside your head!")

Customers include couples on dates, birthday parties and families with children. Rage rooms also host bachelorette parties. My guess is that Masochist Mike will soon find he has the "stripper cop" business all to himself.

The prices cited by the Journal don't sound all that bad for 15 minutes of unbridled mayhem, but don't be surprised if the businessmen shift toward premium packages. They could scour the world for ever more exotic damaged objects to attract deep-pocketed customers. ("See if you can get the Sphinx, and that Venus de Milo chick.")

Folks who go to a rage room on a lark don't worry me. But is it wise to have the hotheads who really, really NEED a rage room driving through heavy traffic to get there? Maybe the rage rooms could send a self-driving shuttle to pick them up. ("No, I'm here to pick YOU up, not vice versa. Oh, my poor jangled microchips!")

Will the novelty of rage rooms wear off? Maybe, but I'm sure owners will find creative ways to keep consumers angry.

("Introducing: a brand-new selection of Pumpkin Spice keyboards and Pumpkin Spice pink flamingoes.")

Let's hope we don't see picketing by People for the Ethical Treatment of Ceramics. ("Going straight from boiling water to a ball pen hammer! What kind of life is that?")

The trend toward legalized marijuana could put a crimp in the business model by making customers too mellow. ("Aw, poor little soup bowl. You've got a chip missing, dude. Here, let me get some glue and patch you up.")

Try out a rage room if one comes to your neck of the woods. But make sure the protective clothing doesn't include shirts that announce, "I'm with Stupid - and Stupid is tired of being called Stupid, and Stupid is holding this big nine iron and..."

RESTROOM / FAMILY CHANGING ROOMS

Another phase of the Jaycee Park Renovation Project became much closer yesterday. The restroom / changing room was delivered. It is a precast ADA compliant facility. With a little scrambling and help from the city crew to line up the plumbing to line up with the foot size hole in the floor, it was set into place with the help of the crane.

Forest Service Seeks Comments On Southern Gravelly Mountain Grazing Project

The Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest (BDNF) has released its Notice of Intent (NOI) to prepare an Environmental Impact Study (EIS) for the Strawberry to Cascade allotment management plan (AMP) project. This EIS will assess domestic livestock (sheep) grazing on eight allotments on the Madison Ranger District in the southern Gravelly Mountains southeast of Ennis. This EIS would also ensure consistency with all laws, regulations and policies.

An issue of concern is potential effects of domestic sheep grazing on the wild Bighorn Sheep populations found on the BDNF. The concern is that domestic sheep grazing presents a disease transmission risk to the wild Bighorn sheep. Additional issues will be identified through scoping.

To learn more about the project and to view maps visit <https://www.fs.usda.gov/project/?project=54522>. These documents are also available in paper or CD formats upon request. Public comments are due by October 15, 2018.

Only individuals or entities who submit timely and specific written comments about the proposed project during the public comment period will be eligible to file an objection.

People may to submit comments to Dale Olson, Madison District Ranger, by one of the following methods; mail: Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest, Strawberry to Cascade Project, 5 Forest Service Road, Ennis MT 59729. Fax: (406) 682-4233, or email: comments-northernbeaverhead-deerlodge@fs.fed.us. Comments should include: 1) name, address, phone number, and organization represented, if any; 2) title of project on which the comments are being submitted; and 3) substantive comments including specific facts and supporting information for the District Ranger to consider. Please put "Comments - Strawberry to Cascade AMP" in the subject line for emailed comments.

For more information or questions concerning this project, contact Dale Olson, Madison District Ranger, dolson07@fs.fed.us, or Strawberry to Cascade Project Team Leader Jenna Roose, jjroose@fs.fed.us or (406) 682-4253.

----We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God, 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is the reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with the Bible are false.

In this final presentation of Christian love, the attributes of patient endurance, faith & commitment, trust, fortitude & perseverance, and focus on righteous principles. The verses quoted are in 1 Corinthians 13. Notice that each characteristic mentioned includes the phrase all things, leaving no situation uncovered.

Vs. 7 states that love "Bears (patiently endures) all things, believes (has faith & commitment to) all things, hopes (expects and trusts in) all things, endureth (has fortitude and perseveres in) all things."

Vs. 8 concludes this list of genuine loves qualities by stating that "Charity (love) never fails", which means that love never wanes and is never distracted or driven off course.

These attributes are critical to having peace and contentment in every arena of life. Practicing these qualities will bring harmony within the family unit. It will bring peace and fellowship within the church, the community, in the workplace, and in our schools.

Jesus pointed out that the most important of all the commandments is to "love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength. And the second is...you shall love your neighbor as yourself." (Mark 12:31-32)

He also taught in Matthew 7:12 that we should treat others in the same way as we would have others treat us. Christian love is not a selfish, demanding love. Christian love moves one to give to others without expecting them to give back. This applies to those who may not even be friendly toward us as taught by Jesus in Matthew 5:44 where He stated, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you."

This principle is diametrically opposed to human nature, but will go a long ways toward bringing peace and contentment to those who put it into practice.
