Ryan Eggersperger:

Ryan couldn't be more pleased to be a part of Grand Street's tour of Every Brilliant Thing. Born and raised in suburban Connecticut, Ryan dropped out of acting school in 1997 to work at Thompson River Lumber (Thompson Falls) during which time he discovered Herman Melville and the mountains and hasn't been the same since. He holds a B.A. in Writing and Literature from the Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics in Boulder, Colorado.

"Heart-wrenching, hilarious, possibly one of the funniest plays you'll ever see."

-The Guardian

A seven year old comes home from school to learn that Mom is in the hospital. Dad says "she's done something stupid." The kid begins to create a list for Mom. A list of everything that's brilliant about the world. Everything worth living for. 1) Ice cream 2) Water fights 3) Staying up past your bedtime to watch TV ... As time passes and the list grows, what began as a naive attempt to make Mom happy becomes an epic chronicle of life's little wonders. A tribute to the irrepressible resilience inside all of us and the capacity to find delight in the everyday, Every Brilliant Thing is a funny, clever, and surprisingly uplifting play about the lengths we go to for those we love. Put this show at the top of your list!

About The Show

Written by award-winning British playwright Duncan Macmillan with UK comedian Jonny Donahoe and alternately starring Helena native Rosie Seitz Ayers and Ryan Eggersperger, this powerful one-actor show explores mental health, families and the ways we love in a hilarious and uplifting production for both adults and teenagers.

Every Brilliant Thing playwright Duncan Macmillan said he aimed to break down the stigma surrounding mental illness by creating new ways to discuss it openly – and by making people laugh. Duncan states:

I don't think I've laughed as much making a piece of work as I have with this show, and yet we had quite a seriousness of purpose. We wanted to talk about depression in a way that was accurate and which didn't alienate an audience. Considering how common depression is, it's surprising how much stigma there still is around it, how reluctant people are to discuss it. We kept reminding ourselves of the aims of the piece – to make people feel OK to talk and think about depression, to talk about it responsibly and accurately, and to provide a few tools with which to think and talk about it. That sounds quite worthy now I say it out loud, but we mean it.

Every Brilliant Thing co-creator Donahoe described the play as "the funniest thing you'll ever see about the least funny thing in the world". "You cannot get through life without an experience of depression, whether that means suffering from it yourself or knowing a loved one who is going through it. So talking about depression is absolutely vital but it's a bloody difficult thing to do. Hopefully we've built something that makes that just a tiny bit easier," he said.

Every Brilliant Thing will tour Montana for 50 performances from June 6th through August 3rd thanks to a grant from Blue Cross Blue Shield of Montana, who have prioritized suicide prevention efforts throughout the state. With their help, Grandstreet Theatre will be able to share this beautiful show and its life-affirming message with all of Montana.

Grandstreet Managing Director Kal Poole says: "There are many folks who deal with mental health issues across the state and unfortunately we have the highest rate of suicide per capita in the nation. The beauty of Every Brilliant Thing is that it takes the same impulse that people have toward spiraling downward and changes the direction. This show encourages spiraling up and becoming obsessed with gratitude and beauty in everyday moments. We have a feeling that that message will resonate with audiences throughout Montana."

For questions or more information, please contact Perri May, EBT Tour Booking Agent at 439-7741 or email tour@grandstreettheatre.com

Montana ranks as the single highest state for per capita suicide completions. This play is a gentle and life-affirming way to introduce a very necessary conversation about suicide. We will follow each roughly one-hour-long performance with a 15-20 minute talkback with the audience.

Community basement

We would like to thank the community for your donations & support of the Community Basement. It is a wonderful service for the community but we need your help & cooperation. We would appreciate items to be clean & gently used. We can't wash or repair clothing as we don't have the resources or manpower. We receive multiple items that are not usable. We can't sell infant seats, electrical items or knives due to liability. Also we don't have the room for furniture or large items. So we would appreciate it if you would be selective in the items you donate. We always welcome volunteers & a big thank you to the volunteers who work & strive to make it a pleasant place to shop.

At Home On the Range

A sea of native grasses became a classroom during the 43rd Montana
Range Days event, held on June 17-19th.
Youth and adults,
from ages 5-85,
engaged in workshops and educational tours in and around Beaverhead County.

Volunteers from the United States
Forest Service (USFS), Bureau of Land Management
(BLM), Department of Natural Resources and Conservation (DNRC), and Natural Resources and Conservation Services (NRCS) came together to provide youth workshops in plant anatomy, range plant identification, soils, and rangeland inventory, monitoring, stocking rates, utilization, and management, while the adults boarded buses and toured local ranches to experience different range practices being implemented.

Adults and kids partook in range knowledge competitions and were awarded prizes at the closing ceremony. The highest ranked award given by the organization is the Top Range Hand Award. This award is presented to the high school division participant who earns the highest score in the range contest, produces a pressed plant collection, educational display, and an illustrated talk pertaining to a range related topic. Melanie Powers, of Wheatland, MT was awarded the Top Range Hand this year- she outscored her competitors by 60 points. Melanie received the coveted belt buckle, a $1,000 scholarship, and a pair of boots, donated by local bootmaker Atomic 79.

Montana Department of Justice's Motor Vehicle Division Real ID Campaign Receives Two Telly Awards

Awards Presented to Montana State University-Billings

Montana State University-Billings (MSUB) received two Telly awards for the student designed and scripted Montana REAL ID public information campaign videos filmed by Spotlight Productions in partnership with the Montana Motor Vehicle Division (MVD).

"I'm delighted our Motor Vehicle Division has once again been honored for its outstanding public information campaign created in partnership with Montana State University-Billings," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "This collaboration resulted in a series of effective and award-winning messages that have simultaneously entertained and informed Montanans of the REAL ID options that are available to them," Fox added.

MVD Administrator Sarah Garcia said, "We are proud of the work the students, faculty, and our staff have put into our REAL ID information campaign. Recognition from the prestigious Telly Awards speaks volumes for the quality of their work and the strength of our partnership."

The TV ads and information campaign, which were developed between five classes over two semesters, feature Lewis and Clark as they try to navigate Montana without REAL IDs.

Dr. AJ Otjen, a professor at MSU-B, said, "The students work hard to make sure a campaign first is effective and achieves objectives. It's also nice to receive validation from industry professionals. They can certainly put this one on their resume."

In their 40th year, the Telly Awards "showcase the best work created within television and across video, for all screens. Receiving over 12,000 entries from all 50 states and five continents, Telly Award winners represent work from some of the most respected advertising agencies, television stations, production companies and publishers from around the world," according to their website.
