Sagebrush & Snowdrifts 4-H Selling Beaverhead Honey

As the days are getting longer, it is time to start preparing for our celebrated Dillon summers. Warm, sun drenched days, full of hard-work, memorable events and visitors wanting a taste of our Dillon lifestyle. You can savor those warm summer days right now, and get ready to share Dillon with your visiting friends and relatives with Beaverhead Honey.

During the month of February, the Sagebrush & Snowdrifts 4-H is selling Beaverhead Honey as a club fund raiser. Beaverhead Honey Co.'s traditional Raw, Unfiltered Honey and their new product, Creamy Honey are both available from Sagebrush & Snowdrifts members. Creamy Honey is processed without additional heat to control crystallization and maintain a smooth, spreadable consistency.

"Beaverhead Honey minimally processes their honey to preserve the taste, quality and fragrance that makes it so popular" said club president Theo Van Deren. Theo added, "Beaverhead Honey is a local product, so all of the fund-raiser money stays in Dillon."

Déjà Vu

Bryce Angell

The old man got up from his chair and then he walked away.
There wasn't reason for concern. He'd walked off every day.
But the oldest son seemed anxious and he told his youngest child.
"Make sure your grandpa's safe and please don't let him run hog-wild.
"Your grandpa's kind of old now and he needs some special care.
Might get himself in trouble if he's all alone out there."
Those words stuck to my brain faster than honey sticks your toes.
A man gets old and then his family worries where he goes.
Right then I plumb decided I ain't never getting old.
Don't need my family watching me like disappearing gold.
Well, that was fifty years ago. Still seems like yesterday.
The years flew by so doggone fast. Our time sure slips away.
I see old-timer in the mirror, yet don't feel quite so old.
While Mother Nature tries to put me six feet in the cold.
The other day my son and grandson joined us all for lunch.
The words that he would later say hit like a solid punch.
I shoveled in my Rueben like a pig does at the trough.
Then I got up from the table thought I better walk it off.
That's when I heard my anxious son say to his youngest child,
"Make sure your grandpa's safe and please don't let him run hog-wild.
"Your grandpa's kinda old now and he needs some special care.
Might get himself in trouble if he's all alone out there."
Did I really hear those words that seemed to haunt me through and through? But one thing is for certain it's a case of Deju Vu.
I guess I need to realize my family sure does care.
And getting old's much easier with kinfolk always there.

FWP investigating poachings in Park County

Game wardens with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks are seeking information on several elk and pronghorn that were killed illegally in Park County last week.

Wardens received reports of poached elk near the intersection of Trail Creek and Old Yellowstone roads, about 17 miles south of Livingston. After talking with landowners, wardens found that three cow elk had been shot from the road on private property, and the meat was wasted.

Wardens also learned of nine pronghorn—three bucks and six does and fawns—that were poached on private property about 1 mile south of the three poached elk. The pronghorn were also shot from a roadway, and the meat was left to waste. Several houses and buildings were adjacent to where the pronghorn were shot.

Wardens have been gathering evidence from both areas. They found blood trails away from the carcasses, indicating other animals may have been wounded and ran away. One area landowner reported hearing multiple gun shots Thursday morning around 2 a.m.

Anyone with information on either of these incidents are asked to contact Livingston area Game Warden Drew Scott at 406-581-7613 or Gardiner area Game Warden Gregg Todd at 406-224-5207. Informants can also remain anonymous by calling Montana's poaching hotline, 1-800-TIP-MONT (847-6668). Persons who provide information that leads to a successful prosecution in this case may be eligible for a monetary reward.

Dillon Community Participates in Early Childhood Education Courses at UMW

Montana Western students studying Early Childhood Education taught local children, ages 3-5, in the Model Classroom at UMW. Instructor Aaron Cashmore taught Early Childhood Curriculum and Environments during block four, followed by Integrated Early Childhood Curriculum in block five.

During block four, students learned about curriculum and how to set up a learning environment. In the following block they implemented their knowledge by delivering lesson plans that they had developed.

Jenna Walker, an Early Childhood Education major at Montana Western, participated in the class. Walker, shared that to encourage a successful learning environment, it was critical that the space was not overwhelming to the children.

Cameron Fuentez, a UMW student participating in the course, also works part time at the elementary school in Dillon, Mont. as a paraprofessional.

Cashmore explained that it is typical to see students ask yes/no or quiz questions, but it is important to ask children how things work and how they know things. Asking more complex and open ended questions leads to stronger, more multifaceted lesson plans for students to create.

"In project work, it's about listening to the children. The children develop the curriculum that you use by basing all of your teaching on their interests and abilities, which scaffolds a higher level of learning," Cashmore said.

Bringing students to the campus and utilizing the model classroom was an idea that both Cashmore and Nanci Red Bird, Program Chair of Early Childhood Education, collaborated on.

Jorden Weatherford, an Early Childhood Education major and a freshman at UMW, felt this class kick started her journey as an educator, considering she already has one on one teaching experience as a freshman undergraduate.

To learn more about the Early Childhood Education program at Montana Western, please contact Aaron Cashmore (406-683-7320 or aaron.cashmore@umwestern.edu) or Nanci Red Bird (406-683-7046 or nanci.redbird@umwestern.edu).

Southwest Veterans Home Update #36

By Mike Lawson

Greetings once again, to you the Veterans/Counties/Communities of SW MT., who are the chief organizers and supporters of the SW MT Veterans Home.

We got to connect up with Carpenter General Foreman John Kotka. As always it's impressive on how positive and on top of things John is. That enthusiasm is contagious, which left us with the feeling that all is well and on schedule. He would like to hire at least four more Carpenters but can't get them, with all the construction going on around the state, including Butte. If any of you know any carpenters in or out of state, who need work, tell them to call the Carpenters Hall and get on the Out of Work List.
