Colorado where she worked in the BLM's Grand Junction Field Office for the last 10 years. She got her start with the BLM in the Montana/Dakotas State Office in Billings where she worked for eight years as both a planning coordinator and conservation planner before moving to Colorado. There, she served as a National Conservation Area Manager in Grand Junction before taking the field manager position. A Montana native, Stevens earned her degree in environmental studies from Montana State University-Billings.

"I am so happy to be returning to work with BLM Montana/Dakotas," Stevens said. "Although multiple-use management can be challenging, I really enjoy the process of collaborating with our partners to find creative solutions and innovative paths forward. I look forward to supporting the great team of staff and managers we have here in Montana, and to engaging with the public, communities and our partners to understand how we can best manage the public lands under our stewardship."

The district manages nearly 1,369,930 acres of public lands and more than 16,697,228 acres of subsurface mineral estate in western Montana.

Annual Wildflower Tour of Gravelly Range Set for July 9

The Forest Service will sponsor its 22nd annual wildflower tour of the Gravelly Range on Tuesday, July 9, starting at 9 a.m.

The free tour winds through the Gravelly Range in Madison County which is noted for a spectacular, high-elevation display of wildflowers. Forest Service employees on the tour will help identify plants seen along the way. Officials note that each year brings its own set of growing conditions, producing an always plentiful and varied show of wildflowers.

The tour will begin at the Forest Service office in Ennis and proceed toward the Gravelly Range. Participants generally drive their own high-clearance vehicles, but can catch a ride with others if they don't want to take their own vehicle. Attendees are advised to dress for inclement weather and bring their lunch and water.

For more information, contact the Forest Service in Ennis located at 5 Forest Service Road, or call (406) 682-4253, or check out the Beaverhead Deerlodge National Forest Facebook page.

CANCER PATIENT COULD USE OUR HELP

My husband Bill DuRose was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer. At this time we live on his disability. The hospital at which he will be receiving treatment is over 2 hours away from home. We cannot afford the traveling expenses for gas, hotel, medical bills, etc.

Anything that can be donated in order to help us get to where he need to would be greatly appreciated.

Bill is a US Army Veteran and police officer. Bill is kind, generous and selfless man. He has always done everything he can for others around him.

Please, whatever can be done to help get the treatment for him lets help. A fund has been set up at The Bank of Commerce under William DuRose Cancer Fund.

An Alaska sweatshirt was found Sunday June 2nd in JC Park. There is an envelope in the pocket with the name Cheyene on it. Pet training device was found by the Kids Fish Pond on Swenson Way. A silver necklace chain with large links was found in the parking lot across from Verizon.

AVALANCHES

By "Swede" Troedsson

In the summer of 1997, I was stationed as a summer temporary timber aide on the Skykomish Ranger District on the Snoqualmie National Forest in NW Washington.

The district butts up against the top of the Cascade Mountain Range. In the winter snow depths on parts of the district approach 40 feet. The district is just west of the Stevens Pass Ski Area.

The district is BIG avalanche country. On March 1, 1910, an avalanche swept two trains, trapped by snowdrifts just west of Stevens Pass, off the tracks. 96 people lost their lives. It remains the worst avalanche disaster in the history of the United States. The story can be found by searching 1910 Stevens Pass Avalanche Disaster on the internet.

In June, Timber Technician Bob Norton and I were tasked with measuring the dimensions of a huge avalanche debris area. An avalanche had roared down a draw the previous winter, and deposited a large tangle of huge Douglas Fir and Spruce trees. The objective was to determine the acreage of the debris area, and by applying average per acre volume in adjacent standing timber, determine the volume of salvageable timber in the debris area. Once the salvageable timber volume was determined, using a generous "cull & breakage" estimate, the District would advertise the timber for salvage.

Bob and I were measuring the cross dimension of the debris area, when his dog, Smokey, started barking at something in the debris. There was still snow packed in the bottom of the debris, and we could hear a creek gurgling at the bottom of the debris.

Bob went over to Smokey to see what was getting the dog so excited. When Bob got to the dog, he called me over to see what the dog had found. Sticking out of the debris was a black bear's head, still well preserved in the cool environment. That's all we could find. We suspect the bear was dened up when the avalanche roared down, tearing the head off the bear.

Later, I was sharing this story with a local tree faller. He told me he had found a dead mountain goat on a timber sale he had been working on. It appeared to him the goat had been killed by an avalanche.
