Journalism's Credibility Takes Yet Another Hit

By Rich Manieri

"We don't report rumors."

That seemed obvious when a newsroom colleague said it to me some 20 years ago.

We had received information - which turned out to be unfounded - regarding some salacious stories about a local politician.

"Wow, it's a good thing we don't report rumors," my colleague said, as we laughed off such an absurd notion.

What has changed in two decades?

We now report rumors, and innuendo, and speculation, and a lot of stuff that's flat out made up.

When Special Counsel Robert Mueller's office has to release a statement debunking a report that the president of the United States committed a federal crime, you know things are bad.

That report came from BuzzFeed, whose top story as of this writing is "37 Confessions About Sex That Will Make You Feel Less Alone." While you're reading that, you might as well take the quiz to find out what pizza you are.

If BuzzFeed is a legitimate news outlet, I'm Rasputin.

The story that President Trump ordered his personal attorney Michael Cohen to lie to Congress was broken by a reporter who has, at least according to CNN, a checkered past that includes plagiarism. That's like trusting a surgeon who has a history of not washing his hands.

And yet, even though no other major news outlet in the country could corroborate the BuzzFeed story, that didn't stop them from reporting BuzzFeed's "bombshell."

In other news, as we say in the business, a Kentucky teenager and his high school are dealing with threats of violence following a misleading, 30-second piece of video from Washington, D.C. that went viral over the weekend.

It was widely reported that a group of teens, wearing "Make America Great Again" hats, were harassing a Native American man. The young man in the center of the video was reported to be "smirking." Social media then did what it does, and before anyone bothered to take an extra five minutes to look a little deeper, the poor kid was worse than Hitler. Predictably, the video triggered a barrage of hateful tweets from Hollywood types, among others.

But alas, a longer version of the video, which told a different story, was subsequently released. Apparently, the Kentucky teens were pretty much minding their own business when they were verbally harangued by another group and approached by the Native American man.

The Covington Catholic High School student at the center of the controversy, Nick Sandmann, said he was "mortified" that anyone would believe he and his classmates would do such a thing.

The school was closed Tuesday due to safety concerns.

And finally, I give you breaking news from PhillyVoice.com a Philadelphia-based news site trying to compete with Philly.com.

PhillyVoice, citing "more than half dozen" anonymous sources, reported that Philadelphia Eagles quarterback Carson Wentz is "selfish" and "egotistical" and a general cancer in the locker room.

After the story broke, several veteran players, who did go on the record, rushed to Wentz's defense, with one player calling the report "#fakenews."

I don't know if there is anything to the story or not. But I do know there are 53 men on an NFL roster. If you're going to run a story that damages a star player's reputation and potentially hurts his marketability, you might want to have more than seven anonymous sources.

But this is journalism, circa 2019. Report first, apologize later. Rush to judgement, as long as we agree with the verdict. Truth is relative.

I take no pleasure in writing this. Journalism is my chosen profession. I teach it to college students. But it's becoming more and more difficult to defend.

I don't think it's a stretch to say that the three stories I highlight here would have never seen the light of day 30 years ago. The business was never perfect but the standards were different then, they just were, and there was no social media to throw petrol on smoldering embers.

The world has changed, and so has journalism.

Someone else reporting that something might be true seems to be enough.

I'm always reminding students that journalists have power, but with power comes responsibility. You're reporting on real people who have lives and families. There are consequences.

My hope is that these 19 and 20-year-olds will be the ones who restore some sort of order.

Before the profession itself becomes a rumor.

Three Members Inducted into Sigma Tau Delta

Courtney George

On Dec. 5, 2018 The English Department at Montana Western inducted three new members into its Alpha Epsilon Lota chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, an international honor society.

Courtney George from Big Fork, Mont., Melody McHaley from Philipsburg, Mont., and Cassandra Punohu from Anaconda, Mont., have all attained high academic achievement in the field of English studies.

