Ten Minute Play Festival to Open September 12

The University of Montana Western's Theatre students are pleased to announce Montana Western's 17th annual Ten Minute Play Festival to be held September 12-16 as part of the Bank of Commerce Performing Arts Series. The performances will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night in the Small Auditorium (room 314) in Main Hall on the University of Montana Western campus.

Over 60 students will perform as cast, crew and directors for the 20 plays presented. This year's theme is "Oh Really" and will feature original plays written by students, professors and community members. Every nights' program is different, since five plays will be presented each night.

At the end of the first four nights' performances, the audience will vote for their two favorite shows, with the winners performing again for the final night of performance. The overall winners will be chosen on the final night by the audience.

The directors all come from the Play Production Class taught on the campus this semester block by adjunct professor Larry Brazill. Individual tickets ($10 for general admission, $5 for seniors) will be sold at the door and are valid for each night of the festival. Montana Western students are admitted free of charge.

For more information about the Annual Ten Minute Play Festival, please contact Judy Ulrich by calling 683-7422.

50 State Attorneys General Launch Antitrust Investigation of Google

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox announced today that 50 state attorneys general are launching an investigation of technology giant Google's business practices in accordance with state and federal antitrust laws.

The bipartisan coalition will investigate Google's overarching control of online advertising markets and search traffic that may have led to anticompetitive behavior harming consumers. Legal experts from each state, including the Montana Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection, will work in cooperation with federal authorities to assess competitive conditions for online services and ensure that Americans have access to free digital markets.

"I and other state attorneys general are investigating because we have seen evidence that Google's business practices may have undermined consumer choice, stifled innovation, compromised privacy, and put Google in control of the flow and dissemination of online information," Fox said. "We are concerned that Google has achieved and maintained this power through business practices designed to thwart competition and suppress alternatives to their products. We will investigate in an objective and fair-minded manner, with a focus on ensuring Americans have access to free markets in which companies compete on the merits of their products. If we identify illegal activities, we will take appropriate action."

Past investigations of Google uncovered violations ranging from advertising illegal drugs in the United States to now three antitrust actions brought by the European Commission. None of these previous investigations, however, fully address the source of Google's sustained market power and the ability to engage in serial and repeated business practices with the intention to protect and maintain that power.

Mouse on My Windshield

By: Bryce Angell

I backed my truck out from the shed and slipped it out of gear. Then looked out through the windshield. Said, "Well, what do we have here?"
A mouse was sitting on my wiper, plain as he could be.
His beady eyes looked straight ahead. I think he winked at me.
I gasped and yelled, "Get out of here you hairy, little rat."
I looked around and grumbled, "Where the heck is that darn cat?"
The little varmint scurried off, back underneath somewhere. I pulled the latch and raised the hood. That mouse was gone, I swear.
I thought my problem solved itself, then looked up on the dash.
I counted twenty-five mouse turds. I swept them in the trash.
From a mouse's point of view, my Chevy truck is full of treats.
I had to stop him now or there'd be mouse holes in the seats.
So I put two mouse traps on the floor and baited them with cheese.
I knew I'd catch that mouse today. It was gonna be a breeze.
Next time I looked, the bait still there, and mouse turds on the mats.
I wonder, "Was he worried about his saturated fats?"
I took away the cheddar cheese and baited it with bread.
I hoped it wouldn't be too long before the mouse was dead.
I stepped out from the shed and then I thought I heard a snap.
I opened up the pickup door. The mouse was in my trap.
Well it seems a piece of cheddar isn't what a mouse likes best.
Or maybe he was finicky. For sure, he's one dead pest.
I taught the mouse a lesson. In this life there's no free lunch.
But I guess he learned a little late. He dang sure felt the crunch.
So to every mouse that's out there, maybe headed for my truck.
"You better think it over, 'cuz for sure you'll have bad luck."

Agency Accepting Applications for Seasonal Positions in Montana, Idaho and Dakotas

The USDA Forest Service will be accepting applications for 800-1,000 seasonal spring and summer jobs though out Montana, northern Idaho and the Dakotas from Sept. 16-30, 2019. Positions are available in multiple fields, including fire, recreation, natural resources, timber, engineering, visitor services and archaeology.

"We're looking for interested applicants to help us manage more than 25 million acres of incredible public lands across the northern Rocky Mountains and the Dakota prairie," said Leanne Marten, Northern Regional Forester. "If you're interested in caring for our nation's forests and grasslands and serving local communities, I encourage you to apply."

