William R. Banning

William R. Banning passed away peacefully surrounded by family November 23rd, 2018.

Bill was born William Robert Banning on March 6, 1943 in Dillon, Montana to Wallis and Esther Banning. He attended Beaverhead County High School And graduated in 1961 with Honors and Scholarship to Montana Tech to become a Metallurgical Engineer.

In June of 1963 he married his high school sweetheart Linda Walker. Their first child Robby was born December 14, 1964 before he graduated with a Bachelor's of Science in Mineral Dressing. He received two more scholarships while finishing his Bachelor's degree in Butte, Montana June 5, 1966. May 31, 1967 his second child Nicky was born keeping the household busy between school, work, and children.

His professor contacted him 2 years later to offer him a position; teaching undergraduates in his specialty to obtain his Master's Degree on June 6, 1971; which he received a Who's Who among colleges and Universities. He went on to have 3 more children Rochelle born December 28, 1973; Renatta born March 3, 1977; Lesli born February 6, 1981; 22 grandchildren; and 11 great grandchildren.

His Mining Career took him to many different places: Arizona, Colorado, Montana, Washington, Nevada, South Dakota, South Carolina, and then back to Arizona where he retired.

Everyone who knew Bill loved him whether they knew him personally or professionally. He was amazing at leading by example especially in a professional setting. Many of the people who worked for him said he got right in and worked with them and always made them feel like it was a team effort. He was so humble and didn't like it when put in the spotlight. When Bill wasn't working his greatest joy in life was spending time with his grandchildren. Some of the greatest memories the grandchildren have are: Hiking, Fishing, Whitewater rafting, Playing Piano, Playing Banjo; and looking for buried treasure in the backyard with his metal detector. But most of all, his sense of humor. He was cracking jokes making everyone laugh right up to the very end of his life.

Dedication of the grave and burial will take place at Mountain View Cemetery in Dillon, Montana December 4th at 2:00 PM.

John Richard Kerns

It is with heavy hearts that the family of John Richard Kerns announces his passing on Sunday, November 25, 2018. Jack, as he was always known, was 83 at the time of his passing.

He leaves behind a very large family scattered all over the US and into Canada. His 7 children: Kathleen, Shawn, Tree, Patrick, Kelly, Alan, and Reyna. His 8 grandchildren: Autumn, Jeannette, Shawn, Natasha, Shawn Patrick, Aspen, Claude, and Liam. His 5 great grandchildren: Rain, Noah, Aspen Jr, Jack, and Annabelle. His 3 brothers: Donald, Thomas, and Bobby (Brother Brian Kerns); as well as 16 nieces and nephews, 23 great nieces and nephews, and many cousins. He was predeceased by his parents, Patrick Francis Kerns and Hermina Cecilia ("Minnie") Schierhoff, his sister Rosemary, and brothers Patrick Jr. and James. He also leaves behind the many friends who became family in the Twin Bridges, Dillon and Sheridan area, folks who cared genuinely about him and have expressed their heartfelt regard for Jack.

Jack began his life in Pennsylvania and was in Montana when the end came. He spent several years in Colorado and especially loved living in the Walden area very much. It was there he fell in love with photography under the bright aspens and high mountains.

He then moved to the Bitterroot Valley in Western Montana where he would spend the next 20 plus years. There, surrounded by the Bitterroot and Sapphire ranges, he created a little Eden around his home, growing gardens, trees and Wild rose bushes. He counted amongst his dearest friends the row of ancient massive cottonwood trees that lined the laneway. He loved putting his hands into the earth to coax his little gardens to grow.

In the early 2000's, Jack moved to a whole new place, the Ruby Valley in Montana. He found there a kindred spirit in the form of the Ruby River and loved to spend time just being quiet along its banks. He found a special place in the Ruby Valley and Tobacco Root Mountains. He touched so many lives in the Dillon/Twin Bridges/Sheridan area and shared his special, sweet wisdom. Tips for making the best apple pies, advice about many things to many people. He offered encouragement and when he listened, people knew he was truly hearing them.

During his long life, Jack had many professions from electrician to handyman to construction. But his favorite of all was when he worked as a caterer in forest fire fighting camps. He spent many, many summers feeding the brave men and women who fight wildfires. When they arrived in camps, the first thing the firefighters checked was whether Jack was working the kitchens, knowing their meals would be wonderful and prepared by a person who cooked with love. He learned to cook from his mother, Minnie, and enjoyed nothing more than to prepare a meal meant to be shared and enjoyed.

Jack's last years were hard on him but he rarely complained. He shared many conversations about dying with his family and friends. He always saw dying as another facet of living and he was even curious about what happens next. He was ready to make the journey and welcomed it. He strove to make sure his children, family and friends were also at peace with the idea of his passing, and we were. What a gift!