The Society strives to provide cultural stimulation on college campuses and promote interest in literature and the English language in surrounding communities. They foster all aspects of the English disciplines including literature, language, and writing.

Melody McHaley

"The English Department is proud of these students' high achievements and commitment to the study of literature," said Bethany Blankenship, English professor at UMW.

"While conferring distinction for high achievement in English language and literature in undergraduate, graduate, and professional studies, the society also exhibits high standards of academic excellence by enriching literacy.

Punohu feels being a part of this society complements her academic goals. She is excited to grow and learn as a student through Sigma Tau Delta. Membership in the Society also includes having the opportunity to submit personal works.

"Maholo nui loa for this opportunity, Sigma Tau Delta," said Punohu, which means thank you very much in Hawaiian.

For more information about Montana Western's English Department, please email bethany.blankenship@umwestern.edu or call 406-683-7360.

Spanky's Garage Is closing its doors forever!

After 18 years of service to the Dillon and surrounding communities we have decided to close the doors for good. It's been a wonderful experience and journey and I'd like to say "Thank You" for entrusting your vehicles to our care and service over the years. It is now time to begin a new chapter and focus our attention on Mad Dog Towing, as well as enjoying some downtime with friends and family. We are no longer taking appointments but will happily point you in the right direction for all your automotive repair needs, just give us a call.

Please be on the lookout in the coming days for an announcement of a Celebration we'd like to host at the shop, so everyone to stop by one last time and say "Good Bye".

Sincerely, Brad Reis

Iola Else Honored at the Annual Montana Pro Rodeo Hall & Wall of Fame Banquet

Retired University of Montana Western rodeo coach Iola Else and former world Wrangler Bullfighting champion Loyd Ketchum are a couple of the individuals to be honored Saturday night at the Montana Pro Rodeo Hall and Wall of Fame in Billings.

Along with the Lifetime Achievement and Legends awards, the Western Heritage Awards, Event of the Year, Lady of the West, Great Montana Ranches and Montana Rodeo Families will be honored.

The Kootenai River Rodeo in Libby has been selected the Great Montana Pro Rodeo, while Northwest College of Powell, Wyoming, is being honored as the Great Montana College Rodeo Program.

Iola Else will receive the Lifetime Achievement Award. The Idaho native has been part of the UM Western rodeo program for 50 years, starting as a competitor in 1969. She became the head coach in 1994 and was selected the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Coach of the Year in 2014 and 2018. She retired as the Bulldogs' coach after the College National Finals Rodeo this past June.

One of the Legends honorees, Ketchum was a top bullfighter during his career. Along with winning the world bullfighting title in 1991, he was selected to work the National Finals Rodeo, the Professional Bull Riders World Finals, the Dodge National Circuit Finals Rodeo, the CNFR, the National High School Finals Rodeo and the Indian National Finals Rodeo. Ketchum, of Miles City, is a member of the Pendleton Round-Up and Ellensburg Rodeo Hall of Fames.

Other legends inductees are: Pat Howey, Jim Baisch, Chuck Henson and Chandler Earl (Feek) Tooke. Tooke, a stock contractor out of Ekalaka, is considered a pioneer in breeding bucking stock.

Other Western Heritage Award winners are: Hubing Ranch, Connie Cox, Cliff Wolfe, Lee Patterson, 320 Guest Ranch, Douglas D. Averill, Raymond and Christine Koch, Rex and Charlotte Koch.

The Bucking Horse Sale in Miles City is being honored as the Event of the Year, while Judy Wagner is being honored as the Lady of the West.

The Great Montana Ranches Award is going to Quarter Circle T Ranch, IX Ranch, Cross Four Ranch, Davidson Cattle Company, Ekwortzel Ranch, Highland Livestock, Vermandel Ranch and Eickhoff Ranch.

The Montana Rodeo Families are Bud Smith, along with Bill and Jennifer Davis.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES DILLON

In 2018, my law firm celebrated its 38th year of providing legal services to our clients and I have been practicing law for 42 years. As we moved into 2018, I decided to sell my 1031 property exchange business, American Equity Exchange, to a friendly competitor, Accruit, LLC, and work for Accruit as Executive Vice-President and part of their executive management team.

