Friday December 6th Activities

The Beaverhead Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture
Invites the community for an evening of fun!

Please join us Friday December 6th at 5:45 pm for the beginning of the holiday festivities. The BCHS Choral group will entertain everyone with Christmas songs and Santa will arrive at 6 pm to light the tree at the Beaverhead County Courthouse. The Parade of Lights "Christmas Movies" will start immediately after the tree lighting. Parade route begins at the Beaverhead County Courthouse (E. Bannack Street), right on N. Idaho St, left on Center St, left on Montana St, left on Sebree St, left on Idaho St. and right on Bannack St. back to the Courthouse.

Santa, Mrs. Claus, The Grinch & Cindy Lou Who will be at the City Library following the parade. Stroll through Dillon, cast a vote for the best store window, enjoy some cocoa & cookies provided by KDBM/KBEV on the corner of Bannack & Idaho. The Senior Center on Montana St. will serve up FREE chili, hot chocolate, a pie sale and will announce the winner of their cash raffle 2pm - 8 pm.

The First Baptist Church on Idaho St. presents a puppet show during the evening and Montana Hair will be hosting a hot chocolate bar. So get out and enjoy the parade, shopping, decorations, refreshments and all the activities in and around Dillon.

Tendoy Open House

Tendoy Fine Art in Dillon, Montana, has been awirl with activity. The artists in the gallery have been working overtime to create a holiday store as well as fun activities to entice people to join their community of artisans in celebrating the season. With official designation as a 501(c)3, Tendoy Fine Art is looking forward to being able to seek funding for more youth and adult classes and workshops in the coming year through grants and donations.

Co-op members have been making art and gifts that are affordable and one of a kind for the holiday store in the ArtSpace room, which opened Nov. 16th. The main gallery is also showing new work and several artists are planning to offer their work at a holiday discount.
Visitors can sign up for a gift basket full of art objects. Drawing for the basket will be on Saturday Dec. 21st.

An open house is planned for Dec. 6th in conjunction with the Dillon Christmas Stroll. Tendoy Fine Art will be open from 10 am to 8 pm. But even before the gallery is open, at 7:30 am, Tendoy will host a monthly breakfast for artists, writers and creative thinkers.
Topics pertaining to the difficulties and joys in producing artwork, writing or refining an invention are among the subjects discussed.
That evening the Dillon Junior Fiddlers will be performing.

Saturday, Dec. 7th, children between the ages of 5 and 12 are invited to a free ornament- making workshop from 1:00 to 3:00 pm. Brenda Chouinard, Jean James and others will offer guidance in making something pretty for the students' Christmas tree, or to give as a gift.

What is HIPAA?

By: MJ

HIPAA is the acronym for the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act that was passed by Congress in 1996. Three (3) components represent nearly every supporting aspect of your business: your policies, record keeping, technology, and building safety. HIPAA requires that all your employees protect patient data.

Following is some Myths and Facts about HIPAA distributed to city committee.

Myth 1: HIPAA does not apply to your specific healthcare provider (Wrong). FACT: HIPAA applies to any and all healthcare providers who transmit, store or handle protected health information. Any business that handles Protected Health Information (PHI) that includes a patient's name, social security number, address & etc. is subject to HIPAA privacy rules. Note: Any entity this data goes through like; the "cloud" data base provider must comply.

Myth #2: HIPAA privacy rule applies only to Electronic records (Wrong). FACT: HIPAA covers all patient records. Regardless of their nature whether electronic or records kept on paper must comply. As long as the information can be stored, handled, transmitted, breached or stolen it must comply with HIPAA.

Myth 3: HIPAA prohibits e-mail correspondence between doctors and patients (Wrong) FACT: HIPAA rule allows providers to use many different means of communication including e-mails. Providers are expected to use appropriate safeguards, such as encryption.

Myth: Healthcare providers can share health information with employers. FACT: Note: HIPAA prohibits healthcare providers from disclosing personal health information to employers without patient's consent. The employer may obtain access to your medical records but does not cover healthcare information collected separately for example, through HR surveys.

More information will follow.