Jack has donated his remains to science so it will be some time before the family has his remains in order to have a celebration of life. When that time comes, the family will announce the details here. In the meantime, Jack would want us to celebrate his life with music and dancing and joy in our memories of him, to find the beauty that is in us and around us all, and to live in peace and kindness. That is the best way to honor him.

In the meantime, the family will be lighting a candle on the Solstice from our individual locations as a way to celebrate Jack's life. The Solstice falls on Friday December 21 between 3-3:30 pm, so that's when the candles will be lit. The family would like to invite anyone who knew and loved Jack to join us in lighting a candle, maybe play some of your favorite music and do a little dance. Jack would love a tribute like that.

"He had the eyes of a painter,

Heart of a maker of songs.

His words fell like rain on the dry dusty plain,
Precious and so quickly gone."

SOME DOG GONE GOOD NEWS FOR A CHANGE!

On November 28, 2018 at approximately 11:20 PM Police, Fire, and ambulance responded to a structure fire on Kentucky street at Oliver Lane. The structure was discovered to be a hay shed containing Labrador Retriever puppies. Dillon Police Officers Ceth Haggard, Nikki Cowperthwait, Ian Ternes and Deputy Jeremiah Wyrick were able to save the puppies from the shed upon arrival and the fire department contained the fire from spreading to occupied structures. There were no reports of immediate injuries.

Thank you officers, dispatchers, and volunteer fire fighters for your quick response as this incident could have easily spread to homes in close proximity.

Celebrity Sandwich

If "Information is the Currency of Democracy" why is it sandwiched between celebrity, threat, tragedy and advertising? Zombies, 'alien' invasion, 'special' victims/heroes, violence always the 'perfect' extreme? I went looking.

There is an historic precedent for this democratic sand trap. In the late 18 and early 1900's leading up to the Roaring 20's, 70% of large US Newspapers were owned by one company. Hearst Communications also owned railroads, printing presses and extensive Forests and Mines here in Montana among its principle investments. William Randolph Hearst played a part in both New York and Montana business, labor, and politics.

Among his Wall Street familiars were Industrialists and investors like JP Morgan, Rockefeller/Standard Oil, United Fruit/Bush, and one Edward Bernays, 1891-1995. Whose book "Propaganda" 1928, states..

"The conscious and intelligent manipulation of the organized habits and opinions of the masses is an important element in democratic society....In almost every act of our daily lives, whether in the sphere of politics or business, in our social conduct or ethical thinking, we are dominated by a relatively small number of persons. Who understand the mental processes and social patterns of the masses."

Bernays, the nephew of Sigmund Freud, worked for 60 years with Govt War and corporate advertising like GE, big Tobacco, Proctor and Gamble, Westinghouse, CBS. The term 'propaganda' fell out of fashion when Joseph Goebbels used Bernays' instructions to incite German nationalism in WWII. It is now Public Relations and is applicable in political and corporate power and Cold War economic full spectrum dominance. Especially in South American fruit and rubber, 'Black Gold' and war investments. Examples are Allen Dulles' CIA Operation Mockingbird 1953, PBSUCCESS 1954, Vietnam's Phoenix Program, Red Scare, Gary Webb, and every commercial ever seen.

Standard Oil and United Fruit bought extensive national advertising in Hearst News Papers during the 1920s. Similar to the Roman empire machine, salacious details of celebrity wealth/misbehavior served well to obscure and frame political influence on public markets. Tax cuts for billionaires and financial deregulation immediately preceded both the 1929 Great Depression and 2007 crash. Hearst' Yellow Journalism, "Remember the Maine!" also served to galvanize public support for the 1898 Spanish-American war effort that gained colonial territory for wealthy exploit of the Philippines, Puerto Rico, and Cuba, on the back of the public dollar. Similar to Iraq, Nigeria, and Syria today.

Today's economy and media seem a close mirror of that time. Hearst, whose public persona espoused progressive ideology, printed a perfect storm of celebrity, threat, and tragedy granting his wealthy clients full access to public market power. Just like today muckrakers were unpaid and unheard but celebrity intrigue, sexual identity and religious persecution portray a simulacrum of accountable public wrath by exploiting unacknowledged societal unrest to coerce conflict (threat) while specifically ridiculing ideals of equality. Rupert Murdoch(Fox, WSJ, Comcast) Prince alWaleed bin Talal(Disney, Twitter, Citibank) Jeff Bezos(Washington Post) are major media owners. Six multinational corporations own 90+% of US access to information(50 in 1980) and they have reduced Journalists nationally by 60% since 1980. For profit. Is it accidental that the billionaire's media labels itself "enemy of the(there) people"? How do their gladiator games, sex/scandal, violence, lies of omission, and conflict of interest help our democracy, or freedom?

