of the Montana Highway Patrol.

"There has been a growing concern across the nation, including here in Montana, about the number of missing and murdered indigenous persons, particularly women and girls," Attorney General Tim Fox said.

The primary duties of the task force include the administration of the LINC Act grant program; identification of jurisdictional barriers among federal, state, local, and tribal law enforcement and community agencies; and the identification of ways to improve interagency collaboration to remove jurisdictional barriers and increase reporting and investigation of missing indigenous persons.

The task force will hold its first meeting the afternoon of June 11 in Helena. The next day, the Montana DOJ and Montana's U.S. Attorney's Office will jointly hold a missing persons training at the same Helena location for law enforcement and the public.

The training is free; online registration is available at www.dojmt.gov/mpt. Law enforcement officers will receive POST credits for attending. For more information, email dojmmiw@mt.gov or call DOJ's Office of Victim Services at 1-800-498-6455 or (406) 444-3653.
