FWP wardens seek information on Canyon Ferry WMA vandalism

Wardens with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks are asking for the public's help in identifying persons involved in vandalizing a gate at the Canyon Ferry Wildlife Management Area just north of Townsend.

The vandalism happened on the south end of the WMA in a parking lot at the north end of Canton Lane. A gate that provides administrative access to the dyke on the WMA was removed from an adjoining concreted post, which was laid over. The gate is now missing.

Investigators believe this happened sometime between Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Repair costs are estimated at $1,500.

Damage to these facilities is costly to repair and restricts access and opportunity for other recreationists. Those with information about this incident are asked to call 1-800-TIP-MONT (847-6668). Informants can remain anonymous.

Southwest Montana Veterans Home Update

By Mike Lawson

Greetings once again to you as the organizers and chief supporters of the "SW MT Veterans Home".

We've had our hunting camp for forty-four years and this year has been the coldest we've ever experienced. Two mornings we woke to -20 and -30 degrees below zero which takes the fun out of hunting, for sure.

Speaking of the cold temperatures this past week, concerning our Vet Home, we saw things slow down. Mike Ascherman, in giving me our Vet Home construction update, said his crew were working partial days, as the bitter cold limits what a construction worker is able to do.

In spite of the cold, the "Community Center" building saw a crane lift the west and east roof gables into place, as well as the roof trusses running west and east. The framers will then get windows and doors installed, which will enable the other contractors to work inside doing electrical, plumbing, sheetrock, etc.. Things are moving well with this building, for sure.

Cottage #1 is seeing interior wall work being focused on. The roof trusses are ordered and should be delivered this week, with the hope of being put up in place next week.

Cottage #2, Cottage #3, and Cottage #4 are idle, as the work concentration is being focused on the Community Center and Cottage #1.

Cottage #5 is in a dilemma due to the ground freezing down a foot. The debate is whether to put ground thawing equipment in place to thaw the ground or wait until spring when the ground will thaw in warmer weather.

The construction workers have to be commended for doing a great job working in the weather conditions they're working in!!

Our "Viewing Hooch" is insulated, wired and most of the 1/4" plywood sheeting nailed in place. It has become a cozy warm place. Stop in and visit. Electrician Dave Risenhower, did the wiring with Tom Goyette and Mike Lawson, helping with the insulation and sheeting. It can be fun to volunteer and this project, was just that for us.

Exciting news, in that the "SWMVH State Liaison" position has been filled. It was offered to Navy Veteran, Mark Gollinger, who accepted and is scheduled to start November 12th. Congratulations Mark !!

The "Southwest Montana Veterans Home Foundation" is meeting the first Monday of every month at 1:00 PM at the Butte Archives building. Any of you are welcome to attend.

I'll close until next time. Take care.

WHITE PUPPY DOG
By "Swede" Troedsson

Shortly after I was transferred to the Beaverhead National Forest headquarters in Dillon, I was recruited as a volunteer on the local ambulance. Quite often, on my way home after work, I would stop in at Sneed's Sporting Goods store to look at guns and "B.S." about hunting and fishing. Next door to Sneed's was an entrance to a stairwell. Above the entrance to the stairwell was a sign that said: Mint Rooms. Quite often, at the base of the stairwell, lay a large, white Samoyed dog. The dog and I got to be buddies. He would see me coming and jump up to greet me. We'd tussle a little, and then, when I went into Sneed's, the dog would lie back down.

One evening, shortly after I arrived home from work, I received a telephone call from the police dispatcher. The dispatcher said we had an ambulance run. When I inquired as to where to, he replied "I'll tell you when you get down here"

When I arrived at the dispatcher's office, I was instructed to drive the ambulance down the alley behind the Mint Rooms, climb up the back stairs, pick up a patient who was sick, and deliver him to the hospital. I was advised not to use lights and siren, but just do the job quietly. My attendant was Jim Pribble, a BLM employee.

Jim and I arrived at the base of the back stairwell. I mentioned to Jim that I didn't think we could get the ambulance cot up the steep stairs. Instead, I suggested we use a "chair carry" to bring the patient down the stairs.

I was not aware that the Mint Rooms had been a "house of ill repute". It had been shut down by the City, but the madam was still in business.

When I knocked on the rear door, the door was opened by the madam, wearing thick make-up and reeking of perfume. I heard a loud "woof", and my buddy, the large white dog, jumped up to greet me. Jim turned to me, and with an evil grin said, "Swede, that dog sure knows you."

The madam dragged the dog into one of the rooms and slammed the door shut. In another room a 75 year old sheep herder lay in bed. He was dressed in a union suit, with a black kerchief tied around his thin neck. He was diabetic, and had consumed a half pint of whiskey. He was a very sick patient.

I sat him up, buttoned up the front of his union suit, and placed his cowboy hat on his head. He wanted a cigarette, so I placed one in his mouth and lit it. He barely had enough strength to smoke it.

We sat him in a chair and proceeded to carry him out. The last thing I heard as we left the Mint Rooms was the dog barking and pawing at the bed room door. I suspect the dog was wanting to get to his buddy Swede.

That old gentleman died in the hospital that night. But, reflecting on it, at 75 years old, he went out in grand style: "Cigarettes, and whiskey, and wild, wild women".

The next morning I left the office early to inspect a timber sale on the Wise River Ranger District. The Timber Assistant, Wayne Buckner, and I, broke early to eat lunch. While eating our lunch, I received a call over the truck radio. This radio conversation was going through the Forest repeater, and could be heard all over the Forest, including the Lima, Wisdom, and Madison Ranger Districts. I turned to Wayne and mentioned that it sounded like Wally Gallagher, the Forest Supervisor. It was. I picked up the mike, and said "This is Swede, go ahead". Wally said, "Seen any white puppy dogs lately? Hee, Hee, Hee".

I suspect Jim, my ambulance attendant, couldn't wait to inform our Supervisor's office about the recent ambulance run. For months thereafter, when visiting Districts, I would have to explain what that radio transmission was all about. People would listen with a smile when I would explain that was the first time I ever met the madam.
