LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

BY REP. TOM WELCH HD 72 - 2/10/19

Greetings from a cold and windy Helena where we have completed nearly a third of our expected 90-day Legislative session. Both Floor sessions and Committee hearings lengthened this past week as the complexity of introduced Bills grew.

Bills addressing Infrastructure and Medicaid reform are expected to begin to work their way through the Legislative process in the next week or two. Every session, money is spent on infrastructure. For example, in the 2017 Session, $173 million was spent for building projects, renewable resource grants, reclamation and development grants and for the Treasure State Endowment Program. Projects for Cultural Preservation at Bannack, the Poindexter Slough fishery enhancement, and City of Dillon water were included as were area projects such as the new Veterans Home in Butte and a bridge project in Virginia City. Another $900 million was spent as Montana's share of highway projects in cooperation with the Federal government.

However, substantial new bonding to fund infrastructure projects has not passed the Legislature in years and has become a source of much discord. Work is underway to put in place via Legislation, a structured plan which going forward would tie bonding levels to Montana's measured financial status, allowing for shorter bond terms and higher bond ratings which should result in lower borrowing rates and consistent bonding at some level every Legislative session. Additionally, emphasis is being placed towards on-going maintenance of our existing infrastructure rather than always looking to build new.

With respect to Medicaid reform, at least two Bills should be introduced in the next 10 days or so. The Bill with which I am the most familiar, including having had the opportunity for input, is being referred to as the Medicaid Reform and Integrity Act (MeRIA). This Bill looks to build upon the strengths of the expiring HELP Act while closing known loopholes, holding participants accountable and ensuring Montana's program is cost efficient for the State today and going forward. I will pass further information on as it becomes available.

Although I have not been able to visit with everyone that has made it to Helena recently to observe or to testify at Bill hearings due to my own Legislative duties, I do want to Thank You for your involvement in the Legislative process. In Montana, we truly do have a citizens' legislature and your involvement is invaluable. Also, I am pleased to hear that many of you are following along via

Sagebrush & Snowdrifts 4-H Selling Beaverhead Honey

As the days are getting longer, it is time to start preparing for our celebrated Dillon summers. Warm, sun drenched days, full of hard-work, memorable events and visitors wanting a taste of our Dillon lifestyle. You can savor those warm summer days right now, and get ready to share Dillon with your visiting friends and relatives with Beaverhead Honey.

During the month of February, the Sagebrush & Snowdrifts 4-H is selling Beaverhead Honey as a club fund raiser. Beaverhead Honey Co.'s traditional Raw, Unfiltered Honey and their new product, Creamy Honey are both available from Sagebrush & Snowdrifts members. Creamy Honey is processed without additional heat to control crystallization and maintain a smooth, spreadable consistency.

"Beaverhead Honey minimally processes their honey to preserve the taste, quality and fragrance that makes it so popular" said Daniel Martin, club vice president. Daniel added, "Beaverhead Honey is a local product, so all of the fund-raiser money stays in Dillon."

Daniel continued, "We have new packaging options this year, including 12-ounce honey bears, 24-ounce squeeze bottles and 40-ounce and 5-pound honey tubs. Honey bears are the ideal 'Dillon' souvenir for friends, relatives and other visitors."

Daniel stated, "Our club is offering five (5) different bundles of Raw, Unfiltered and Creamy Honey, and can customize any bundle by adding-on the ever-popular 12-ounce honey bears."

To purchase premium-quality Beaverhead Honey, or for more information, please contact any Sagebrush & Snowdrifts 4-H member or Daniel Martin at 925-2649.

There is also an order sheet available at Womack's Printing Place, 126 N Montana.