The irony is too rich to ignore. Why would Money choose to print information that may educate a democratic audience to their own exploitation? Or how their informed participation may mitigate that systemic abuse? But sex, fear, identity, -threat and hyperbole advertise well and frame discourse between artificial poles, ignite physiologic reaction to overrule reasoned choice, and exploit ignorant bias to bait the unity of public outrage toward favored icons. In a feudal and impoverished corporate democracy, the people will always dislike disparity. Would corporate media as well? Their brief profit of one issue/topic cannot rationalize market loss in sustained research exposing industry power. The poor are a resource that devalues when educated to its power. Their democratic retribution alone is enough to justify the smallest, least stable victim tribe (wealth) to invest in fear and profitable control strategy. A true difference may be that wealth chooses its victim-hood and poverty does not. If information enables freedom, why restrict it at any level of society? Am I free if I can't afford it? Democratic oligarchy restricts my information to persuade the continuity of their market. Change is Freedom and anathema to monopoly markets.

If one distrusts the world, his fellow electors, money, information, or freedom, merited or not, it may become a place that demands control, democratically manifest in the form of the "Security State". Where the few are never contained as the many. Can colonial empire be democratic? Sure, but that, as yet, depends on whether the elector identifies more as the Colonist or the colonized. Depends on the weight of your (vote?)wallet, right?

Its works like this. 1)Democratic Empire needs an enemy to justify non-social expense, preferably one that impedes access to desired commodity. 2) a threat is implied triggering cultural beliefs with incendiary rhetoric. ie Jews, Muslims, 9/11 3) use that fear to endow the democratic state, controlled by wealth, with the peoples power to carry out their own austerity/ profit goals. Halliburton, Goldman Sachs, prisons, prohibition, and war for profit 4) attack all opposition as vilified archetypal icons to discredit ideologies, reducing all legitimate criticism to an enemy painted face. 5) use familiar vocabulary and images to reference or instill cognitive short cuts useful as coded triggers to goad audience reaction/votes ie 'wedge issues.' Here are the best two examples I can illustrate, you will have more.

1) The "Mosque at Ground Zero" A great stink was briefly made, primarily by one news outlet, crying enemy invasion! near our scene of universal catastrophe. Their uproar ended abruptly when it was exposed that the mosque's primary critics were employed by the same co-owner of the mosque. That owner, Saudi Prince alWaleed bin Talal, has been FOX News largest share holder behind the Murdoch family for years. Or was, until just before Bill O'Reilly's 2017 $35M anonymous payoff and flight. But 2010 was a mid-term election year and the first bought with the Supreme Court's "Citizens United" anonymous "corporate person-hood=free speech cash", and the momentary rise of a missing Tea Party. 1) an enemy was identified, possessing a potent stigma of economic, State and Political security. 2) threat was implied as invasion and cultural loss against a weak State protector. 3) a security state requires candidates to frame a threat to apply their own authority/savior alibi in support of the finance state. 4) An opposition straw-man is labeled "weak, unpatriotic, immoral, anti-'success', anti-god" and as such a threat to tribal identity and personal security in the face of a 'tangible' scapegoat threat. Reducing choice then providing the hero authority to save or sacrifice at need to appease 'popular' demand, and you have a 'winner', or war. 5) Coercive images, words and semantic meaning are nearly ubiquitous with corporate media and advertising power is self sustaining, for friends. The 2010 President/Congress refused to investigate or restrain Wall Street fraud and war/debt, but Birther's?

2) The Facebook data scandal. Your data was harvested, analyzed, correlated with others like you, and edited between sharers to gauge applied emotional value to News headline vocabulary. Modeling semantic manipulative potential on a huge/instant scale. Millions of people were individually served micro-targeted disinformation during the 2016 election. One company responsible, Cambridge Analytica, is a shell company under SCL Group. Strategic Communications Labs is still employed by the US Govt in Iraq for pacification in support of American occupation. SCL Group is partially owned by billionaire Robert Mercer who founded both Breitbart News and Cambridge Analytica with a Harvard /Naval Intelligence officer trained in Psychological Warfare. That man also ran the Presidents 2016 campaign, whose single largest donor was Mercer whose daughter Rebekah Mercer was the Republican National Committee Treasurer at the time. The Harvard man, Steve Bannon, produced media with Bill O'Reilly's 'coincidental' #METOO cohort Harvey Weinstein who started the campaign. Funded by Mercer, they produced with Whitehouse aid David Bossie, the 'Citizens United' money video for the Supreme Court, and the Tom Cruise film American Made, 2017. Imagining one man involved in all that is only easy if you can afford it. But Facebook betrayed our trust and 'coincidentally' its own vast potential to enable our democracy.

