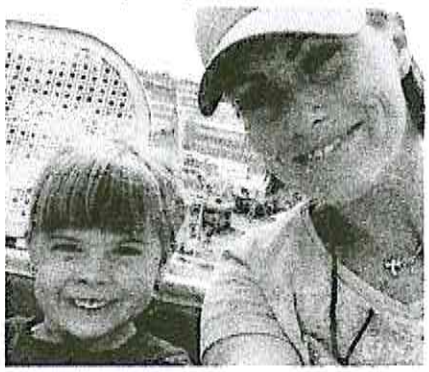
Tasha Ann (Johnson) Lupo, 35



Tasha Ann (Johnson) Lupo, 35, was born January 24, 1986, to Traci Denise Hopkins of Pocetello, Idaho, and Sam Johnson of Dillon. Tasha passed away September 26, 2019, in Idaho Falls, ID after a brief illness.

There are very few people who light up a room by their presence. Tasha Ann (Johnson) Lupo was one of those incredibly special people. She was beautiful, intelligent and an eternal optimist. She had delightful sense of humor and a fantastic smile. Tasha was a forklift driver, an excellent cook, a talented homemaker, a decorated marksman, an honor student and most importantly, a devoted mother and a child of God.

Growing up Tasha spent the school year with her mother in Idaho and summers and holidays in Montana with her grandparents, Frances and Everett Johnson, Aunt Joellen Moon and family in Helena, and Aunt Holliday Richardson and family in Conrad. She was truly loved from the minute her family set eyes upon her.

The light of Tasha's life was her daughter Francie Ann Lupo born November 1, 2012. Francie was named after Tasha's Dillon Grandma Frances Johnson. Tasha went about parenting with cheerful exuberance, reading stories, sharing bedtime prayers, planting fairy gardens, and roasting marshmallows over an open fire.

Sugarcoating Tasha's struggles in life detracts from what a truly extraordinary person she was. She was funny and clever. She was kind. She really did light up a room. She was loyal to her father and mother, recognizing both their attributes and their faults. She was always concerned about them. Tasha took responsibility for her shortcomings and was devastated by her own failings and the failings of others. Shame and debt kept her from seeking help when she needed it most and contributed to her untimely death. Her passing leaves a huge hole in the hearts of those who loved her.

Tasha is survived by her daughter, Francie Ann Lupo; brothers Chase Funk and Nicholas Beebe; Father, Sam Johnson; mother, Traci Funk; Francie's father, Justin Lupo; Grandparents, Paul and Ann Faulkner, and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

A celebration of Tasha's life will be held at Calvary Alliance Church, 800 Marinus Lane, Pocetello, ID on Tuesday, October 15 at 11:00AM. There will be a time to meet family and friends one hour before the service and lunch following. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to help with final expenses or a scholarship fund for Francie Ann.

A Promise and a Handshake

By: Bryce Angell

To say your word is worth the paper that it's written on, requires the most integrity. It seems those days are gone.
When I grew up a promise with a handshake closed the deal.
We didn't need a witness with his signature and seal.
But time has changed us for the worst. We fudge a little there.
And even though with promise we can say it wasn't fair.
We'll talk to our attorney. He will spew out his advice.
Then we'll stick it to our neighbor. Are we men or are we mice?
I won't forget the time when two old ranchers exchanged land.
They promised with a handshake. Something we don't understand.
And later on, some forty years, both ranchers passed away.
The lawyers poked their nose in and it's still a mess today.
My father taught me, "Keep your promise. Show integrity.
You'll dang sure earn the name if you're one crooked SOB.
"And when your handshake causes you to lose a little cash.
Remember 'bout your promise. Then your name no one can bash.
"Don't forget the little guy. We tend to overlook. Keep your promise and your handshake. He won't feel like he's been took."
His words hit harder than a first time punched in bloody nose.
Or when I yelled at Mom. She spanked me with the garden hose.
So, when I shake a fellar's hand I think of Dad's good name.
I've made a promise that I'll keep a good name just the same.
And when I go to bed at night there's one thing I don't fear.
'Cuz I don't mind what I'm seeing as I look square in the mirror.

Public Access Expanded in Southwest Montana

The largest wildlife management area in Montana is now 160 acres larger thanks to a joint effort by a conservation-minded landowner, Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks (FWP), and the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation.

"We appreciate Edna Schmeller, a RMEF life member and long-time supporter of our mission." said Kyle Weaver, RMEF president and CEO. "This land has been in her family for nearly three decades. Now it is permanently protected and opened to public access for everyone to use and enjoy."

The property is about 10 miles south of Anaconda at the base of the Anaconda-Pintlar Mountains. Previously surrounded on two sides by the 56,000-acre Mount Haggin Wildlife Management Area (WMA), it is now part of the WMA itself.

It is a migration corridor for elk and mule deer. It connects winter range with calving and fawning grounds as well as summer range. FWP has plans to restore native westslope cutthroat trout and Arctic grayling to the French Creek watershed, which includes Oregon Creek that flows through the property.

The property lies next to popular ski and snowmobile trails, however it is managed only as walk-in access from May 16 through December 1.