The Handshake

By: Bryce Angell

He sat behind the table, all his guns laid in a row. I'd spotted him, across the room, at our yearly town gun show. His dark black beard and solid frame were daunting at first sight. Then I noticed his old shotgun. Looked to brighten up my night. The grizzled man stared at me, then he handed me the gun. He said, "She's sure a beauty. Take a closer look for fun." A Remington 870 with shorter barrel to boot. Had the butt snugged to my shoulder when I asked, "How does it shoot?" He offered me a smile, and then he pinched another chew. He said, "There ain't none better. This old gun is meant for you" I slightly uttered, "What's the price?" He asked a worthy fare. But my wallet fell a little short. I'd spent the cash elsewhere. I feared someone would snatch the shotgun if I stepped away. So, I asked how much he'd need to hold while getting cash to pay. He reached, then opened up a hand. His grip as hard as lead. "A handshake's all I need today." And he meant just what he said. His eyes dang near looked through me. A keen but gentle look. Pure honesty conveyed to me. And a handshake's all it took. I found the nearest ATM and pulled out all my cash. I hurried back so doggone fast! A record ten-yard dash! His shotgun now belonged to me. The gunsmith held his word. Another handshake clinched the deal. A marvel had occurred. 'Cuz I'd found someone who wasn't always out for number one. His handshake was his moral creed. An act that's all but done. Now, when I shake another's hand. Dang sure he'll get my eye. And if he's thinking talk is cheap. My handshake's not lie.

Senator Jeff Welborn (R) Report 36th District Montana

As we continue to comb through the budgets of every state agency in our respective budget sub-committees, over the past several weeks, It brings me to a topic that I will approach from a global perspective, rather than talk about specific pieces of legislation this week.

Every time revenues are debated, the old quote, "everyone prefers the tax that someone else has to pay," comes to mind. The reality is that tax revenue is required to support publicly demanded services including roads, water, sewer, fire, public safety, snow plowing, education, nursing homes, prisons, etc. Imagine dialing 911 to report a house fire or a car wreck, and no one on the other end to answer your call for help. My point being, vital public services must be funded at an effective level.

I also ask you to consider the following: With the exception of 6 University mills, all property taxes in Montana, support local government. For example K-12 schools, under the control of elected trustees, utilize 611 million dollars of direct local property tax and receive 275 million additional dollars from the state. Counties, under the direction of elected Commissioners, utilize 436 million dollars. Cities, governed by elected Aldermen, utilize 165 million dollars. Finally an additional 60 million of state funding also supports local special projects.

The key point: Cutting property taxes at the state level does not cut local spending, it merely defines who pays. Realistic tax reform discussions must first focus on effectively reducing spending. Secondly, it also must define a fair mix for the government services demanded.

Also important to note is that personal income in Montana grew at an average of 5% over the last 15 years, but this growth primarily occurred in 5 urban counties, due to growth in the service sectors. The result: Montana currently has a tax misalignment and concentration problem. Our system is geared to taxing square footage of property, bushels of wheat, barrels of oil, tons of coal, and board feet of timber. As the natural resource sectors decline, we see a diminishing return on revenue. Couple this with e-commerce forcing main-street businesses to close, while timber mills continue to shutter, and mines cease operations, the tax burden further concentrates the remaining payers that own businesses or real property.

As the Montana economy continues to change, the problem grows. Tax reform should not be focused on collecting more dollars, but rather on realigning the payer mix so that the tax burden is more equitably distributed to where the economy has shifted.

The political challenge is that, when a legislator suggests meaningful tax reform, they are often labeled pro-tax, but labels are just that. I'm more driven by solutions than I am by labels. Please consider this: A transaction tax on internet based purchases, this could be a mere start to tax fairness for bricks and mortar business on Main Street that continue to shoulder the increased burden.

Finally, many Montanans don't want to have a sales tax conversation, however tourism based economies, can only contribute revenue in an equitable way, with a collection tax in place. The only other viable option is to produce our way back to a steady revenue stream by developing new manufacturing and jobs, coupled with increased production on existing natural resources. I will close with this, the most fair tax design, is one that touches a large population, at a very low rate.
