Captain Donald Lee Bodda

Captain Donald Lee Bodda died peacefully in Dillon, Montana on October 4, 2018 at the age of 74 with family by his side.

Captain Donald Bodda is survived by his wife, Gayle Bodda; children, Carol Bodda and Neif Bodda; Grandchildren Bobby Canfield, Donny Canfield, Bowan Bodda, Joshua Bodda, Caitlyn Bodda and Talen Bodda and 7 great grandchildren.

He is preceded in death by his mother and father, Cliff and Melissa Bodda and his son, Frederik Bodda.

Donald was born on October 23, 1943 in Toledo, WA to Cliff and Melissa Bodda. As a young child he moved to Alaska and Donald remembers his father giving him a shot gun, a small boat and 2 cans of Dennison soup and told him if you are going to make it, you are going to be tough. This is when Donald's love for the outdoors began. He was an avid hunter, trapper and fisherman, always with ties to Alaska. Donald and his family left Alaska in 1974 to live on a small farm in Chehalis, Washington until they sold the farm in 1999 to move to Sheridan, Montana.

Donald served in the US Navy, which eventually let him to his career as a Captain in the Merchant Marines, where he had extensive knowledge of the waters of the west coast and ports as far as Point Barrow, Alaska and the South Pacific. After retiring from the marine industry he helped his wife and son start a business, B & B Chinking, in 2000 and had this business for 12 years.

Donald became a Mason in 1983 and was an active member of the Chehalis Masonic Lodge #28. He became a member of the Dillon Masonic Lodge #16 when he moved to Montana. He served proudly for two years as the President of the Southern Montana Shriner Club. Donald received the 100 Million Dollar Club award in January 2018 for his work on the Shriners Hospital Awareness Program. Donald was a very committed Mason and Shriner and this was the basis of his spiritual beliefs.

At the request of Donald, he will be cremated, and a memorial will be held in the spring in Dillon, Montana.

Beaverhead Search and Rescue News

Submitted by: Mel Rice, Public Relations Officer

The month of September was relatively quiet for the Beaverhead Search and Rescue. There were two callout pages received by the membership. The first involved a 70 year old gentleman who rolled his 4 wheeler in the Canyon Creek area west of Melrose. It took the unit 16 hours to locate the individual and another 2 hours to get him off the mountain. He suffered a concussion, 9 broken ribs and a punctured lung. He is home making a slow recovery.

The second callout was activated when the Sheriff's office received a 911 alert from a hunters spot in the Big Sheep Creek area. As it turned out a gentleman accidentally pushed the alert button on his Spot which activated the 911 response. After the initial evaluation by search managers, it was determined to be a false alarm. The unit never made it out of town.

Each year the Beaverhead SAR membership takes their spouses out for dinner to express their appreciation for putting up with the early morning callouts and time away from families. This year the gathering took place at Sparky's Garage on Wednesday, September 26. During this evening out, the Unit also presents awards to the "Outstanding Member" and "Rookie of the Year". This year's recipients are; "Outstanding Member"-Alan Holt, and "Rookie of the Year"-Dusty Crowe. Please congratulate these two outstanding members on their well-deserved awards when you see them. They have been very active in training exercises, searches, fundraisers, and all other aspects of S&R throughout the year.

On Wednesday, October 3rd, the unit held its monthly meeting with 31 members in attendance. The meeting was called to order by commander, Alan Holt, at 7:08. The agenda was short. It was mentioned that Jennifer McKay was supposed to do "Hug a Tree" training with the Girl Scouts but due to conflicts they were not able to gather enough girls. It has been postponed for a later date. Other business included discussion of the two callouts, equipment to be ordered, and state refund program meeting. Equipment manager, Griz Clark, will be ordering Tracks for two of the units 4wheelers in preparation for hunting season and the winter season. He will also purchase gas cans for transporting spare gas to search areas when called out. Brian Vinson will be attending a meeting in Lewistown in regards to reimbursement funding for searches and rescues from the FWP and the state licensing agencies. It was also announced by "Fish Derby" chairman, Tommy Goins, that the Unit's annual fish derby fundraiser will be held on the 26th of January, 2019.

The general hunting season is rapidly approaching and is the time of year when weather can be very unpredictable. If you have lived in Montana for a month, you know just how rapidly weather conditions change and this time of year is no exception. The Beaverhead Search and Rescue wants to remind everyone going out to please be prepared. Not only is it important for you to be physically conditioned but also be prepared for the unexpected occurrences. Have the clothes for various conditions as well as extra food and water for the unexpected stayovers. Your hunting packs should also have fire starters. Before venturing out, go through your vehicles and make sure you have the proper equipment for them as well. A high lift jack, come-along, chains, shovel, axe/saw, and a tow rope are some of the more important essentials. One last thing and probably the most important, let people know where you are going and when you plan on returning. If something happens while you are out and you can't make it home, it is very beneficial to the Search and Rescue to have a starting point or general direction for a search. Take care out there and remember our moto "In the Business of Saving Lives".