That billionaire is CEO of Renaissance Technologies. A highly exclusive Hedge Fund using high frequency trading and Big Data predictive analytics to be the single most profitable private US Fund. Their instant knowledge of millions of peoples choice patterns provides reliable trigger points with which to instigate markets ie. Consumer Public Relations. Imagine if he had fellow money/tribe that shared his contempt for the vulgar mass? All RenTec investors have a huge minimum buy in, are employees and are anonymous. Except Robert Mercer's co-CEO Jim Simons who was Hillary's largest 2016 donor. Is this a "coincidence" or a manufactured polarity of electoral "choice"?

This means that two co-workers were top donors to both(+) 2016 candidates while also delivering and profiting from the disinformation that surrounded them. Cambridge Analytica has been implicated in disruptive electoral disinformation in Kenya, Italy, Brazil, and Brexit. They created and funded a case to overturn Supreme Court precedent to enable their disparity of electoral influence and are tied to METoo, a convenient tool to fill TV with 'trigger' time and label the 'left' with 'power' on the back of sexual rhetoric overruling policy analysis. But perfectly poking voter insecurity. 1) An enemy of wealth is anything not of their exclusive tribe ie: the electorate, equality and you. If one can believe he is wealthy, welcome to the self-adopted tribe. 2) an ambiguous threat to tribal status or survival only needs a straw-man for a victim's idealism to empower the smallest tribe. 3) insolent billionaires are a perfect victim/father savior from the civil unrest of Black Lives Matter, METoo, and economic deprivation curated by timely topical tweets of semantic triggers gathered from Facebook data. 4) the paid 'Black Bloc' icons like ANTIFA, Neo-Nazis serve well to sideline substantive criticism and frame civil protest of the corporate coup. 5) In corporate propaganda, Right, Left, Red, Blue, are archetypes to cultivate selective acceptance and used as a collective impediment to discourse. Identifying with them enables their power, and identifying this disables them. Their trap is to incite a State Constitutional Convention, to 'fix' the conflicted profit they are paid. Selling the sizzle and not the steak.

It seems the Stormy Daniels media threat, zombies, aliens, sex, 'Opioids', and Pres. 'Birther Tweets' are part of a strategy to disable democracy and fertilize soil fit for totalitarian tiptoe by contriving our electoral power within a mental landscape of insecurity. They are a 'bread and circus' of empire behind which money can usurp our sacred duty.

My guess is, a democratic people who believe they are constantly under threat are more likely to use public power in predictably marketable and authoritarian ways demanding centralized power (Security State), that their fear will enable the Corporate State against the people to 'cure' their specter of terror/economic instability. If informed social discourse is the Currency of Democracy, why is it so elusive in our popular need? Does it benefit the many poor who need an informed and cohesive majority to attain social benefit? Or the inherited empire who see informed democratic power as a coercive tool of simple majority and an existential threat? What would Kim Kardashian say?

Bible Truth...Who should mankind worship?

----We believe the following: (1) the Bible was given by the inspiration of God, 2 Timothy 3:16-17; (2) all statements made in this and any ensuing articles will be based on what the Bible says; (3) the Bible only is the reliable source of spiritual & doctrinal truth; (4) all beliefs in conflict with the Bible are false.

Mankind has an innate belief that there is a supreme entity that should be worshipped. The various 'religions' of the world have thousands of gods and goddesses they consider beings to honor, worship, and obey. Hinduism alone is said to have 33 million gods and goddess. The "Encyclopedia of Gods" lists over 2500 deities, but this list is not all-inclusive.

Many religions manufacture a variety of images to which they attribute power in various areas of life. These inanimate, man-made idols are given credit for protecting, providing for, and caring for those that worship and trust in them. It's interesting that God declares how ludicrous this practice is in Isaiah 44:13-19. This reference refers to one who might fall a tree and use some of the wood to build a fire for warmth and for baking bread. After that he would carve a human image from what was left of the same wood, bow before this image in an act of worship, and pray to this idol for deliverance. God's statement about the sheer foolishness of this is found in Isaiah 44:19, "And none considers in his heart, neither is their knowledge nor understanding to say, I have burned part of it in the fire; yea, I have also baked bread on the coals of it; I have roasted flesh, and eaten it: and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? Shall I fall down to the stock of a tree?"

It is sad that millions have misdirected their inborn desire to worship toward false gods/images that are manufactured by the hands of men. Doing so is to rebel against God's command not to make or bow down to carved images of anything in heaven, in earth, beneath the earth, or in the water, Exodus 20:4-5.

Romans 1:22-23 states that those who make or worship any such image become fools before God.
