Deputies arrest suspects in theft at Columbus-Three Forks football game

As reported by 406 MT Sports

The Rosebud County Sheriff's Department has arrested two suspects in a theft of a vehicle from a football game Friday night in Columbus.

The suspects crashed the car, a 2006 Silver Audi SE A6 3.2, in Forsyth on Saturday afternoon and "bailed out into some woods," said Rosebud County Sheriff Allen Fulton. The two men were caught after the police spent over two hours looking for them, Fulton said.

The Rosebud County Sheriff's Office and the Columbus Police Department are investigating the thefts.

The Audi was one of two students' cars stolen from the Columbus High School parking lot during Friday's football game between Columbus and Three Forks, according to Columbus superintendent Jeff Bermes. Seven to 10 cell phones, 11 sets of car keys, four wallets, and one backpack were stolen from the Columbus football team's locker room, said Bermes, who added that earlier estimates on social media of the number of items stolen were exaggerated.

Police are still searching for those stolen items and the second car, a 2013 Black BMW SV X5, said Columbus Police Chief Jacob Ward. The BMW belongs to Columbus senior running back/defensive end Tommy Campbell, and Hannes Chandler drove the Audi.

"The BMW has disappeared into thin air," said Campbell's mother Cristy Goldsmith.

Bermes said the school will lock the doors to its locker rooms during future football games and other sporting events that aren't centrally located in the gym. School officials also plan to update the security camera systems, he said, adding that cameras don't cover the entrance to Columbus' locker rooms, among other areas.

Columbus has a school resource officer, and staff members often monitor school gates, Bermes said. The Columbus Police Department and Stillwater County Sheriff's Office have presences at sporting events, as well, he said.

"It's very disheartening that someone would basically take advantage of our kids," Bermes said. "These kids and these parents feel violated."

The theft happened during the second half of Friday's game, Bermes and Goldsmith said. The suspects paid to get in, she said, and some spectators noticed the "sketchy" men standing inside the stadium during the first half.

After celebrating a 32-0 win, Columbus' players and coaches returned to a locker room with clothes and other belongings strewn across the floor. Several Cougars soon discovered that their valuables were missing.

The key fob for Campbell's BMW was tucked away in his jeans pocket under a pile of other items, Goldsmith said, sparking fear that the heist was planned.

"It kind of made everyone freak out," Goldsmith said. "It's one thing to have a random act of evil happen. But to think that people were watched and things were planned, it takes it to another level."

Some of the stolen sets of keys included house keys, and many of the people who own those houses have changed the locks to their doors, Goldsmith said.

"It felt like a violation that you would never expect in a small, rural community like Columbus," Goldsmith said.

As of Saturday night, the police did not indicate if the stolen keys, wallets, and phones were stashed in the Audi, the BMW or both.

The Coldest July

By: Bryce Angell

We started out our morning with a warm and gentle breeze. I cinched up Stretch's saddle. Who'd have known I'd almost freeze.
My father walked up to us said, "Your raincoat's not tied on." I gazed up to a clear, blue sky. Then mounted. We were gone.
I'd only worn a t-shirt, but my hat was pulled down tight.
My hat would keep the rain off. Heck, I knew I'd be alright.
If I'd only known what really lay ahead of me that day.
I'd have heeded all my father's words. I darn sure had to pay.
By afternoon the sky turned black, for sure the dankest cold.
I knew I was in trouble. Wished I'd done what I was told.
The cold dark clouds soon emptied out. They soaked me head to toe. The weather turned to hail and then the wind began to blow.
My mind was still coherent. I recalled what Father said. "Your horse will throw off heat. Just snuggle up. You won't be dead."
So, I wrapped myself around old Stretch. The heat was coming through. My saddle horse had saved me. Didn't have to say adieu.
Just then I heard a tree branch snap. I saw my father's face.
He came riding in on Shortcut and I yelled out words of grace.
He didn't have to say a word. His look plumb pierced my soul.
He tossed a coat and slicker. Didn't offer an earful.
Well, that was fifty years ago. It seems like yesterday.
Now I always tie a raincoat even on a sunny day.
'Cuz the coldest that I've been was 1969 July. T he mountains ain't forgiving and I dang near said, "Goodbye."
And when the other cowboys say, "You carry too much gear."
I think about that day and know I'm lucky to be here.