The next meeting will be held November 7th. If interested in the Search and Rescue, come see what we are about. Visit the unit during one of its monthly meetings.

Pheasant hunters should be prepared to encounter bears

In Montana, bear country can be anywhere in the western half of the state and sometimes beyond. In recent years, grizzly bears have shown up in prairie habitats east of the Rocky Mountain Front.

For years, elk and deer hunters in western Montana have taken to the woods prepared for a grizzly bear encounter by carrying bear spray, following food storage guidelines and by keeping a watchful eye out for bear sign. However, with an expanding grizzly bear population into the prairie and agricultural lands in central Montana, bird hunters must now follow suit.

Autumn is the time of year when bears move off seasonal sources of food, such as berries and chokecherries, and start looking for other things to eat. This annual search for food and calories is called hyperphagia, and it's what bears do in preparation for a long winter's hibernation.

As bears become more common in prairie creek bottoms and brush rows, encounters with bird hunters become more frequent as well.

Bird hunters should understand they could be in close proximity to bears even if they're miles away from the Rocky Mountain Front. Hunters should be particularly careful near thick patches of brush and even more so in those thickets along canals and creeks.

If you encounter a grizzly bear while hunting, do NOT run or yell. Running and yelling may provoke an attack. Instead, if you encounter a grizzly bear, speak calmly and back away slowly while preparing whatever form of defense you have. Leave the area immediately.

Most grizzly bear attacks occur during surprise encounters where the grizzly becomes startled and attacks out of self-defense. Avoiding a surprise encounter is the best way to prevent a grizzly bear attack.

Pheasant season starts Oct. 6 and hunters in grizzly bear country should be prepared for an encounter by carrying bear spray and being ready to use it, hunting with a partner, and by always letting someone know where you'll be. Additionally, just like in the mountains, hunters should look for bear sign and avoid areas where the sign is fresh. If possible, make plenty of noise in areas where visibility is limited, even in areas where you wouldn't expect bears.

Grizzly bears are currently listed on the Endangered Species List in the Northern Continental Divide Ecosystem, which includes the Rocky Mountain Front and points further east. Though the population in the NCDE has reached recovery goals, the federal delisting process for the population is just getting underway.

With the federal protections in place, FWP coordinates all bear management activities with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

Montana Western Announces 10 Minute Play Festival As Part Of The Bank Of Commerce Performing Arts Series.

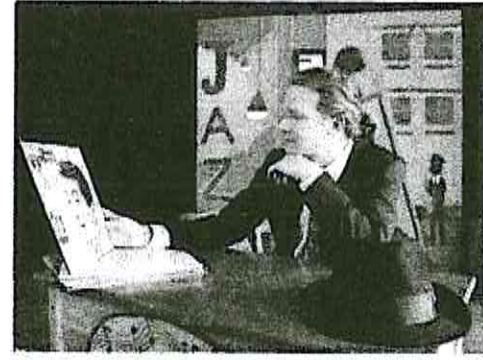

The University of Montana Western's Theatre students are pleased to announce the 16th Annual Ten-Minute Play Festival to be held October 11, 12, 13 and 15, as part of the Bank of Commerce Performing Arts Series. The performances will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night and will be held in the Small Auditorium (room 314) in Main Hall on the University of Montana Western campus.

Over 30 students will perform as cast, crew and directors for the 14 plays presented. This year's theme is "Walls," and students throughout campus have been challenged to write and submit a ten-minute play to be performed for the festival. Every night's program is different, since four or five plays will be presented each night. Audience members can attend the entire festival for the price of one ticket.

At the end of the first three nights' performances, the audience will vote for their two favorite shows, with the winners performing again for the final night of performance. The overall winners will be chosen on the final night by the audience.

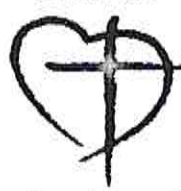

The directors all come from the Play Production course taught on the campus this semester block by adjunct professor Larry Brazill. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for seniors at the door; Montana Western students are admitted free of charge. Some of the plays contain mature themes and are not recommended for children.

For more information about the 16th Annual Ten-Minute Play Festival, please contact Larry Brazill by calling 406-683-7038.

Michael Eldridge, a junior at Montana Western, will perform in "This was our Music" by Mike Rothschild during the 16th Annual Ten-Minute Play Festival at Montana Western.