As a result of that decision, three of my key staff, Michele Smith, Dana Huffaker and Shanda Turner are now also working for Accruit. Rosemary Griffin retired in June and Jeni Schmauch and Bobbi Konen chose to pursue other vocations. Accruit could have easily continued to service our clients from its Denver office but decided to invest in this community and is renting part of my office space in Dillon. Our exchange company is now part of a larger organization giving our property exchange clients more and better resources.

Karen Kipp continues to work with me in my law firm but in making the decision to join forces with Accruit, I also made the decision to wind down and eventually end my law practice. It's been a wonderful ride and I have a priceless tapestry in my mind of names, faces and stories which will be with me the rest of my life. I could certainly continue the practice but I no longer have the time and energy to run two businesses. I am excited about the opportunity I have to continue in the property exchange business and spend more time with my wonderful family.

Dana Pepper and Bina Peters at River and Range Law, P.C. in Bozeman will continue to represent our clients who are still involved in the water rights re-adjudication process. I am referring my other clients and friends who need legal assistance to highly qualified attorneys who can assist them with their legal needs. Karen and I will continue to work to deliver past and current files to our clients and ease their transition to other representation.

Thank you so much for your business and support over the years. I have been honored to serve you, your families and this community. My co-workers and I at Accruit-Dillon and my family will continue to be a part of this community. My family loves our home on Carrigan Lane and look forward to making memories there. My New Year wish for all of you is continued safety and prosperity in 2019 and the years to come!

Bible Truth...Values, Gods vs. Mans [part 1]

[Statement of belief: the Bible only is the source of all truth and all beliefs in conflict with the Bible are false.]

Tremendous changes have occurred in America since the end of WWII. While some have been positive, many have been negative. Lawlessness, drugs, alcohol, violence, murder, immorality, and various forms of abuse are running rampant. It is interesting that the surge away from God, prayer, and the Bible into a humanistic philosophy parallels these changes. For those not familiar with humanism it is the egotistical philosophy that man has within himself the "ability and responsibility to lead ethical lives of personal fulfillment that aspire to the greater good," without God or other supernatural belief.

The evidence indicates, however, that man CANNOT base what he believes regarding what is right, wrong, moral, honest, or ethical on what he has formulated without God as promoted by this philosophy. Under a system in which Biblical values have been rejected we are told it's fine to take whatever we want, do whatever we want to do, say whatever we want to say, and believe whatever we want to believe without fear of negative consequences and without consideration to how our actions may affect others. The result of this formula is a world out of control. As these problems have increased many man-made organizations have been established to educate the public and help overcome them with very little results. The evidence seems to indicate that they will never be solved using solutions invented by man apart from God's guidance.

In this series we'll consider God's guidelines for man's well-being as stated in the Ten Commandments. Though these commandments are given in the Old Testament the basic principles are repeated in the New Testament. Because these commandments were spoken by God, they will be more effective than anything man formulates because God's commands, contrary to mans, are not based on: (a) man's prejudices and morality; (b) the latest popularity polls; (c) the worldly desires of people; (d) the purposes of politicians or governments. The effectiveness of law is determined by the willingness of people to obey that law! That's a huge problem in our chest-beating, muscle-flexing, idolizing, "it's all about me" society.

After 18 years of service to the Dillon and surrounding communities we have decided to close the doors for good. It's been a wonderful experience and journey and I'd like to say "Thank You" for entrusting your vehicles to our care and service over the years. It is now time to begin a new chapter and focus our attention on Mad Dog Towing, as well as enjoying some downtime with friends and family. We are no longer taking appointments but will happily point you in the right direction for all your automotive repair needs. Just give us a call. Please be on the lookout in the coming days for an announcement of a celebration we'd like to host at the shop, so everyone to stop by one last time and say "Good Bye".
