Maud S Canyon to Be Sprayed for Noxious Weeds

Butte, Mont., June 14, 2011 — For those who enjoy hiking or biking in the Maud S Canyon, you may have noticed a high density of spotted knapweed, thistles and toadflax throughout the area. To combat these invasive plants the East Ridge Foundation, Full Armor Weed Control, AmeriCorps St. Louis, the City-County of Butte-Silver Bow, and the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest will be working cooperatively to treat the weeds on Monday, July 1.

Approximately 80 acres will be treated with all appropriate weather conditions, label rates and regulations followed. Ground treatment by spray crews using backpacks may be seen throughout the day along the trail and in open areas near the top of the loop trail. Additional spray activities may occur until late September. For more information, contact the Butte Ranger District at (406) 494-2147.

New Pipestone Pass Trailhead

A new trailhead for the Continental Divide National Scenic Trail at Pipestone Pass on Montana Highway 2 is underway. Rehbein Enterprises of Polson, Montana is working to construct this new trailhead.

When completed, the trailhead will provide a larger parking area and safer access to and from the highway to accommodate trail users. The trailhead will be closed throughout the construction period which should last through the summer. Trail users should use caution when crossing the highway as trucks will be working at the crossing location, approximately 1,000 feet east of the pass.

Travelers are advised to drive carefully in this area as there will be heavy equipment working and trucks delivering material for the trailhead during the construction of the trailhead.

The construction of the trailhead is part of a national priority by the Forest Service and other land management agencies to complete the Continental Divide National Scenic Trail and access facilities that travels from Canada to Mexico. Contact the Butte Ranger District for more information at (406) 494-2147.

Respecting Our Flag

Bryce Angell

I pulled the cinch up extra tight. We'd planned a day long ride. Cyrus felt the final tug. His eyes were open wide. But then my father came a running. Made old Cyrus shy. He hollered he'd forgot that it's the 4th day of July. He said, "Undo your saddle, then untie each saddlebag! And load the horses in the truck. We've gotta find a flag!" It amazed me how the two of us forgot this special day. Somewhere he'd find a flag to show respect in his own way. My father in his desperation talked about the war. And of his pals who died, their deaths had torn him to the core. He said he made a promise to respect those men he knew. He'd always stand and give salute to our red, white and blue. A nearby town was celebrating Independence Day. The parade had started, two Grand Marshalls sat on bales of hay. But out in front our country's flag stood tall and absolute. Dad said, "I'm not in uniform, but still I'll give salute." That day I saw a man stand tall and though at five feet three, I watched as Dad saluted. Seemed like ten feet tall to me. Well, that was many years ago. I too respect the flag. My father's keen example taught me right. That ain't no brag. Our flag's a sign of freedom but it hasn't come by luck. Too many men and women died to keep us from amok. This time of year, our flag will fly at shows and rodeos. Remember 'bout our forefathers. The life for us they chose. I'd like to ask from all of you. Today let's all connect. We'll place our hand above our heart and show our flag respect.

Dillon Field Office releases Rochester Watershed report

The Bureau of Land Management's Dillon Field Office has released the Rochester Watershed Environmental Assessment for public review and comment.

The assessment reports on the predicted social and environmental effects associated with up to three resource management alternatives on BLM-administered public lands in the Rochester Watershed. After reviewing the EA and considering public comments, the Dillon Field Manager will select one or a combination of the alternatives for implementation.

The Rochester Watershed is mostly located in Madison County, with a small portion in Silver Bow County. The watershed covers about 32,600 acres of BLM-administered land in 23 grazing allotments. There are 3,030 acres within the watershed that are un-allotted.

The EA is available online at the Bureau's ePlanning webpage at <https://go.usa.gov/xmuTD>. Copies of the EA are also available at the Dillon Field Office at 1005 Selway Drive, Dillon Montana 59725.

The comment period for this EA is open for 30 days and closes on July 29. Before including your address, phone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware your entire comment—including your personal identifying information—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so. Written comments should be submitted to the Dillon Field Office, or by email at MT_Dillon_FO@blm.gov.

For more information about the proposed management alternatives, contact Mike Harper or Pat Fosse at the email address

Montana Law Enforcement Academy Graduates 53 New Officers

At a ceremony this morning, the Montana Law Enforcement Academy (MLEA) graduated 53 new officers who will serve various agencies across the state. The Academy is operated by the Montana Department of Justice; it provides basic and advanced training for state, county, city and tribal law enforcement officers throughout the state.

The ceremony took place at the Civic Center in Helena, and included remarks from Attorney General Tim Fox, MLEA Administrator Glen Stinar, MLEA Training Officer Jeff Wilson, and class representative Darren Stovall of the Billings Police Department. Montana Supreme Court Justice Beth Baker administered the oath of office.

In addressing the class, Attorney General Tim Fox said, "You have been selected to enter the exclusive and honorable ranks of a profession that will require you to frequently and consistently put the best interests of others ahead of your own."

Several of the graduates received awards for their performance during training:

Darren Stovall received the Don Williams Award, which is given to the officer elected by the class as Class Representative.

Jared Anderson received the Health and Physical Fitness Award, which is given to the officer who participates and excels in the Hard Rock Challenge and achieves the class's best score in the Montana Physical Abilities Test.

Mackenzie Unruh received the Paul Williams Award, which is given to the officer who provided inspiration to the staff and students through a display of unwavering dedication and determination.

Mackenzie Unruh also received the Jack Wiseman Award, which is given to the officer selected by his/her peers as the most outstanding officer. The officers of each class select the recipient by considering two questions:

- 1) If you were a law enforcement agency administrator, who would you most want to hire?
- 2) If it were 2:00 a.m. and things were going bad quickly, who would you most want to know was coming to