Bev's Bites

Recipe by Bev

Grandma's Fudge

- 4½ C sugar
- 1 can evaporated milk
- 3 sm pkg chocolate chips
- 3 C nuts
- 1 pt. marshmallow cream
- 2 cubes butter or margarine
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Boil sugar and milk together over medium heat for 7 minutes after coming to a rolling boil. Mix chocolate chips, nuts, marshmallow cream and butter in a large bowl. Pour into syrup mixture while hot. Add vanilla. Pour on greased cookie sheet. Chill.

Use 1½ pkg. chocolate chips if you do not have small pkgs.
Makes 5 lbs.

OUTPOST DUTY
By "Swede" Troedsson

In the spring of 1954, I was flunking out of college. Ashamed of wasting my Dad's money, I decided to join the Marines. This would earn me the G.I. Bill, and give me time to determine if I really wanted a college education. If I decided to go for it, the G.I. Bill would help me finance it.

I signed up for the two year Active Reserve program and went through "Boot" Camp in San Diego. I was interviewed about my job experience. I explained that I had worked the previous summer as a Fire Lookout. The interviewer wanted to know what that was about. I explained that I was stationed in a 35 foot tower looking for fires. If I spotted one I was to determine the location and call it in.

At the conclusion of my boot camp training, I, along with men in my platoon, were assigned Specialty Numbers. Most of the men in my platoon were assigned 0300 (Basic Infantry). A few lucky ones were assigned to Air Wing. I was the only one assigned an 0200. Thinking it might be a "typo", I went to my Drill Instructor (D.I.) and inquired as to what 0200 meant. He said he would make a telephone call. I overheard him exclaim: "What? That dummy!"

Following the phone inquiry, my D.I. returned and said: "Private. I don't know how YOU got it, but that's Intelligence. Being Swedish, I had to ask "What's Intelligence?" He said he didn't exactly know, but he understood the "Kill Ratio" was quite high in those guys.

Following Boot Camp, I was given leave to return home for a brief visit. Upon returning from leave, I received combat training at Camp Pendleton. Then I was shipped to Korea in the summer of 1954. This was after the Truce had been signed. I was assigned to the 1st Marine Div.. My assignment was to help man outposts on the DMZ (38th Parallel). I, along with other men, would do rotating 30 day hitches manning 20 foot towers. During daylight hours we would spot North Koreans, "shoot" azimuths on them, and call them in. Night time duty was to serve as an early warning system should the North Koreans decide to "jump the line". One day an officer told me: "Private, you're the only Marine in the history of the Corps to be assigned to what he did in civilian life." We lived in tents and bunkers, not a comfortable situation in the winter of 1954-55.

The nicest part of my tour in Korea was a week of R & R (Rest & Recuperation) in Kyoto, Japan. The saddest part was having to put my dog down.

I adopted a stray dog and trained it to sleep on the foot of my cot. This would keep the rats off of me. I fed the dog scraps from the mess hall, and less desirable contents from C-rations. One day I was ordered to put the dog down because it had developed mange. I tried to recruit others to do it, but was turned down. I finally had to do it through tear-filled eyes.

In the spring of 1955, we were relieved by the Army. We loaded up on ships and sailed back to the U.S.A.. On the way, we crossed the International Date Line on St. Patrick's Day. This resulted in two St. Patrick's Day in a row. By coincidence, my first child would be born on St. Patrick's Day.

Following the completion of my active duty, I went on to finish my college education. My Dad paid for the tuition and books. Summer employments as a "timber beast", and as a smokejumper, along with the GI Bill, paid for all other costs. Time in the Marines was time well spent. I became proficient at shooting a rifle and operating a mop. The real benefit was I developed a desire to finish college and had earned the G.I. Bill.

UMW Professor Published in the Ukrainian Journal of Physics

Dr. Craig Zaspel of the UMW Environmental Sciences Department was recently featured in The Ukrainian Journal of Physics as lead author in an article about his collaborative work with a team of international researchers.

Titled "Magnetic Chiral Solutions Stabilized by Oersted Field at a Thin-Film Nanocontact with Electric Current," Zaspel started working on this project three years ago. The article was published on Nov. 1, 2019, as part of a special edition related to magnetization dynamics.

The publication was done in collaboration with Dr. Gary Wysin from the Kansas State University Department of Physics and Dr. Boris Ivanov from the National Academy of Science-Ukraine and the National University of Science and Technology, Moscow, Russia.
