The Soldier

By: Bryce Angell

While sitting in the airport, I glanced up to look around. That's when I saw him take a seat. A GI duty-bound.

The soldier, dressed in khaki, sat there lonely in his chair. He did not say a word. His eyes were fixed hard in a stare.

His black hair trimmed back short; the uniform was neatly pressed. He looked sharper than a preacher all decked out in Sunday best.

So, I mustered up the courage, then I offered my handshake. The soldier shook my hand. For sure this man was no cupcake.

I thanked him for his service, his defense of liberty. He said, "Our country needs good men. It might as well be me."

His said his aged grandpa, who had just turned ninety-five, had flown a plane in World War II. Barely made it home alive.

His grandpa was his mentor. I'd say hero says it best. The young man now turned soldier trying hard to pass this test.

The soldier said he had two years left 'fore he'd call it quits. 'Cuz every time he'd leave his home, for dang sure was the pits.

I asked him 'bout his family. Has a wife and two young sons. He said his boys think Daddy is away out shooting guns.

When a lady with the microphone then called the soldier's name. He said, "I better get on board." He thanked me just the same.

He rose up from his chair. We stood there looking face to face. That day I'd met a soldier who deserved our God's pure grace.

I watched him board the airplane. Dang near took my breath away, just knowing that this soldier represented USA.

What kind of man will risk his life to keep us safe and free? While rich and spoiled celebrities will rudely take a knee.

For those who've served our country and to soldiers who were slain. Let's not forget our veterans. They did not serve in vain!

Bookstore Hosts Artist Reception for Middle School Students

The Bookstore has been displaying the Sunflower Art that was featured during the Fall Festival. These pieces were created by the art students of Tessa Bartlome at The Dillon Middle School.

The students used a range of mediums with the common theme of Sunflowers. The array of paper sculptures, welded metal, photography, pencil, water color, acrylic, found object, colored pencil and graphic designs are a feast for the eye.

To celebrate these young artists The Bookstore will be hosting a reception where you will meet these creative students and their teacher. Some of the pieces will be for sale -- negotiable with the artist.

Please join us Wednesday evening from 5:00-7:00 at The Bookstore.

Zoning Oct 22, 2019

By: MJ

Question: How do humans come to "know what they know and what they believe?" Simple answer is life experiences; family origin; schools attended; communities we lived in; and the culture surrounding us.

Question: When community members volunteer for community service and serve on committees and boards that represent the community, do they find it difficult to separate their personal views from the issues being brought before the board for decisions that represent the community as a whole? Are they and the public members able to put aside what they believe and think outside their parameters—outside the box?

Note: 1) If security is very important to us, then we may resist information that collides with our belief and understanding of the way things are. 2) If truth and facts are important to us, we will be more open to that which challenges our viewpoint.

At the zoning meeting on Oct. 22, 2019 a draft paper titled "Alleged Zoning Violation" was presented by Director of Operations to the zoning board? Question: Is this a manipulative way to ask the community to police and rat-fink on a neighbor or someone else they may or may not like.

Note: The citizens go to the polls each year and elect council members to represent them at the local governmental level. If you have a complaint the procedure is to contact and work directly with your council representative. Your council representative will follow up with your complaint working with the departments and personnel that are required in order to solve any problems. If you do not know who your representative is call the city and ask.

If the problems are something to do with zoning the Director of Operations may be the officer that will investigate the complaint and move forward with the proper procedure to make people come into compliance with zoning document.

Question: If all department employees are doing their jobs then why is extra paperwork needed? If the department employees are unable to do their job because of time constraints the city needs to change their modus-of-operandi.

The zoning board has repeatably ask the Director of Operations to submit to them a recap report of all permits he has issued. Question: Does the board need this information and is it possible

Removal of "Tattoos" from Zoning: Set a Public Hearing date for the removal of "Tattoos and Piercing" from the Zoning Ordinance. The U.S. Supreme court ruled that Tattooing is an art, therefore the city can't make rules and regulations against it. Anyone setting up a tattoo and piercing business must comply with the zoning regulations of the city. Montana DOJ, OPI Announce National Missing Children's Day Poster Contest

Montana 5th graders encouraged to participate in 2020 'Bringing Our Missing Children Home' poster contest

The Montana Department of Justice (DOJ) and the Office of Public Instruction (OPI) are working together to give Montana students the opportunity to participate in state and national poster contests which focus on the theme of "Bringing Our Missing Children Home."

"This contest serves as a good reminder for all of us to talk to our children and grandchildren about their personal safety in a variety of situations, whether they're out in their communities or online," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "Once again, we're delighted to partner with Superintendent Arntzen to get the word out to Montana's fifth grade classrooms about this opportunity, and we look forward to seeing some very creative entries from the students," Fox added.

"Montana's treasures are our students and it is the responsibility of parents, schools, and communities to ensure that our children are safe," said Superintendent of Public Instruction Elsie Arntzen. "The Missing Children Poster Contest is an opportunity to get students involved in raising awareness. As a former fifth grade teacher for 23 years, I encourage all Montana fifth grade classrooms to join the Department of Justice and the Office of Public Instruction in participating in this year's poster contest."

The student winning the state contest will attend an award ceremony with Attorney General Tim Fox and Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction Elsie Arntzen in Helena and receive a $100 cash prize. The winning Montana poster will then be submitted to the national contest. The national poster contest winner, along with his/her parents and teacher, will be awarded a trip to Washington, D.C. to participate in the National Missing Children's Day ceremony on May 20, 2020.

Posters must be original, handcrafted artwork; 8 ½ x 14 inches in size, with the words "Bringing Our Missing Children Home" appearing on the poster. Posters with digitally produced images, collages, cut-outs, and stamping will not be accepted. Poster artwork will be judged on originality, creativity, use of color and materials, and reflection of contest theme.

A written poster contest student application form must be submitted along with each poster. The application will be judged on the level of understanding of the subject, clarity, and grammar appropriate for the fifth grade. The application form is available here.

Montana has participated in the annual national "Bringing Our Missing Children Home" poster contest since 2009. The 2019 state contest winner was Quinn Berkram from Edgerton Elementary in Kalispell. To view her poster, visit https://dojmt.gov/missing-persons/. This website also allows the public to see a list of the persons currently missing in Montana and to get more information on Montana's AMBER Alert and Missing Persons programs. The Montana Missing Persons Clearinghouse and the Montana AMBER Alert Program are operated by DOJ's Division of Criminal Investigation.

Since 2003, the Montana Department of Justice has issued 39 AMBER Alerts. All 54 children involved were located; tragically, four of them were deceased. In 2016, Montana began using CodeRED to issue AMBER