Applications must be submitted on www.USAJOBS.gov September 16-30, 2019. More information about seasonal employment, available positions, and application instructions can be found online at www.fs.usda.gov/main/r1/jobs.

The Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest in southwest Montana is looking to fill several seasonal positions to assist with fire, recreation, range management, botany, hydrology, archaeology, engineering and other natural resource management programs.

For more information about positions specific to the Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF go online to https://www.fs.usda.gov/main/bdnf/about-forest/jobs, or, call the following offices: Dillon (406) 683-3900; Butte (406) 494-2147; Wisdom (406) 689-3243; and Ennis (406) 682-4253.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Dillon, Beaverhead County, Montana will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, September 18, 2019 at 6:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 125 North Idaho Street, Dillon, Montana, to take public comment on proposed changes to Title 16 of the Dillon Municipal Codes Unified Development and Principal Land Use Standards Ordinance. A copy of the proposed changes to the subdivision code is available at the City of Dillon City Hall, 125 North Idaho Street, Dillon, Montana. Any person may appear at the public hearing or submit written comments prior to or during the public hearing relating to the proposed changes to the subdivision code. Written comments can be mailed to the City of Dillon, 125 North Idaho, Dillon, Montana 59725. For questions, contact Todd Hazelbaker, or leave a message at City Hall 683-4245.

Southwest Montana Veteran's Home

Update #14 9/8/2019

By Mike Lawson

Greetings again to you the Veterans/Communities who are the six Counties in SW Montana who are represented as the organizers and chief supporters of the "SW MT Veterans Home. This is the 14th update on our Veterans Home.

Today is the 8th of September, 2019 . Where did our summer go as our Montana Fall is knocking at our door. In spite of that our SW MT Resthome is progressing daily . Markovich Site Construction Superintendent Mike Ascheman continues to coordinate with the different contractors doing different aspects of the site construction. Weather, contractors losing some of their work-force who have left to return to college or just getting enough manpower to man the different jobs are some of the challenges being deal with. The economy is booming right now with a lot of building projects going on, in this area especially. This affects new construction site jobs, like our Vet Home, but these site construction workers are very skilled, hard workers and are getting a lot done.

The Community Building will see the carpenters who worked on Cottage #2 this past week, back framing more walls and will probably get the steel columns , (fabricated by Hawe Steel in Butte), put in place. This will then allow for the ceiling beam placement at the appropriate time. It will be the first building to be completed and one we're keeping a close eye on.

Cottage #1 is ready for framing but on hold until the other four Cottages have gone through all the construction stages leading to their slab floors being finished.

Cottage #2 is ready for it's slab pour and finish. Mike Ascheman said weather could be a big factor as to when that will happen this week due to rain not being good for a good slab floor finish. Its important to have a good finish, so it could be delayed for a day without rain. Zemljak Excavating did a lot in backfill/compacting, putting the self compacting gravel in, etc. . They also dug the ditches for the sewer line and both water lines. All these lines can be buried in the same ditch but must be buried with a specified distance between each of them.

Cottage #3 has the wall forms erected by Phillips Concrete and they should be poured this week. After this the interior form walls will be erected/poured and then all the different construction stages to the final slab pour stage will take place.

Cottage #4 should have the footing forms in this week or next week for sure and then the concrete can be poured into them.

Cottage #5 is seeing Zemljak Excavating moving the dirt off the corner of that site so the footings can be laid out and dug. Permission was given for them to move this dirt to the adjacent property to the north which is owned by the Harringtons who donated our Veteran's Home site land to us. This family continues to be generous in helping to see our SWMTVH built. Many thanks to them for sure.

The "Viewing Hooch" has more furniture in the way of chairs. Window Opening Glass was donated and put in by Butte Glass. This building is getting cozier and and cozier. "It's ready for your coming to visit". The next item is to get an electric extension cord hooked up and get a coffee pot perking.

Another point of interest is that Mike is planing for O'Keefe Drilling to drill a well on site which is designated on the prints as an irrigation well for our Veteran Home landscaping.

The puzzle piece I mentioned last week about the State of Montana's responsibility for our Vet Home, I'll now briefly address. (1) the state is the acting landlord for the facility with the Contractor who will be operating the day to day management of our SWMTVH. (2) The state will maintain a full-time, on site staff person to oversee the operation of the facility, making sure the contract requirements are met. (3) consider requests from the foundation and give approval or deny approval depending upon request. (4) Provide input to the Foundation into the needs of the facility and its' requests. It's a big plus having both the State and the Foundation working together for the best interests of the Veteran Residents of SWMTVH.

I'll close for now and wish you all a great week ahead.
