Knights of Columbus Crown Free Throw Champions

Two boys and one girl from Dillon were named local champions at the 2020 Knights of Columbus free throw championship and have earned the right to compete at the district level. Fr. Kelleher Council # 4069 in Dillon sponsored the local competition at the BCHS gymnasium, Jan. 23. All youngsters ages 10 to 14 were eligible to participate.

Kendyll Meine was the 11 year girls champion and Sawyer Tackett was the winner of the 11 year old boys division. In the 12 year old boys bracket, Quentin Rourke was the champion. Each contestant was allowed 15 free throw attempts in the contest. Ties were settled by successive round of five free throws per contestant until a winner emerged.

Each of these winners also competed in the district competition with an eye towards moving on to the state and international levels.

Montana's Missing Indigenous Persons Task Force will meet on February 6th and 7th in Billings. Among other action items, US Attorney Kurt Alme will give members a federal update; DOJ's Criminal Justice Information Network Training and Development Specialist, Brian Frost, will update task force members on Montana's missing persons list; members will review/score the LINC Act application it received; and members will brief attendees on the six community meetings the task force has hosted across the state. The meeting agenda is available here.

The agenda for the MIPTF Billings Community Meeting the evening of February 6 is here.

Letter to the Editor To The "Christian" Churches Here Floyd Burger - Dillon, MT

The biggest "enemy" of each church denomination seems to be other Christians. They loudly and openly condemn their brother Christians for things they do or don't do the way you think they should. Never mind that the things they do that you don't like that are done to the glory of God. Just as you do or don't do certain things to the glory of God. Does that make you holy and them not?

These things I hear from the Churches, yet there are hundreds of abortions performed every day. What do I hear from the Churches? SILENCE. God haters are rapidly taking over in our schools, and our government, and what do I hear from the Churches? SILENCE!

The Bible says to rely on GOD through Jesus to provide all you need, yet your allegiance is NOT to God, but to your own denomination.

Seems the time has come to quit rewriting the Bible to fit your denomination and Start actually teaching and following it as it was written.

The Humble Wife

by Bryce Angell

I checked him in to room eighteen. His name now on the door. A stroke had left his right side paralyzed from neck to floor. They say he'd been a top cowhand with sheep thrown in to boot. This old man's life was pure cowboy, dug in at every root. There, sitting by the cowboy's side, his wife of sixty years. She cupped his hand so gently. Seemed to calm her sweetheart's fears.

The cowboy looked up to his wife, attempted half a smile. Then muttered, "I sure love you. Will I be here for a while?" His wife said, "This could be our home. I'll be here by your side. 'Cuz you ain't gettin' rid of me. Can't shake off this old hide." The old man kinda chuckled. She was more than just a prize. He didn't have to speak of love. I saw it in his eyes. His thoughtful wife reminded him, "We've been through times before. Remember when the baler chopped your toe and left you four?"

"And don't forget about the time when Blue was just a colt. He stomped you good and plenty 'fore you even grabbed a holt." Then I noticed hesitation in this gentle woman's tone. She said, "We lost our oldest. Through it all we weren't alone."

"Our God was there attendin' us to mend our broken heart. I think it's time to call on him. Might be the time to start."

Her voice was calm and then she said, "We've thanked him every day. But never asked our God to give us help in any way." She cried, "I know he listens and tonight we'll call on him. Just knowin' that he's out there makes a body not so grim."

I listened so intently to this tender woman's plight. For once I knew that God would help this couple through the night.

Throughout the years, I've learned that science leads the way to heal. I've witnessed with success of how it's proven and it's real.

But that day I learned a lesson and it shows I don't know much. 'Cuz there's a better way than medicine. It's called the Master's touch.

The duo fell just short of their goal finishing in a tie for the last spot in the final round and finished their weekend in 9th.

Tess Davis and Jennifer Lopez-Mora had a great weekend, they had strong preliminary rounds but lost a tie breaker as well to advance them to the final round, they also ended their day in 9th place.

Anthony Agee placed 10th this year in Dramatic Solo Acting he had good preliminary scores but just missed advancing to the final round following the semi final round. Anthony had set a goal for himself and achieved that goal so the state tournament was a success for him this year.

Sophomore Jordan O'Neill failed to qualify at the divisional tournament last weekend, but Coach Maria Hansen got a call on Thursday stating that she could compete due to an illness on another team. Jordan took advantage to the opportunity and earned a semi-final round spot and ended her year with a 13th place in Whitefish.
