AG Fox: Southern Border Must be Secured

Attorney General Tim Fox issued the following statement after President Trump addressed the growing U.S.-Mexico border crisis today.

"As Montana's chief law enforcement officer, every day I see the impact of drugs flowing into the country from our southern border. Our friends, neighbors, and fellow Montanans are suffering and dying. I stand with President Trump in calling upon Congress to secure our border and upon Mexico to work with us in stopping the flow of narcotics into the U.S."

- Most meth in Montana comes from Mexico. It is made in "superlabs" that can produce large quantities in high purity.
- Since 1980, drug offense rates in Montana have increased 559 percent.
- Meth violations are up over 500-percent in the past 5 years.
- Heroin violations increased more than fifteen hundred percent from 2010 to 2015.
- So far this decade, the total charges in Montana for emergency room and hospital visits with a primary or secondary diagnosis of substance abuse have totaled more than 800 million dollars.
- Montana has experienced a ten-fold increase in the number of infants born with Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome.
- More than 60% of all placements in Montana's foster care system have a parental substance use indicated. In recent years, meth-indicated placements have grown rapidly, making up more than 45% of all placements.

2019 late winter survey of northern Yellowstone elk

Elk numbers in Yellowstone National Park's northern herd are fewer compared to last year, however the population remains above the 10-year average and other recent counts. Low calf survival will likely impact the population over the next two years, according to a population survey conducted last month.

The Northern Yellowstone Cooperative Wildlife Working Group conducted its annual late winter classification of the northern Yellowstone elk population on March 17-19, 2019. The survey was conducted from a helicopter by staff from the Montana Department of Fish, Wildlife & Parks, which is part of the Working Group. Typically, an annual trend count is conducted by fixed-wing aircraft to count the total number of elk, and a separate helicopter survey is conducted to classify elk by age and sex in order to estimate calf and yearling bull survival and ratios of mature bulls in the population. This year the surveys were combined, and elk were counted and classified by helicopter.

All observed elk were counted across the survey area, and when possible staff also classified elk by age and sex. This survey was conducted consistently with the 2016 classification survey in order to assess population changes over the past three years. Survey conditions were favorable across the region, however winter conditions were severe, and many elk were observed to be in poor condition.

Staff counted 5,800 elk, including 1,361 elk (23.5 percent) inside Yellowstone National Park and 4,149 elk (71.5 percent) north of the park. The total count of 5,800 elk was 23 percent lower than the 7,579 elk observed during the 2018 trend count, and 23 percent lower than the 7,510 total elk counted during the 2016 classification survey, but higher than the 10-year average count of 5,399 elk. The long-term average of observed elk numbers since surveys began in 1976 is 10,634 elk, with a peak high count of 19,045 elk in 1994 and a low count of 3,915 elk observed in 2013.

Of the 5,800 elk counted, staff classified 5,510 elk by age and sex, resulting in ratios of 15.2 calves, 5.2 yearling bulls and 12.6 brow-tined bulls per 100 cows. Calf and yearling bull ratios were lower than recent surveys and long-term averages. Brow-tined bull ratios were higher than recent surveys, but below long-term average. Staff observed 16 percent fewer cows, 46 percent fewer calves and 42 percent fewer yearling bulls as compared to the 2016 classification survey. Brow-tined bull numbers increased by 21.3 percent from 432 observed in 2016 to 524 observed in 2019.

This is the second consecutive year with calf ratios below the threshold of 20 calves per 100 cows considered necessary to maintain a stable population. It is likely that additional winter mortalities will occur into spring, further reducing overall numbers and recruitment. Below-average yearling bull and calf recruitment is likely to result in lower numbers of brow-tined bulls being recruited into the population over the next two years.

Though overall elk numbers are down this year as compared to 2018, it is not unusual to observe fluctuations in numbers of elk counted due to survey quality, elk movements and sightability of elk, which vary with conditions. Trends in elk populations are best assessed by considering multiple years of survey data together. The trend for this population has been increasing since 2013; this is the first year since 2013 that elk numbers have fallen from the previous year. The Working Group will continue to monitor trends of the northern Yellowstone elk population and evaluate the relative contribution of various components of mortality, including predation, environmental factors and hunting.

The Working Group was formed in 1974 to cooperatively preserve and protect the long-term integrity of the northern Yellowstone winter range for wildlife species by increasing our scientific knowledge of the species and their habitats, promoting prudent land management activities, and encouraging an interagency approach to answering questions and solving problems. The Working Group is comprised of resource managers and biologists from the Montana Department of Fish, Wildlife & Parks; National Park Service (Yellowstone National Park); U.S. Forest Service (Custer Gallatin National Forest); and U.S. Geological Survey-Northern Rocky Mountain Science Center in Bozeman.

National Library Week, April 7th-13th, 2019

National Library Week is an annual celebration highlighting the valuable role libraries play in transforming lives and strengthening our communities.

This year's theme is "Libraries = Strong Communities." Today's libraries are at the heart of our cities, providing critical resources, programs and expertise. They also provide a public space where all community members, regardless of age, culture or income level, can come together to connect and learn.

Join the celebration! National Library Week is an opportunity for library supporters and libraries of all types to raise awareness of their value and impact in their communities. Show your support of Dillon Public Library by displaying an "I (Heart) DILLON PUBLIC LIBRARY" yard sign during National Library Week, April 7th - April 13th. The signs are available for purchase at the library for $5.00 each.

Here's the Dillon Middle School news for the week of April 8th through 12th, 2019.

The lunch menu for the week is as follows: On Monday, we will enjoy Chicken Alfredo with savory rice. On Tuesday a baked potato bar will be served with trimmings and broccoli with cheese sauce, and on Wednesday, we will have a chicken patty on a school made bun. Thursday, we will enjoy beef ravioli with French bread. And on Friday, chicken noodle soup will be served with bread and green salad.

This week we will continue with our testing schedule. Mrs. Telling's 6th and 7th grade classes will be testing during their language class periods as well as Mrs. Broeder's and Mrs. McQuiston's language classes. Parents, please try to schedule appointments and trips around our testing schedule. If you have any questions regarding the schedule, please call the DMS office. Tonight, Monday, April 8th, will be the second parent meeting for the 8th grade graduation. It will be at 7:00 pm in the Commons Room.

This Saturday, April 13th, will be the first DMS track meet. Tracksters will travel to Belgrade to compete. The bus leaves at 6:30 am sharp. Track team members should come home with more information this week.

In our MBI - Fight against Cancer Campaign, we have several fun events this week. Wednesday, April 10th, 7th grade smash out cancer will take place 8th period in the gym as 7th graders can pay to play dodgeball.

Then, Thursday, April 11th, 8th graders will participate in Cake Walk for a Cure. Finally Friday, April 12th...students can "Cream out Cancer" by buying ice cream cones during lunch. Keep bringing in your spare change for our 8th period class competition.

We have a couple of important dates coming up: spring break will begin Thursday, April 18th with an early release at noon. Students will be back in school on Tuesday, April 23rd. Our District 10 "Celebration of Excellence" will be Wednesday, April 24th beginning at 5:00 pm. Parents, come check out all the amazing things your children have been doing in school.

Why should Beaverhead County parents learn about Adverse Childhood Experiences? Because knowing about ACEs helps to build resilience to buffer the impact of toxic stress on you and your child. It helps your child live a happier life and break free from cycles of trauma. Healthy families build strong communities.