Southwest Veterans Home Update #16

By Mike Lawson

Greetings once again to you the Veterans/Counties/Communities who are the six counties in SW Montana who are represented as the organizers and chief supporters of the "SW MT Veterans Home". This is the 16th update on our Veterans Home.

The weather is turning cooler with snow in the Highland and the Pintler Mountains. This is Saturday with one more day of summer but "Mother Nature" isn't cooperating. The site Construction Superintendent Mike Ascheman is on top of things and coordinating all the different contractors in putting their parts of the job together at the right time and the right place.

The Community Center Building has seen most of the interior walls framed and now their working on a smaller upper mezzanine floor section that will house some of the utilities such as the furnaces, etc.. Getting the laminated beams in the ceiling as well with the steel supports for them is also happening. The roof trusses aren't too far off. Mike is going to have to put some of these carpenters on Cottage #3 this week to get it ready for a cement floor slab pours things will slow down a bit until they get back.

Cottage #1 did see some activity this week. Mike had guys grinding the outside of the cement walls smooth, putting seal coating on and then insulation board glued to that.

Cottage #2's slab floor was poured by Steed Concrete and looks good.

Cottage #3 is where most of the activity has been and continues to be. Zemljak filled/compacted the inside of the foundation walls, dug ditches for the Plummer's and Electricians and is in the process of getting the six inches of self compacting gravel in. After this is completed Mike will move some of his Markovich carpenters in to get the vapor barrier heavy plastic in/ around the pipe/conduit stubs (sticking up in the air), across the compacted dirt and then glue plastic to the foundation walls above the compacted dirt.

Cottage #4 has the exterior walls in place and is scheduled to get them poured this week by Phillips Concrete. Once these walls are done the interior walls will be formed/poured and wall forms stripped.

Cottage #5 is the last Cottage scheduled to be built. The footings are surveyed and staked out.

All in all there's some significant bites being taken out of this elephant, as Mike Ascheman would say. Our Vet Home continues to change in appearance as these skilled workers construct different portions of our Vet Home project.

Before I sign off I want to relate a story about a retired lady who introduced herself to me when I was at the "Viewing Hooch". She said she had been reading these "Update Articles" and really wanted to help the Veterans in some way. I invited her to look our Viewing Hooch over and mentioned we were going to get a coffee pot, now that we had electricity, and get some paper towels/ spray cleaner to clean table and chairs. I came back from Helena Saturday and stopped at the Viewing Hooch. I was greeted with seeing a table cloth on the card table with a drip cup coffee maker, a can of coffee , packets of creamers/sugar/sweeteners and a gallon jug of water. In addition to this on the other table there was an eight roll package of paper towels and a spray bottle of cleaner. We veterans who saw this say, thank-you "kind lady" on behalf of all our vets. I didn't write your name down but would ask you to visit and sign our "Guest Book".

I'll close on that special note and wish you all a great week.

Attorney General Fox, US Attorney Alme Announce Plans for Second Missing Persons Training

Attorney General Tim Fox and U.S. Attorney Kurt Alme announced their offices, together with the FBI and the Bureau of Indian Affairs, will co-sponsor a second missing persons training for the public and law enforcement. The event will take place at the First Interstate Bank Operations Center in Billings on October 16.

The first joint missing persons training was held in June in Helena. "Because we had strong interest in our first collaborative training, U.S. Attorney Kurt Alme and I decided we wanted to offer a more convenient opportunity for law enforcement and the public on the eastern side of the state to attend," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "Toward that end, we look forward to offering this second training to improve Montana's response to missing persons cases, particularly those involving Native Americans."

The event will provide instruction for law enforcement on accepting and entering a missing person's report, use of missing persons alerts and advisories, and conducting missing persons investigations. A separate session for the public will offer information on how to report a missing person, give an overview of missing persons databases and alert systems, and discuss other resources that are available.

"We are pleased to be working again with Attorney General Fox, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Indian Affairs to provide this important joint training on missing persons resources for all federal, state, local and tribal law enforcement in Montana and for tribal councils and members of the public," U.S. Attorney Kurt Alme said. "By working with law enforcement and family and friends to better collect and share information about missing persons, particularly Native Americans, we can help bring more people home."

The training is free; lunch is provided. Online registration is available at www.dojmt.gov/mpt. Law enforcement officers will receive POST credits for attending. For more information, email dojmmiw@mt.gov or call LINC Coordinator Tina Chamberlain at the Montana DOJ at (406) 444-1577.
